JUDGES ASSAIL MASS PAROLES; DEMAND A HALT

Urge Law's Revision to Stem Outflow.

Cook county judges, showered with notices of parole hearings for prisoners they had sentenced, demanded yesterday that the wholesale release of felons be halted and urged that the parole law be changed.

Judge Daniel P. Tru

A survey of 17 Superior and Circuit judges in the county building showed they had been notified that hearing would be held Jan. 6 for a total of 87 prisoners. This number is a small fraction of parole hearings for prisoners sentenced thruout the state.

Releases brought about by the hearings on Jan. 6 will be added to the record number of 187 ordered freed by Gov. John Stelle's parole board during November. In addition to this number more than 100 prisoners are expected to be placed outside prison walls by routine board hearings before the end of the month.

Citizens May Have to Arm.

Judge Daniel P. Trude, member of the Chicago Bar association committee on administration of criminal justice, said that if the wholesale release of felons continues decent citizens of Chicago must consider arming themselves to protect their lives. He said he would back passage of a new parole law similar to that in use in New York state.

"A judge has a feeling of futility about making recommendations to the parole board," he continued. "These recommendations are ignored. To me, as a citizen and a judge, it is unthinkable that the governor or parole board should make wholesale releases of so many persons convicted thru the courts—all of whose rights have been carefully preserved and adjudicated at great cost to the public. In many of the cases police officers have risked their lives to bring the prisoners to justice.

Expects Many Repeaters.

"I predict that many of these persons now released will be again accused of crime or violation of parole during 1941. As a member of the committee of the Chicago Bar association I urged the passage of the Ward-Schnackenberg bill as a stop gap so that after study of a full history of any person found guilty by a judge or jury, the trial judge might recommend to the parole board how long the guilty person might be detained in the interest of society."

Judge John C. Lewe expressed indignation over a hearing set for Frank and George Bessenhofer, each sentenced by him to one year to life for robbery. He called the Bessenhofers, sentenced Feb. 4, 1935, "the most vicious pair I ever had before me."

"During trial of their case more than 50 persons approached me in an effort to intercede for them," Lewe said.

In Springfield yesterday W. C. Jones, chairman of the parole board, issued a statement in explanation of the record high of 187 paroles ordered in November. The report was asked by Gov. Stelle. On Tuesday Stelle disclaimed knowledge of the board action and asked that it be explained to the public.

Explains Wholesale Turnout.

"Of the 187 parole orders entered in connection with the November, 1940, dockets," Jones said, "172 were cases of prisoners heard in earlier months and in which orders had been entered, pending investigation of home, sponsor, and employment. These men had difficulty in securing employment at first. But by the time of the November conferences of the board more jobs were available and employment, sponsorship and a home had been secured. The division of supervision of parolees submitted reports of investigation in these cases approving the employment, sponsor, and home, and upon approval of these factors by the parole board, parole orders were entered."

M'LANE'S GRAND JURY TESTIMONY BARES MOB GRIP

What He Said Once About Nitti & Co.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

The extent to which Chicago unions have been taken over by gangsters and details of a program to increase this sway were revealed yesterday in a transcript of testimony given before the Cook county grand jury.

The testimony was that of George B. McLane, business agent of local 278 of the bartenders' union, who has been in and out of court, grand jury room, prosecutor's office, and before a master in chancery a score or more times in the last six months, asking the aid of all in his one-man resistance to the mob headed by Frank Nitti, one time lieutenant of Al Capone.

Part of Nitti Trial Record.

McLane spoke freely to the grand jury last Sept. 27. The transcript of his testimony was given to Judge John F. Bolton last week and made part of the record of the aborted trial of Nitti, Murray Humphreys, Fred Evans, Louis Romano, former president of the bartenders' union, and Tom Panton, another former union official.

When last Monday McLane refused to reiterate his story before a jury in Judge Bolton's court on the ground that he might incriminate himself the trial came to an end and the jury was instructed to find Nitti and the others not guilty. They had been accused of conspiracy, but a more general charge was that they had "seized" the bartenders' union. Indicted also were Paul Ricca and Louis [Little New York] Campagna, who were not apprehended.

Appealed to Courts for Aid.

In his grand jury testimony McLane referred to the Nitti gang, which is the successor of the old Capone syndicate, as "the outfit." He appealed to the courts for protection against the gang after, according to his own admissions, he had obeyed Nitti for more than two years.

McLane's story became public because it became necessary for First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley to introduce the grand jury testimony in the Nitti trial. Crowley attempted to show that McLane was a victim of a crime, and he wanted the court to compel the business agent to repeat the tale to the jury that had been impaneled to try Nitti and his four aids.

Meeting with Nitti Told.

In question and answer form, parts of the grand jury testimony are given herewith:

Q.—Did you have a meeting with Nitti in reference to your candidacy for the presidency of the bartenders' international union? A.—In the mid-

A DOCTOR WRITES OFF BILLS OF DESERVING PATIENTS AS YULE GIFT

Dr. E. Thomas Brand has been a practicing physician for 32 years—20 years on the north side of Chicago and the last 12 in Woodstock. In that period, his record books have listed hundreds of needy patients who still owe him for his services.

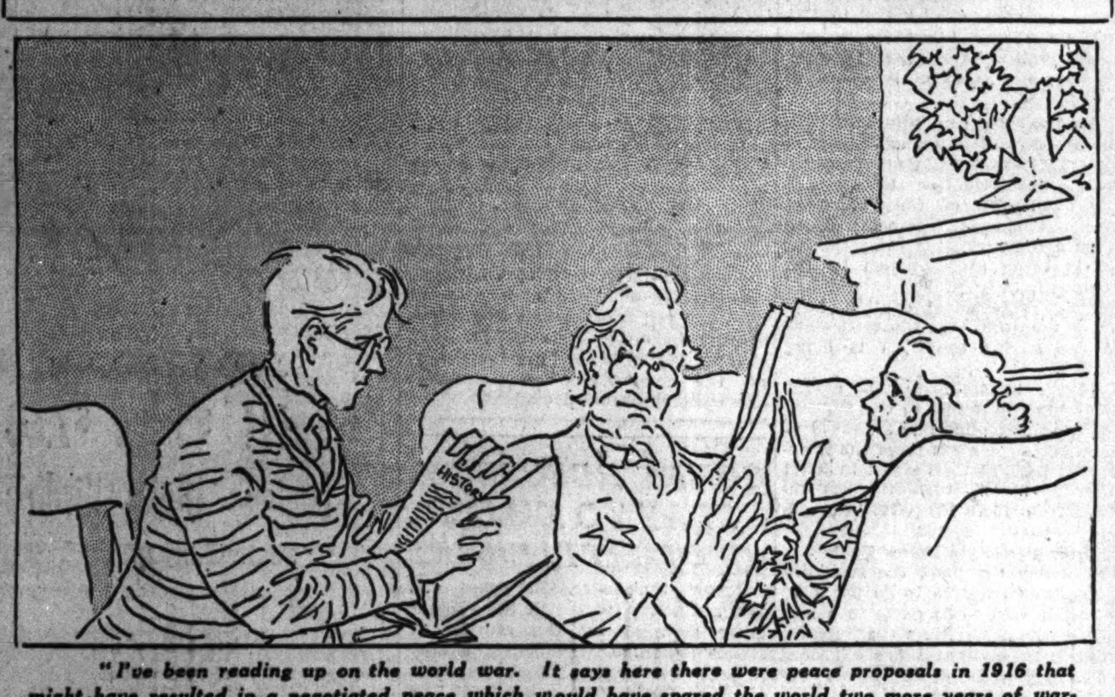
Yesterday the doctor gave these people a Christmas present. He wiped clean the slate. He inserted a large advertisment in the Woodstock Daily Sentinel, reading:

"To my patients: Every man or woman who owes me for medical or surgical services, who has a mortgage on his home or is paying rent due to the inability of owning a home because of lack of finances, will be given a receipt by me, showing his accounts with me paid in full. This is my Christmas donation to deserving humanity."

Dr. Brand has not even tabulated the amounts these patients owe him. He estimates the total at more than $15,000.

"I know that some of my patients, who haven't paid their bills, are wealthy people," Dr. Brand said. "I'm not canceling their accounts. I want them to know they still owe me money."

ON THE HOME FRONT IN THE CHRISTMAS SEASON



"I've been reading up on the world war. It says here there were peace proposals in 1916 that might have resulted in a negotiated peace which would have spared the world two more years of warfare, millions of dead, and at last a dictated peace in 1918."

Fashion Revue Staged by 39 Farmer Girls

BY MARCIA WINN.

How the American girl who is dexterous with needle or sewing machine can dress beautifully on a shoestring budget was demonstrated last night by 39 girls from America's farms.

Each of the 39 came from a different state, and each made the dress she modeled. Some were in taffeta, some in tweed, some in checked gingham, but they represented the supreme achievement in good workmanship and design among the 500,000 4-H club girls who, during 1940, took part in the 4-H movement to establish correct dress among farm girls.

Stage Revue at Banquet.

The revue, elaborately staged against a black velvet backdrop and a latticed garden scene, took place at the 19th annual banquet of the 4-H Clubs of America, held at the Palmer House. Among the dignitaries present was Senator Wayland Brooks, who made a brief address.

The ensemble worn by Hester Roberts of Lumberton, N. C., is typical. She wore a beige wool suit, the lines and patch pockets of its long jacket outlined in saddle stitching. The double breasted jacket had covered buttons; the skirt was plaited. With it she wore a tailored green silk blouse, a snap brimmed brown felt hat, suede alligator brown pumps, an alligator bag and pigskin gloves.

But this is only half of the costume devised by this 17 year old girl. Interchangeable with the beige suit is a plaid suit that also is worn with the green blouse. Altogether, she can wear it as five complete outfits. The cost, including accessories, underwear, two pairs of shoes, and hat, was $27.95.

An Outfit for $19.15.

Charlotte Patterson of Elfrieda, Ariz., whose auburn hair fell in gleaming curls down her neck, made her navy blue crêpe bolero costume in 140 hours, 20 of which were spent in whipping 10 rows of fine lace onto its filmy white chiffon blouse. She was dressed, again from head to foot, from skin out, for $19.15.

Mary Helen Alexander of Parkdale, Ore., was quaintly demure in an exquisite evening dress of white rayon chiffon sprinkled with red velvet dots, the neckline and skirt outlined in red velvet. Her white satin slippers cost $2; her slip, bordered in handmade tatting, $3; her hose, $1; her girdle, $1; her dress, $7.10.

And so it went, thru the entire 39. A Massachusetts girl made her teal blue wool afternoon dress, together with a matching turban and bag, for $8. A Michigan girl wore a beautiful pink moire taffeta formal, fitted like a kid glove, which, using 10 yards of material, cost $11.19. The tiny gold heart shaped locket around her neck to emphasize the sweetheart neckline cost, she said proudly, "25 cents."

20 POLICEMEN SLAIN IN COCHIN CHINA REVOLTS; FRENCH SEIZE MANY

HANOI, French Indo-China, Dec. 5, Thursday (AP).—Twenty native police were killed, nine others are missing, and 21 were wounded in new native revolts in western Cochin China, the southern tip of French Indo-China, it was reported today.

French authorities arrested many of the leaders and prepared to send gunboats to that sector.

The revolts came while there was a lull in the fighting on the Indo-China-Thai [Siam] border. The French announced that "reprisals for Siamese attacks" had been halted to permit diplomats to try to effect a settlement.

Sank Gunboat, Thai Claims.

BANGKOK, Thailand, Dec. 4 (AP).—The Thai [Siamese] high command reported tonight a Thai antitank gun sank a French gunboat in the Mekong river on Monday night, killing or wounding several soldiers and officers.

Irish Censorship Flayed by Senator in Parliament

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Ireland, Dec. 4.—The Irish senate today discussed censorship of the press, Senator John Keane having introduced a motion declaring its exercise was unreasonable. Censorship of editorials, cutting of photographs, alteration of news articles, and censorship of parliamentary reports were cited as instances of unreasonable interference with the presentation of news.

Ask 36 Million Less for Relief in Next 2 Years

A $36,000,000 reduction in the amount of state relief funds sought for the 1941-'43 biennium compared with 1939-'41, was revealed yesterday by State Representative Reed F. Cutler [R., Lewistown], chairman of the Illinois Budgetary commission.

This news greeted legislative members of the commission who met in the Hotel Sherman to plan the first Republican budget since 1931. Because state department heads have not submitted their estimated requirements, the commission, consisting of three members of each house, will reconvene in Springfield on Wednesday. Governor Elect Dwight H. Green will attend the next meeting here Dec. 18.

Set Aside Less Than Asked.

For direct relief, the Illinois Emergency Relief commission submitted an estimate of $83,400,000 for the two year period beginning July 1. For the present biennium $119,400,000 was asked.

The IERC requests are made on the basis of so-called "100 per cent budgets" for relief families. Taking this into account, the legislature appropriated only $72,000,000 for the current two-year period, knowing it would be spent in 18 months. The total for the biennium is expected to be brought up to about $96,000,000 by deficiency appropriation soon after the legislature meets Jan. 8.

According to present relief standards, the legislature could reduce the $83,400,000 requested for 1941-'43 to about $66,700,000.

Point to Defense Work.

Relief officials would not comment, but it is reported they expect the number of reliefers to continue to decrease because of billions being spent for national defense. There were 164,000 cases on the direct relief rolls last month, compared with 171,000 a year ago.

On the other side of the picture, old age assistance requests will go up. The legislature will be asked to make a $7,500,000 deficiency appropriation to be added to $29,000,000 previously granted for the present biennium.

Aside from federal grants, the legislature will be asked for at least $37,000,000 for old age assistance for the coming two year period.

Six persons were killed and 10 seriously injured last evening when a giant United Air Lines transport plane stalled in its glide toward a landing at Chicago airport, crashed into a house and a garage at 6350 South Keating avenue, broke an electric power line, and then slammed its 12 tons into the ground.

Capt. Phil Scott.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

Witnesses said the ship lost flying speed when about 150 feet from the ground and dropped almost vertically, bursting into flames after it struck. The fire was extinguished by firemen summoned to the scene.

Unofficial reports indicated that ice on the wings may have been responsible for the accident by causing the pilot to misjudge his landing speed. However, an exact determination will not be made until the company and the civil aeronautics authority have completed investigations.

Three of those killed resided in the Chicago area and four of the injured make their homes here. The list:

THE DEAD.

S. W. Moore, a United States ordnance engineer, Lakewood, O., a Cleveland suburb.

THE INJURED.

Charles Wesley Manville, 38, general sales manager of the National Refining company, Cleveland, O., also in critical condition.

Theodore F. Paulsen, 44, of 215 Golf terrace, Wilmette, department head for Montgomery Ward & Co.; fractured skull, leg and arm.

Richard R. Pettite, 26, of Bostonia, Cal., an attorney employed by the government; fractured spine, ribs, and collarbone, and brain concussion.

R. G. Woodbury, 41, of New York, vice president of Textile Banking company; fractured leg, scalp wound, and lacerations.

The injured were all taken to Holy Cross hospital.

Hostess' Condition Critical.

At the hospital last night it was said all the injured except Miss Little and Manville had a good chance for recovery. The plane, a Douglas DC-3, capable of carrying 21 persons, was

TALK OF ADDED AID TO BRITAIN STIRS CAPITAL

Question of Loans in Forefront.

Denies Being Broke

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—The financial condition of England was "never stronger," Sir Frederick Phillips, undersecretary of the British treasury, declared when he arrived by Clipper plane today en route to Washington. Sir Frederick, when asked whether he was here to discuss credits, replied, "that is a stage further on." At present, he said, British purchases are being paid for ahead of delivery, but "we can't go on buying from reserves forever." He cited daily spendings of $45,000,000 as proof of the financial strength of England.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 (AP).—Speculation on the possibility of loans to Great Britain reached new heights in Washington tonight following two striking developments:

1. Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce and federal loan administrator, remarked tersely that England is "a good risk" for loans. He added that ordinarily he favors lending money "to good risks when they need it for a proper purpose."

2. Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. announced only a few minutes later that Sir Frederick Phillips, undersecretary of the British treasury, is arriving in the United States today to "place the latest available information [on British finances] before the treasury."

Eccles Clarifies Stand.

Later Marriner S. Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve board, said that in a speech in New York on Nov. 28 he asserted:

"I believe that congress, in considering all the interrelated elements of the monetary picture, should consider whether it would be wise to make credits available at low rates, as a means of aiding the British, taking as collateral their gold, as well as their security holdings here, in Canada, or elsewhere."

Eccles released what he termed a "full and correct" text of his speech before the National Industrial Conference board. He said he was doing this because "incorrect and misleading accounts" had appeared.

Urges 24 Hour Day in Factories.

Another major development bearing on aid to Britain came when Senator Walter George [D., Ga.], new chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, told reporters that United States war materials factories should be placed on a 24 hour day and the whole arms production program stepped up to a "wartime" pace because material aid to Britain must be given quickly if it is to be most effective.

All these developments followed an extraordinary meeting at the treasury yesterday, attended by nine high government officials—called, it was said today, to discuss Phillips' mission in advance of his arrival.

Question Nears a Head.

In view of the continuing stress that has been placed upon claims that England must have financial assistance if she is to buy here the implements with which to stand off her Nazi attackers, many saw that question, and the controversy attached to it, as quickly approaching the boiling point.

How soon a decision might be expected was problematical. Some thought the President's absence from the capital on a fortnight's Caribbean cruise indicated that nothing will be done immediately, altho it was taken as a foregone conclusion that officials here were keeping him advised of developments in detail.

Two Laws Bar Loans.

Two statutes, the Johnson act and the neutrality law, prohibit loans to Great Britain, except that some officials interpret them as having no application to two great pools of money here from which sizable loans could be drawn. They are the treasury's stabilization fund and the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Proposals to repeal the Johnson law and the neutrality law's ban on credits to belligerent nations face strong opposition in congress.

Senator Gerald Nye [R., N. D.] is backing a proposal that there be a thoro investigation of Britain's financial resources in America before any credits are granted.

INCREASED LAKE FLOW DISLODGING CHANNEL SLUDGE

Flushing Helpful, First Tests Indicate.

Effectiveness of the increased water diversion from Lake Michigan in washing out the Illinois waterway was shown yesterday by the first laboratory tests completed since the 10 day experiment began at noon Monday. The United States Supreme court authorized the temporary increase from 1,500 to 10,000 cubic feet of water a second.

The tests indicate that thus far the main effect of the inrush of lake water has been to dislodge sediment along the main channel and carry it as far as the Brandon road pool at Joliet. Engineers are hopeful that in a few more days the stronger current also will flush out the estimated 1,000,000 cubic yards of sediment in the pool itself.

Sludge Condition Improves.

Dr. Floyd W. Mohlman, director of laboratories for the Chicago Sanitary district, was reluctant to make a hasty evaluation of the first tests. Later and slower laboratory work will be a more reliable indication of what is being accomplished by the experiment, he said.

Despite professional caution, however, he admitted that the tests show that the sludge condition is being improved.

Turbidity tests showing the cloudiness of the water due to the stirring up of sediment offer one standard of comparison. Upstream from the Brandon road pool, at Cass street in Joliet and at Lockport, turbidity has increased from 15 to 140 parts in a million.

Turbidity Rises Below Pool.

Just below the pool, the turbidity increase was from 15 to 40 the first day and it rose to 55 parts in a million the second day. As the flushing continues these figures are expected to rise while those for points upstream should decline if all goes well.

The test for suspended solids in the water gave parallel results. North of the pool, the figures rose from a normal 15 or 20 parts in a million to 350 the first day and eased off to 100 the second day. Below the pool, this test showed a smaller increase, from 15 or 20 to 155 parts in a million on the second day.

From less than 1 the oxygen content of the water has increased to 6 parts in a million, which is about half of the saturation point. This will play an important part in making the sediment harmless, Dr. Mohlman said.

State Loses Right to Retry McGarry on Fraud Charge

The state's appeal to try former Municipal Judge Eugene L. McGarry on bail bond fraud charges was denied yesterday by the Illinois Supreme court. Attorney General John E. Cassidy's appeal from the Criminal court decision, which discharged McGarry on his plea that his office granted him immunity from the indictment returned by the grand jury, was denied.

MRS. MARY FULLER BIBB.

Mrs. Mary Fuller Bibb, a model, was granted a divorce yesterday from Cecil McKee Bibb, a subway worker, by Judge Roger J. Kiley. Mrs. Bibb, who is 20 years old and lives at 1531 Congress street, testified that Bibb was jealous, wouldn't let her go out with her girl friends, and struck her. Samuel Starr was her attorney. Bibb, also 20, originally sued for annulment on the ground she married under age without parental consent.

COURT REFUSES STAY TO KILLER OF LITTLE GIRL

Robert Schroeder, 28 years old, under sentence to die in the electric chair Dec. 13 for the murder of Maizie Smith, 8, was denied a stay of execution by the Illinois Supreme court in Springfield yesterday. The court declined to issue a writ of error and refused to review the conviction.

Schroeder was found guilty Sept. 12 of bludgeoning the girl to death with a pipe. Medical testimony indicated she had been raped. The attack took place July 17 in the basement at 2850 North Central avenue, where Schroeder was employed as a tavern porter.

Schroeder's last hope to escape execution now lies in an appeal to Gov. John Stelle for executive clemency.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 4 (AP).—Attempts to restore the sight of the late Thomas D. Schall, blind senator from Minnesota, thru application of teachings of the "I Am" movement were told in federal court today by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Huntley Schall.

She was one of the first of the government's witnesses in the mail fraud trial of Mrs. Edna Ballard, widow of Guy W. Ballard, founder of the movement; their son, Donald Ballard, and eight others.

Problem for Reflection.

Mrs. Schall said she and the senator first came in touch with the Ballards in 1935 when some publications of the movement were received in his office. Later, she testified, the Schalls attended meetings conducted by the Ballards.

"Mrs. Ballard told me that if I could visualize a ray of light coming down to his head and leaving it at right angles thru his eyes, he would be cured," she said.

Mrs. Schall said she had spent hundreds of dollars in various cities in connection with the movement, but was unable to cure the senator's blindness of 25 years.

"Mrs. Ballard told me that if I looked into the atmosphere I could see particles of light sparkling, which was the exact substance used by the ascended masters in precipitating all material needs," Mrs. Schall testified. "She said the masters could precipitate clothes, money, automobiles—anything.

Clothes Kept Spotless.

"She said she could even keep spots off her clothing by calling in the ascended masters."

Judge Leon R. Yankwich, presiding at the trial, cautioned United States Attorney Norman Neukom against making statements in his opening address to the jury which the government would not be able to prove.

"You might as well delve into other religious beliefs, such as Mormonism," the judge said at one point. "They believe that Joseph Smith found certain tablets of gold, and that an angel gave him glasses to read and interpret inscriptions thereon. How can you disprove things like that?"

"Well, if Joseph Smith had used that for fraudulent purposes, we would have indicted him, too," Neukom replied.

Fiery Firemen Save Ladies in Distress (and Lingerie)

Blushing firemen of the 25th battalion effected a rescue to ironical applause from shopping crowds yesterday at State and Van Buren streets. Fire in a subway construction shack at the intersection cracked a plate glass display window in the Goldblatt department store. The heat threatened to melt down some lady clothing dummies wearing lacy lingerie, so there was nothing for the firemen to do but trundle them to a safer quarter.

AIR LINER FALLS AT CITY PORT; 6 DEAD, 10 INJURED

inbound from New York. In the crash of its right wing against the house, occupied by the family of Frank S. Urechek, it was swung around from a northwesterly direction and demolished a garage. The pilot and co-pilot were crushed under the wreckage of the huge plane.

Ship Two Hours Late.

The flight began in New York at 10 a. m. There were stops at Philadelphia and Allentown, Pa., and at Akron and Cleveland, O. There was a delay at Cleveland because the plane that left New York was not functioning properly and another was given Pilot Scott. He was nearly two hours late as he approached Chicago airport.

In radio messages sent to the field Scott had indicated normal flight conditions. At 5:31 p. m. Young reported over the range station radio that he was near and was informed he was No. 4 for a landing, with three planes ahead of him. Two minutes later he was No. 2. At that time he was circling the field at 5,000 feet.

At 5:36 he reported at 3,000 feet and two minutes later at 2,000 feet. He was told at 5:40 to land, after reporting that he was at 1,500 feet. The ceiling then was 1,200 feet and visibility was one mile, officially, but the ship reported the ground could be seen. This was the last radio report from the pilot.

Witness Tells Story.

The big plane was headed in from the southeast to hit the northwest runway. A witness, Richard Rocax, 1708 West 71st place, said it seemed to be in good position and that there was no apparent trouble as it glided along. Suddenly he heard the plane's engines roar, apparently in a belated effort to attain altitude again.

"The plane's nose dipped and it crashed," Rocax said. "I think it turned over after hitting the ground. Then it caught fire. There was little wind at the time, but it was misting and there might have been ice on the wings."

Other witnesses who viewed the ship said there was considerable ice on the wings. One pilot said this would tend to stall the ship at the normal landing speed of 90 miles an hour; that a speed of more than 100 miles an hour was needed for safety under the conditions.

The breaking of the power line in the crash plunged the airport into darkness for nearly an hour. American Airlines remedied this temporarily by furnishing necessary lights from a portable truck outfit.

Passenger Knocked Out.

One of the injured was able to tell of the tragic experience.

"The ship circled the airport for several minutes," said Woodbury. "All I remember about the smashup is that the wing tilted, there was a crash, a woman screamed and I lost consciousness."

He and the others said there had been no forewarning.

United Air Lines officials said that Capt. Scott was a veteran pilot and had been with the company for eight years. Young also was a veteran and had been on the New York-Chicago run for a year. The company asserted its ships had made 55,000 trips on this line since there had been an accident. Other ships using the airport during the afternoon and evening made normal landings and takeoffs.

Coroner A. L. Brodie announced he would impanel a jury of technical experts this afternoon for an inquest to be held at 3424 West 63d street, where the bodies of those killed were taken. The civil aeronautics authority's experts started examining the plane in the evening, but said they would have no report available until today. One apparent fact was that the ship's speed was low at the time of the crash; the house it struck was only slightly damaged.

Well Known Engineer.

Austin's firm, the Austin company of Cleveland, has built some of the nation's largest industrial plants. He was on his way to Los Angeles for a business conference, it was reported from his home in Cleveland. He was 64 years old and was noted as an industrial architect. Recently his firm was awarded a large contract for expanding the Bendix company's facilities and had built west coast plants important in the defense program.

Ryan, president, and Manville, sales manager of the National Refining company of Cleveland, were coming into Chicago to meet local representatives of the company. Haig is a member of a photographic advertising firm in Dayton. Haneline's relatives live in Edinburg, Tex. Moore was an associate engineer with the United States army engineer office in Cleveland, and Frederick is a civilian engineer in the same office.

How Plane Crashed Near Airport

Broken line indicates path of air liner toward Chicago airport and caption tells how the plane crashed. The accident happened when the ship stalled and lost flying speed and plunged to ground from height of 150 feet.

SON OF AIR CRASH VICTIM WATCHES AS SHIP BLAZES

Keller Melton Jr., 16 years old, hurried to Chicago airport yesterday to meet his father, a government safety engineer living at 2860 East 76th street. The father was aboard the ill-fated United Air Lines plane which crashed, and when the son arrived he found the huge ship in flames.

"As I reached the air field I saw huge flames on the ground a few blocks away," the son said. "I heard some one yell, 'the 'plane's down.' I know my father was due in at that time, and I found out he was aboard.

"Then I ran over to where the plane was burning. By that time police were carrying people or bodies out. I asked where they were taking the people, and was told at the Holy Cross hospital."

The boy hurried to the hospital. Then he was permitted to see his father, who was suffering from severe injuries.

DANVILLE BRIDE KILLED AS AUTO GOES INTO DITCH

Mrs. Theodore A. Lawrence, 30 years old, a nurse at the Danville Veterans' hospital, was injured fatally yesterday when the automobile driven by her husband of a few weeks, went into a ditch on route 10 at Ogden, in Champaign county.

Word was received here that Bishop Edgar Blake of the Methodist church, who for 12 years was secretary of the Sunday school board and was a resident of Evanston prior to his retirement last June, was injured critically last Sunday when his car skidded into a ditch near Wilmington, N. C. His wife, who was riding with him, also was injured.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 809 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 589 were killed in Chicago, where 22,022 were injured during the same period.

CITY'S BUDGET EXPERT URGES $2,000,000 CUT

Frank J. Flanagan.

The city council finance committee yesterday was told by Frank J. Flanagan, its budget expert, that the 1941 corporate, or operating, budget must be reduced more than 2 million dollars below the 1940 appropriation of $56,581,843 if the city wants to meet its pay rolls on time next year.

City Controler Robert B. Upham submitted preliminary budget estimates last week calling for a reduction of next year's budget of 1 million dollars to $55,553,000. Flanagan said these estimates include only a 10 per cent reserve for uncollected taxes and estimated that at least another million dollars would have to be reserved, reducing the available appropriation to $54,553,000.

Flanagan said the budget survey committee appointed by the council last spring to recommend budget economies would make its first report today. Nearly one million dollars in savings, including employé layoffs, will be proposed by the survey group, he added. The actual survey work was conducted by the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency and the Chicago Association of Commerce.

ARMY HARVESTS FRUIT OF R. O. T. C. WORK IN SCHOOLS

Graduates Make Up Half of Officers Reserve.

BY HAROLD HUTCHINGS.

The fruit of years of training in Reserve Officers' Training corps units thruout the United States now is being harvested by the expanding American army. Figures released by the war department reveal that 14,300 reserve officers—at least half of whom, it is estimated, are R. O. T. C. products—already have been called to extended active duty, and a vast reservoir of these officers still awaits the summons.

The number of reserve officers on duty actually exceeds by 200 the number of regular officers. That this situation could exist results, in large part, from the fact that trained reserve officers have been commissioned year after year since the world war thru the channel of the R. O. T. C. At present 56,400, or nearly half of the 126,000 active and eligible reserve officers, are R. O. T. C. products. Reserve officers who were trained in the world war reach the retirement age in increasing numbers each year.

Importance Is Indicated.

Indicating the importance of the R. O. T. C. units which now exist in about 274 schools, colleges, and universities is the fact that within a few years the officers' reserve corps will be made up almost entirely of the men commissioned after they completed this R. O. T. C. instruction.

These men have been trained during their student days by officers and enlisted men of the regular army and, after being commissioned, they have continued to receive training thru the army correspondence courses given for promotions and thru periods of active duty in camps.

For a quarter of a century THE TRIBUNE has championed the military training of young men in high schools and colleges. Angus Hibbard, now retired as an official of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, was one of the civic leaders who joined THE TRIBUNE in the plan for establishing the R. O. T. C.

Started in 1916.

In 1916 a citizens' committee, headed by Hibbard, heard of the work of Lieut. Edgar Z. Steever, who was giving military training to school students in Wyoming. This committee urged the government to detail him to Chicago. This was done in January, 1917, and Steever organized a cadet corps in 18 high schools.

In 1919 the Chicago cadet corps was changed into an R. O. T. C. unit, and it has increased steadily since then, as has the corps as a whole thruout the United States.

To stimulate interest in the R. O. T. C., and to foster its growth, THE TRIBUNE adopted the plan of awarding gold and silver medals and stands of colors for excellence displayed by individual cadets and by units. The custom has been expanded to reach a wider and wider group. On Washington's birthday this year honor cadets of 47 schools of six states gathered in the W-G-N studio for a half hour nation-wide broadcast tribute to the estimated 162,000 enrolled in R. O. T. C. units thruout the nation.

Four Types of Units.

In general, R. O. T. C. units are divided into four types. They are:

Senior units, which are confined to colleges and universities which have four year courses and give degrees for academic work. It is from these units that graduates are commissioned as second lieutenants in the organized reserves. Of the 162,000 cadets about 98,000 are in the senior units.

Junior units, which are operated in high schools and secondary schools. No commission is given for completion of this work, but the training covers much the same ground as that of the first two years, or basic course, of the senior division. Cadets in junior units gain not only the value of the training, but in case they go into the army in case of emergency stand an excellent chance of promotion to noncommissioned officer's status.

Military schools, in which all students receive military training.

The 55-C schools, operated under section 55-C of the national defense act, in which half the cost of training is provided by the school.

The junior divisions is made up entirely of infantry units, but the senior division has units of infantry, cavalry, field artillery, coast artillery, engineers, medical department, signal corps, ordnance, and chemical warfare service.

3 AUTOISTS GET JAIL TERMS ON CHARGES OF DRIVING WHILE DRUNK

Three motorists charged with drunken driving were sent to jail yesterday by Judge John V. McCormick in Safety court. Driving privileges of each were revoked for 60 days. Those sentenced were John Harborn, 1021 South Claremont avenue, and Henry Deagleson, 4866 Winthrop avenue, 10 days each, and Al Rosales, 8946 Mackinaw avenue, 15 days. Driving privileges of Milborne Slaughter, colored, 219 East 56th street, were revoked for four months, on a charge of drunken driving. He received a suspended fine of $100.

CRASH IS CITY'S FIRST MAJOR AIR WRECK SINCE '33

The airplane crash last evening in which six persons were killed was the first major air tragedy in the Chicago area in seven years. On June 11, 1933, nine persons perished when a Sikorsky amphibian, carrying A Century of Progress sightseers, fell into a field near Glenview. On Oct. 12 of that year, seven persons were killed in the crash of an air liner at Chesterton, Ind.

A CITY MAN HAS EXHIBIT OF CORN AT GRAIN SHOW

ManyStrange Kinds on Display.

Frank Whipple does his farming in his wife's window boxes in his home at 2604 East 79th street. And so he felt that he had done rather well when the officials of the International Live Stock exposition and its hay and grain show asked him this year if he would exhibit.

The officials explained that they knew it hadn't been an exceptional year for the zinnias in his window boxes, but that was of no importance. What they really wanted him to show was his collection of corn.

Collects 700 Ears.

And that's what City Man Whipple, who runs a combination barber shop, cigar store, and postal substation in front of his home, is showing.

Whipple doesn't raise corn. He just collects it. His exhibit is in the Hall of Grain. He is showing 100 of his 700 ears. Some of the ears he purchased, others were given to him.

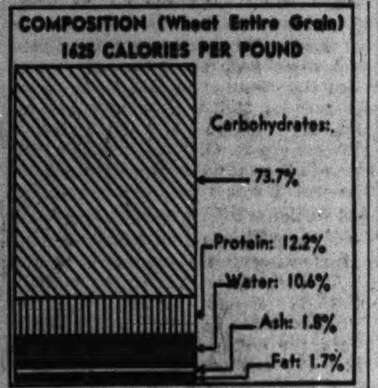
There's rainbow corn with the colors of the rainbow. There's bloody butcher corn, which is deep red.

Original Indian Corn.

If you'd like to see the kind of corn the Indians raised, you'll find original Indian corn. You'll find calico corn, too, and many odd ears of contrasting colors.

Whipple attributes his success to the fact that he's a city dweller who likes to know what's going on at the farm. He once lived on a farm himself, and he has five farmer brothers in Missouri. But he married a city girl.

He hopes you'll notice his pod corn —in which the kernels come wrapped up neatly in individual containers.



The composition of a grain of wheat.

Patent or baking flour and various byproducts of wheat are obtained thru gradual breaking and reducing of the grain in modern roller mills. It is a complicated process, requiring four or five separate rollings in which the wheat is broken, separated, reduced, ground and bolted, or sifted.

The direct product is ordinary baking flour, white, fine and light, obtained from the starch and gluten of the wheat kernel. Other flour products are farina, crushed and coarse and used for cereals, and red dog flour, representing the residue, used to feed live stock.

An important element is bran, obtained from the coat of the wheat kernel. Part is used for cereal, and part for stock feed. The wheat germ is that part of the grain which if planted in the whole grain would produce new wheat.

The bran and wheat germs are not included in the ordinary baking flour, and in that respect is its main difference from graham flour. Graham flour, named after Dr. Sylvester Graham, is made from wheat kernels ground whole, with the bran and wheat germs retained. Whole or entire wheat flour differs from both in that it retains only part of the bran and only part of the wheat germs.

A hard wheat, specially grown, is used for the manufacture of macaroni, spaghetti and the like.

94,879 DROPPED FROM POLL LIST AFTER CANVASS

Suspect notices were sent to 125,207 persons and 94,879 of them were dropped from the permanent registration rolls because they failed to prove their right to vote in the Nov. 5 election, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki reported yesterday.

Virtually all of this work in the interests of an honest election was done by 4,302 citizen-canvassers who have not been paid for the time they put in Oct. 11, 12, and 13. Of the total of 125,207 suspects, only 2,424 were reported by others, most of them precinct captains.

On the basis of an analysis made last week, it is estimated that 7,200 of the 94,879 removed from the rolls attempted to vote and were refused ballots.

BLAZE VICTIM'S LANDLORD FACES CHARGE OF RAPE

Kane county authorities last night lodged a charge of rape against George Klitzke, 43 years old, when in the course of questioning Klitzke and a 15 year old housemaid in his home near Geneva about the mysterious death of a neighbor woman in a fire Sunday night, the girl accused Klitzke of attacking her three times last month.

Klitzke, a carpenter, was landlord of the home in which the charred body of Mrs. Barbara Dahlquist, 32, was found Sunday on Roosevelt road, a mile and a half east of Geneva. The house was leveled by fire and parts of Mrs. Dahlquist's skull, arms, and legs were missing. Her husband, Norman, 35, a factory assembler, who was fishing with friends at the time of the fire, contended that the death of his wife could not have been accidental.

Klitzke, after being subjected to a lie detector test concerning Mrs. Dahlquist's death at Wheaton, was returned to the Geneva jail for further questioning. Kane county authorities said Klitzke had been arrested twice for window peeping and shot under similar circumstances on another occasion near Warrenville, in Du Page county.

REAL FARMERS' FARMERS TO BE GUESTS TONIGHT

Members of the Champion Farmers of America association—real farmers' farmers—will be guests tonight at a dinner in the Congress hotel given by the Firestone Tire and Rubber company. Dean of the champions is George McKerrow, 88 years old, who has won thousands of awards in the last 75 years with the Shropshire sheep he raises at Pewaukee, Wis. Among the others are champion cattle and hog raisers, cotton growers, pioneers in irrigation, outstanding potato and soy bean producers, and pecan growers from all parts of the country.

PREXY SAYS REDS USE COLLEGE AS SOUNDING BOARD

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—Dr. Harry Gideonse, president of Brooklyn college, charged today that the communist party was deliberately using the free colleges of New York City as "sounding boards for its own activities."

A witness before the joint legislative committee investigating the school system, he declared he was convinced that the overwhelming majority of both the faculty and student body at Brooklyn college was anti-communist, but that a "very small minority" of both groups was seeking to "exploit the future of the college for their own ulterior motives."

Dr. Gideonse, a former professor of economics at the University of Chicago, said he was convinced that the "leadership, ideas, literature, and even the phraseology" used by the communistic minority "came from the outside."

GIRL'S CHAMPION STEER GOES AT AUCTION TODAY

Will Use Money to Help Dad Buy Farm.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

Evelyn Asay, queen of queens at the International Live Stock exposition, will see her Hereford steer, Sargo, sold at auction this morning in the International amphitheater in the stockyards.

Sargo is the grand champion steer of the show, winner over the finest animals American stock men could produce. Grand champions of the past have brought as much as $8.25 a pound, the record, set in the boom year of 1929. Sargo weighs 1,087 pounds.

Last year's grand champion, Lucky Boy II., brought $1.35 a pound to its owner, Mayfield Kothmann of Texas, a 4-H club boy. But 4-H club girls usually get better prices when they have grand champions than 4-H club boys or commercial stock men.

Sale Begins at 9 A. M.

The sale will begin at 9 a. m. Roy Johnston, celebrated auctioneer from Shelbina, Mo., will conduct the sale.

Evelyn, a girl of 18 from Mount Carroll in Carroll county, has won a total of $735 in prizes with Sargo. And the addition of the sale money, she hopes, will enable her father to stop renting farmland and live upon the family's own.

The kings and queens and princesses of the show were crowned yesterday in a dramatic ceremony. Enthusiasm ran high as Evelyn and the grain and hay kings and the corn princes received their awards. The band played the state songs of the winners.

Three 4-H club boys of outstanding achievements were given purebred heifers in recognition of their work. Donors were directors of the exposition: Thomas E. Wilson, president of Wilson & company, C. R. Husser of Muscatine, Ia., and Jess C. Andrew of West Point, Ind. Mr. Wilson made the presentations.

Winners of Prizes.

Edellyn Jessamine, a shorthorn from his own famed Edellyn farm, went to Herbert Reese, 15 years old, of Pleasantville, Ia. Mel Miller of Clarksville, Tenn., was given one of Mr. Musser's heifers and Clem Aires of Silver Creek, Ga., 15, an angus from the Andrew farm. Mel and Clem received their honors in absentia.

Elliot Brown of Rose Hill, Ia., who showed the grand champion steer as a 4-H club boy in 1929, saw his Erianna B. 6th judged grand champion Aberdeen-Angus female of the show.

The combination of the awards and both a matinée and evening horse show brought out the largest crowd of the present show. B. H. Heide, general manager, estimated it at 58,000.

KENNEDY ASKED TO ADDRESS CITY ANTI-WAR RALLY

The Citizens' Keep America Out of War committee sent a telegram yesterday to Joseph P. Kennedy, former United States ambassador to Great Britain, inviting him to speak at a meeting sponsored by the committee on the night of Dec. 20 in the Auditorium theater. Senator Rush Holt [D., W. Va.] already has accepted an invitation, the telegram said. The message, addressed to Kennedy at Bronxville, N. Y., added that if he could not be here on that date, another meeting could be arranged for him in January or on Washington's birthday in February.

Slain by Husband

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

MRS. NADYNE MAAS.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 4 (AP).—The courtbound marriage troubles of a pretty divorcée, 21 years old, and a middle-aged former life guard were ended today in violent death for Mrs. Nadyne Heady Maas and arrest of her estranged husband, John, on a murder charge.

In view of downtown Christmas shoppers a man pumped six bullets into the slender brunet's body and fled. In fleeing he wounded a policeman.

An hour after the shooting Maas, a swimming pool proprietor and son of a prominent Louisville undertaker, surrendered to police. He said: "I didn't mean to shoot her. . . . She wouldn't come back with me and I still loved her. Before we were married we agreed she could have a divorce if the marriage turned out badly. Two weeks after we were married she told me she wanted to return to her first husband."

Maas also had been married previously and is the father of two children, a boy, 6, and girl, 4.

'PIPE GUN' VICTIM IS REVEALED AS MORAN GANG AID

Berger Hanson, 50 years old, who attempted to kill himself Tuesday night in his wood pattern shop at 1409 East 61st street, was revealed yesterday as the engraver who made printing plates for a nationwide gang of counterfeiters who in 1938 attempted to sell $400,000 in fake railroad bonds, travelers' checks, and cigaret and liquor stamps.

The state's attorney's office recalled that Hanson, then an engraver at 538 South Clark street, confessed making plates from which George [Bugs] Moran, prohibition era gangster, and Frank Parker, one time airplane bootlegger, are alleged to have had $100,000 in fake bonds printed. Hanson pleaded guilty to conspiracy to forge, but was released after one day in jail. Moran, who is still free on bond, and Parker were sentenced to one year each for conspiracy to force travelers' checks.

Hanson is in Woodlawn hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen. He put a .45 caliber cartridge in a piece of pipe, inserted a nail behind the bullet, and exploded the shell by hitting the nail with a hammer. He said his finances were exhausted.

SEAMEN'S UNION VOTES END OF 2 MONTH STRIKE

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 4 (AP).—Membership of the Masters, Mates and Pilots of America voted 223 to 18 today to accept a new contract on coastal freighters, thus ending a two month tieup of more than 40 ships available for transporting defense materials.

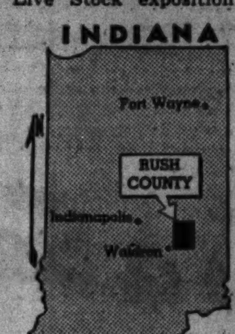
The Deck Officers' union was the last of five with which ship owners negotiated new agreements to end the tieup, which began Oct. 4 with a strike of marine firemen.

SIS SHOWS 'EM; CORN PRINCE IS NOW PRINCESS

Indiana Girl Follows in Brothers' Footsteps.

(Picture on back page.)

The junior corn champion of the International Live Stock exposition isn't a prince this year but, for only the second time in the history of the great show, a princess.



Map locates home county of corn champion.

The princess is Beverly Meal of Rush county, Indiana. She averaged a yield of 83.4 bushels an acre of Reid's yellow dent corn on her 10 acres of her father's farm near Waldron, but admits freely that it is not a girl's work. "You get," she said, "extremely tired when you hoe five hours a day."

Nor does she intend to raise corn the rest of her life. She wants to be a trained nurse. "You know," this astonishing princess said calmly as she ran a casual finger down her gleaming silver trophy and readjusted her American beauty roses, "I'm not particularly interested in agriculture. It's fun sometimes, but not forever."

Old Family Tradition.

Corn, it develops, is an old family tradition with the Meals of Indiana. Beverly's brothers both have been corn princes. Stanley, now 20, won the junior title in 1934, and Harlan, now 15, won it in 1936.

"That's why I started, even tho it's boy's work," Beverly confided.

No carefully nurtured young inhabitant of a private girls' school could look more feminine than Beverly. A mass of dark curls frames her piquant face, with its clear complexion and slate-blue eyes. She wore a gay dress of blue, rose and gray plaid, with a matching skull cap perched on the back of her head. But her day:

Helps with Farm Chores.

"I get up at 6 sometimes," she said. "Sometimes earlier. I help daddy feed the pigs or help get breakfast. Of course, I'm in school now, too. O, it's kind of a perfect ordinary life. I do whatever they want me to do around the farm.

"I bake, I love to make angel food cakes; I've won two state prizes with mine."

INSTALL STAYS TO STABILIZE BIG NEW YORK BRIDGE

New York, Dec. 4 [Special].—Diagonal stays from the tops of the towers to the deck of the Whitestone bridge here are being installed to check vertical movement under a contract signed by the Triborough bridge authority, it was learned today. The bridge spans the inner section of Long Island sound, connecting Queens and the Bronx.

The stays will be completed by the middle of January and will supplement other stabilizing devices which were installed before the bridge was opened to traffic.

Engineers say the stays are not necessary for safety, and that there was no fear of a collapse similar to that of the Tacoma Narrows bridge, but that they will eliminate oscillation so that those who use the bridge will not notice any swaying.

YOUNG MINISTER FREED AFTER HE SIGNS FOR DRAFT

Howard Schomer, 922 Wesley avenue, Oak Park, a young Congregational minister, was freed yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on a charge of failure to register for the draft. He had refused to sign his registration card on the ground that the selective service act as it applies to conscientious objectors is unconstitutional.

According to the testimony of Herbert Bach, chairman of Oak Park draft board No. 3, Schomer has now registered.

Schomer, who is assistant to Dean Charles W. Gilkey of the Rockefeller Memorial chapel at the University of Chicago, issued a statement later in which he expressed satisfaction that clergymen now can waive exemption and receive the same treatment as others. He is 25 years old.

MAYOR FAVORS RETROACTIVE BUS LINE FEE TO 1936

Mayor Kelly said yesterday that the Chicago Motor Coach company should be required to pay the city compensation for use of city streets on a retroactive basis from 1936. At that time the "home rule" act for Chicago transportation was passed and the coach company applied for a city franchise, offering to pay 3 per cent of its revenues received on city streets. The franchise was never granted.

The city council transportation committee is now proposing to grant a separate franchise to the coach company, which asked last month to be excluded from transit unification plans. The mayor said 3 per cent of revenues since 1936, or more than $150,000, should go to the city, in addition to future compensation.

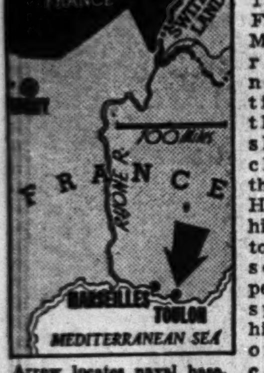
MARSHAL PETAIN VISITS FRENCH FLEET AT TOULON

Receives Fresh Ovation at Naval Base.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOULON, France, Dec. 4.—Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, French chief of state, today visited Toulon, France's Mediterranean naval station, and the warships anchored in the harbor. He is on his third tour to observe the people's response to his endeavors to reconstruct the country.



Arrow locates naval base.

Concluding his stay in Marseilles this morning, Petain arrived in Toulon shortly after noon and received an ovation that surpassed the welcome Marseilles gave him, altho Toulon used to be regarded as a socialistic hotbed.

Crowds Pack Streets.

Accompanied by Gen. Laure, Admiral Jean Darlan, the navy minister, and Minister of Interior Marcel Peyroutan, the marshal drove thru decorated streets dense with people and placed a wreath on the monument to the war dead. He stood before it in a minute of silence. Next he decorated the flag of the 21st regiment of colonial infantry with the Croix de guerre, then walked around the square and shook hands with many of the crowd amid frantic cheering.

Sees Warships in Harbor.

Marshal Petain boarded the battleship Strasbourg and went down the harbor, passing 12 French destroyers, as well as cruisers, including the Dupleix, Foch, Algerie, Marseillaise, Condorcet, and La Galissonniere. While on the Strasbourg he decorated with the Legion of Honor Admiral Darlan's son, Alen, a junior officer of the ship.

The marshal was received by Admiral De La Borde, commander in chief of the French high seas fleet, and Admiral Colinet.

Petain left tonight for Vichy.

Mrs. Edith Lindner, 32 years old, who for seven years carried on an affair with her husband's business associate and then saw her husband kill her lover will take the stand today in the Criminal court of Judge Joseph A Graber. She will be the principal defense witness at the trial of her husband, Bernard, 37, who is charged with the slaying of Albert Neiman, 39, of 1318 Winnemac avenue, last Oct. 6.

Defense Attorneys Samuel A. Hoffman and Herman I. Weiss said Mrs. Lindner will "tell of her love life and travels," tracing her illicit relationship with Neiman to show how it could have emotionally unbalanced her husband. The attorneys have indicated that Lindner's defense will rest on the "unwritten law" and self defense. He will take the stand following the testimony of his wife.

After the state rested its case yesterday, several character witnesses testified for Lindner. They included his father-in-law, Harry Sonnenschein, 68, of 548 Roscoe street.

9 Poles Sentenced to Die for Murder of 9 Germans

BERLIN, Dec. 4 (AP).—A special German court at Posen today sentenced to death nine Poles accused of abducting 52 German farmers on the first day of the German-Polish war and murdering nine. Twenty-six other Poles were sentenced to imprisonment and three were acquitted.

BRITISH CONDUCT OF WAR FLAYED IN PARLIAMENT

Ministers Hit for Failure to Answer Questions.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Another sharp attack in the house of commons—the second within a week—today was directed against the government's conduct of the war. Criticisms, coming from all sides of the house, covered all aspects of the war effort.

George Buchanan, a Laborite, remarked that in his opinion "a military victory on either side is impossible" and the sooner there was a negotiated peace the happier he would be.

Earl Winterton, a Conservative, charged that the cabinet failed "to answer adequately the questions of magnitude" raised in previous debates, and asserted "government prestige has suffered thereby."

Assail Use of Radio.

Winterton complained that the British Broadcasting corporation was not giving a true representation of the views of the house of commons because its broadcasts "reported the ministers' declarations at length and gave only the shortest summary of other speeches."

Vernon Bartlett, an Independent, also objected to the broadcasting corporation's policy, saying its job was to speak for Britain rather than for the British government by whom it is controled. He demanded that the government appoint some one who could answer in parliament for BBC's shortcomings.

"We shall not win the war unless we pay a great deal more attention to the problems of our war aims," Bartlett also said.

This was necessary, he said, because "too many people in the world believe Germany is a progressive country and Britain and her allies are a bunch of well meaning but decadent reactionaries."

Urges Drive on Italy.

Seymour Cocks, a Laborite, said "our whole front must be stripped for victory." He urged the government to embark "on a swift, constant attack on Italy," remarking "now that we have use of Greek air bases, I see no reason why we should not plaster the Italian peninsula with bombs."

Sir John Wardlaw-Milne, a Conservative, referring to the 800,000 persons unemployed in Britain, said there was little indication that so far Britain was utilizing her whole industrial strength.

Chinese Troops Raid Jap Police at Canton

HONGKONG, Dec. 5, Thursday (AP).—A Central [Chinese agency] news report said today that Chinese mobile units raided the Japanese police headquarters in Canton the night of Nov. 29 and inflicted scores of casualties.

WARPLANE BOUND FOR BRAZIL FALLS IN MEXICO; 3 DIE

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4 (AP).—Three and possibly four persons were killed today when a Brazilian bomber being flown from Inglewood, Cal., to Brazil crashed and burned at Santiago de la Pena, a mile from the Tuxpan airport. Known dead were the two man crew of the bomber and a woman into whose house the plane plunged soon after taking off. A report to the federal communications department said one of two children also in the house was fatally burned, but this was not confirmed. Another woman and the second child were injured.

Other bombers in the six plane squadron returned to the airport after the accident. The dead Brazilian flyers were identified as Lieut. Enrique Alencastro and Sergt. Enrique Erkens.

German Ship That Fled Colombia Believed Safe

BOGOTA, Colombia, Dec. 4 (AP).—A message received here today indicated the 2,927 ton German freighter Helgoland, which sailed from Puerto Colombia on Oct. 29 without bothering about the formality of clearance papers, had arrived in Hamburg, Germany. The message, from a German who left here aboard the Helgoland, reported his arrival in Hamburg.

[New York shipping circles received reports on Nov. 15 that the Helgoland was sunk by British warships in the Caribbean.]

GREEKS CAPTURE TOWN; ITALIANS FLEE TWO MORE

Athens Reports Losses of Foes Heavy.

ATHENS, Dec. 5, Thursday (AP).—The Greek high command announced today the capture of the strategic town of Premet in south central Albania, with heavy Italian losses, and a Greek spokesman said the Fascist forces also were hastening northward from their vital southern Albanian bases of Porto Edda and Argyrokustron.

[Premet is north of Argyrokastron and a deep thrust in that quarter could make a northward Italian movement difficult.]

Italian counterattacks in some sectors were acknowledged, but the spokesman asserted they were all repelled.

In Outskirts of Porto Edda.

Early yesterday the Greeks had declared the fall of Porto Edda and Argyrokastron, an important supply center, was momentarily expected.

"The enemy in order to avoid encirclement is retreating," the Greek spokesman said. "We have been able to observe his movements from Santi Quaranta [Porto Edda] toward Chimara, from Argyrokastron toward Tepeleni, from Premet toward Klisoura.

"Generally the enemy is retreating from places which he tried stubbornly to maintain. On the Premet front the Italians have abandoned emplacements called the Lousnia and have fled toward the west. North of Premet we have succeeded in occupying the Frasheri mountain range.

Claim Italians Suffer Heavily.

"In the Pogradetz area [on the northern front] up to yesterday the enemy defended himself stubbornly on the heights northwest of Pogradetz, but today they were no longer able to continue resistance and we drove them out. The enemy sustained heavy losses."

In the Premet sector, the Greeks said, 500 prisoners were captured. Italian tank attacks failed, they asserted.

Raid British Warships at Crete.

ROME, Dec. 4 (AP).—In a daring sequel to the British raid early last month on Taranto, the Italian high command announced today that torpedo launching Fascist planes slipped over the Greek island of Crete and torpedoed two British cruisers in Suda bay, Britain's new eastern Mediterranean "Gibraltar."

The Crete base was established by the British when they went to the aid of Greece.

The high command communique also said an Italian submarine in the Atlantic torpedoed a third British ship—a destroyer—on Dec. 1.

On the Albanian battlefront, the high command declared that Italian troops held their own against artillery-protected Greek assaults and that Fascist forces themselves were on the offensive in some sectors.

In a raid by "enemy" planes on Elbasan, 15 miles southeast of Tirana, Albanian capital, today's communique said four persons were killed while Italian planes were said to have shot down six of the foe's planes over Tirana itself. Three Italian planes failed to return from the Tirana engagement.

FARMER FATALLY BURNED.

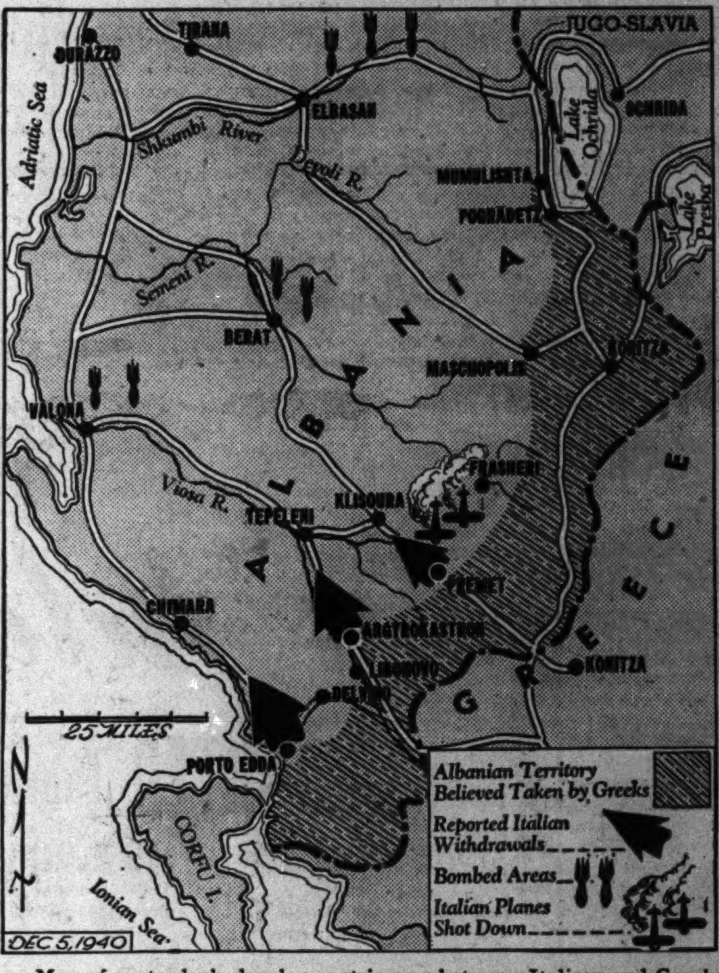
Greeks Claim Italians Give Up Bases

(Story in adjoining column.)



Map of yesterday's development in war between Italians and Greeks in Albania. The Greeks claim capture of Premet and declare their foes are withdrawing from two vital bases, Porto Edda and Argyrokastron.

PROMISES NAZIS A RICHER LIFE 'AFTER THEY WIN'

Labor Leader Paints a Rosy Picture.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—"We shall mobilize the whole of Europe" after Germany has won the war, Labor Front Chief Robert Ley declared in a speech today. "Nothing is impossible for the German who is aware of his strength and who believes in the German mission," he asserted.

In recent weeks Ley has been promising new homes, new cars, and new state controled entertainment to the German people—provided they win the war. Now he assures them that, after winning, "they have the right to live better than they did before." Ley promised the German worker he would advance from the position of the "proletarian he used to be to the position of master gentleman."

For the benefit of those who may be worried about the difficulty of obtaining the food they require to remain healthy. Ley said: "I know what the minimum of existance is to which every German is entitled. I shall not allow any German to sink beneath this level."

Oranges to Be on Market.

Simultaneously, the press said that within a short time oranges will be available on the German market. They are to come from Spain. After one pound of apples was allotted to children, expectant mothers, and invalids in November, the ration of apples for these same groups for December has been increased to two pounds.

At present long lines of buyers form outside candy stores. Four ounces of "wares which contain cocoa" can be obtained. Similar lines are to be seen at tobacco shops.

At butchers' shops housewives are often compelled to take part of their weekly ration of meat and bone in pickled or canned meat. Some complain about the unsatisfactory taste of the canned meat.

See Cut in Butter Fat.

Reports persist that after Christmas the ration for butter fat, which amounts to four ounces weekly now, will be reduced to three ounces.

Semiofficial sources admit that Finland and Sweden as well as the Baltic countries which used to sell butter to Germany now have no surplus they can export.

Denmark, which formerly was allowed to export small quantities of butter to Americans in Germany against payment in dollars by their relatives abroad, has stopped this delivery. The amounts Denmark must deliver to Germany are such that the Danes ordered the rationing of butter for the Danish population.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4 (AP).—Vice President Elect Henry A. Wallace today suffered a pulled muscle in his right leg while playing fronton tennis with Mexican government officials. It was reported the injury would not interrupt his official duties. Fronton tennis is similar to squash.

GERMAN PICTURE SHOWS LOADING OF BIGGEST BOMB

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—A preview of Germany's weekly newsreel, today showed Germany's "heaviest bomb" being attached to a powerful bomber.

The bomb was transported on a small wagon and pushed and directed by six husky soldiers who looked almost small beside it. A hoist operated by four men, lifted it under the plane, two other men pushing the bomb, while a seventh moved it into position with a special stick. Authorities refused to reveal the weight of the bomb, which is equipped with propellerlike contraptions.

The newsreel also showed roads in Poland being built mostly by Poles. Polish women of all ages were working on the road, handling big shovels and pickaxes. Photographs of the destruction wrought by German planes in London also figured prominently. These photographs reached Germany thru American and other newsreel men.

Foes Strengthen Balkan Ties

Germany and Great Britain strengthened their economic ties in southeastern Europe and the near east yesterday by signing trade and financial agreements with Rumania and Turkey, respectively. The details:

BERLIN, Dec. 4 (AP).—Germany and Rumania today signed a broad, 10 year trade and economic agreement placing a large portion of Rumanian resources at Germany's disposition.

Rumania, with the help of German experts, created a 10 year economic development plan and committed herself to deliver large quantities of materials to the reich. The agreement, covering agriculture, trade, finance, transports, and industry, was officially described as taking into account "the new political relations between the two states."

The pact was concluded here and the protocol announcing it showed Rumania's part of the bargain was to improve markets within its borders for German products.

What Germany Promises.

The Nazis, on their part, promised:

To extend liberal credits for the 10-year period, provide machines and technical aid to increase the production of Rumanian farms, and to drain Rumanian swamps.

To give both financial and technical help for developing Rumanian industries; to coöperate in improving Rumania's transport systems, including railways, highways, and pipelines.

To give financial credits to private Rumanian banks so they might participate in the program; to send agricultural and industrial experts to Rumania.

To sustain permanent and dependable markets for Rumanian products and to protect those markets from the "vagaries of economic crises."

Expropriate Oil Pipelines.

Announcement of the treaty coincided with Rumania's expropriation of all oil pipelines, reservoirs, pumping stations, and the land on which they are situated in a decree that would include the Romano Americano properties owned by Standard Oil of New Jersey.

The chief bottleneck in deliveries of vital oil to Germany recently has been the lack of adequate transportation.

The importance placed on transport was further emphasized by the expropriation decree, which embraced all Danube barges, tugs, tankers, and sea going ships owned and used by companies having Jewish stockholders. This would include both American and British companies.

LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP).—The foreign office tonight announced conclusion of a financial agreement between the British and Turkish governments "which they hope will bring about a considerable increase in their trade."

The accord provides that payments between Turkey and nations of the sterling area be made at the existing rate of exchange between the Turkish lire and the pound sterling. It also stipulates that "special accounts" be created to facilitate commercial and other payments between Turkey and the British empire.

Hailed as Political Stroke.

Diplomatic circles here were quick to term the treaty not only an important commercial move but a political stroke as well.

They said the agreement, coming at a "strategic moment," was a "direct challenge to German economic domination in the Balkans" as represented by the 10 year Rumanian-German treaty announced in Berlin today.

These diplomats added they believed the Turkish pact was concluded when Germany was "ready to tempt the Turks by attractive new commercial propositions."

Unequal Trade Cited.

It was pointed out that in the past Britain has enjoyed less than 10 per cent of Turkey's foreign trade while Germany has captured about 50 per cent.

The agreement followed the signing of a new commercial pact between Britain and Spain earlier this week, and a British bid on Nov. 26 for Bulgaria's continued neutrality by promising to respect that Balkan kingdom's integrity and independence when peace comes.

Deals Seen in Russia.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 4 (AP).—Hungarian and Jugo-Slav trade delegations headed for Moscow today to place big orders with the soviets.

The Jugo-Slavs expect to negotiate the purchase of from 1 million to 2 million dollars worth of wool. Hungary has a trade agreement with Russia envisaging a turnover of at least $3,700,000 annually. Russia has ordered eight Danube river boats, several thousand railway car undercarriages, and more than 2,000 Diesel engines from Hungary.

LITTLE NATIONS WARNED—LEND ARMIES TO AXIS

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 4 (AP).—The frank statement that Germany expects smaller European nations to lend their armies, territory, and transport facilities to the Rome-Berlin axis for a spring offensive was made today by Curentul, the newspaper which frequently is called the Nazi mouthpiece in Rumania.

[The newspaper did not say which direction the offensive was to take, but the implication seemed clear that it referred to the German drive which is expected to descend thru Bulgaria or Jugo-Slavia into Greece, Turkey, and the middle east—aimed eventually at Suez; possibly to be coördinated with a German thrust thru Spain at Gibraltar.]

NAZI BOMBERS SMASH AT BRITISH MIDLANDS AREA

LONDON, Dec. 5, Thursday (AP).—German bombers smashed at the Midlands industrial area last night. In a western Midlands town damage and casualties were caused by the blasts. Fires sprang up early in the raid but none was serious. Raiders were over an eastern Midlands town for nearly four hours but the damage was described as light.

Raiders were reported over southwest England and Wales. London, too, was raided, but the "all clear" was sounded at midnight. An occupied school was struck by bombs in one of London's daylight raids. The effectiveness of Tuesday night's raid on Birmingham was minimized by the ministry of home security.

Mannheim and Ludwigshaven, a blast furnace at Essen, the port of Dunkirk, and airdromes in northern France were reported bombed in British flyers' Tuesday night raids on the continent. An official claim was made that repeated raids have tied up Berlin's rail traffic for days at a time and have cut off half of Germany's coal supply from the Ruhr.

Attack London's Harbor.

BERLIN, Dec. 4 (AP).—London and "a Midlands city" were bombed tonight, it was stated officially. Loads of bombs were reported dropped on the London harbor sections. It was stated that German flyers left 25 fires blazing in Tuesday night's raid on Birmingham.

Disclose British Use Planes from U.S. in Mediterranean

LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP).—American built warplanes are being used extensively by the R. A. F. in the middle east and the Mediterranean, a ministry of information communique disclosed tonight. One of their outstanding performances was declared to have been the making of pictures of Taranto harbor, giving the story of the fleet air arms recent blow at the Italian fleet.

ASK U.S. TO GUARD CONVOYS, BRITISH CABINET IS URGED

Candid Plea for Financial Aid Also Suggested.

LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP).—The British house of commons heard an unofficial suggestion today that the government appeal to the United States for warships to guard Britain's much-attacked Atlantic convoys and for dollar credits to pay for American supplies.

Ian Campbell Hannah, Conservative member of parliament and an educator who taught church history between 1915 and 1925 at Oberlin college, in Ohio, urged in the question period that the United States "help patrol trade routes of the Atlantic with her own navy." Moreover, he said, Britain should tell Washington, D. C., candidly "we want financial help."

"I do not see how this nation can bear the tremendous burdens of carrying on a great war which, after all, if we see it rightly, is just as much to the benefit of America as for our own empire," Hannah said.

Government spokesmen avoided a direct reply to Hannah.

No Barter of Territory.

Maj. Clement R. Attlee, the deputy leader, reiterated assurances that Britain did not intend to "barter the sovereignty of any British territory" in the western hemisphere for American war help.

The minister of economic warfare, Hugh Dalton, said there had been negotiations with the United States over Britain's desire for a "reservation of United States surpluses for the allies." Dalton also, on a note of optimism, said the Germans now were using more oil than they could produce because of British air force bombings of between 80 and 90 per cent of German refineries and oil plants.

Commons also heard from Sir John Anderson, the lord president of the council, that powers of labor compulsion may have to be invoked to rehabilitate bomb-blasted industrial centers; that shipping losses in recent months in American supply lanes had not been "underestimated" by the government and that technical naval advisers were doing everything possible to "find an early and effective solution of the grave problem" caused by shipping losses.

Claim 7 More Ships Sunk.

BERLIN, Dec. 4 (AP).—Germany's accelerated sea warfare against Great Britain was credited by the high command tonight with sinking seven more armed merchant vessels totaling 36,400 tons.

One submarine scored direct hits on six of the ships, a communique said. The seventh was listed as the victim of a bomber which attacked a convoy in the Atlantic 250 miles off the Irish coast.

Since Monday the high command has claimed sinking of 25 British merchant ships aggregating 285,000 tons.

LAWTON TO TAKE ARMY LESSONS AT FT. BENNING

Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, commander of the 33d division, Illinois National Guard, and Lieut. Col. Andrew T. McAnsh, division plans and training officer, will leave tonight for Fort Benning, Ga., to begin a two week refresher course for Guard officers next Monday. They will stop en route to inspect Camp Peay, Tenn., where the division is to train for a year in federal service. Other officers of the 33d division to take the course are Brig. Gen. Charles C. Haffner, commander of the 68th field artillery brigade; Brig. Gen. Albert L. Culbertson of Delavan, commander of the 66th infantry brigade, and Grig. Gen. Diller S. Myers of Pontiac, commander of the 65th infantry brigade.

Britain to Get 150 American Merchant Ships, London Told

LONDON, Dec. 4 (AP).—The Daily Mail, in a page one dispatch under a Washington, D. C., date line, declared tonight:

"The United States government are placing 150 American merchant ships at Britain's disposal immediately."

The dispatch, attributed to unnamed sources "of the highest repute," said "this timely aid, decided on in government conferences in the last 48 hours, is part of a plan to mobilize all available American merchant shipping to meet what officials here [in Washington] believe is Britain's first and most imperative need."

It added, "more destroyers are likely to follow, as well as an increased flow of aircraft," and that it was understood that President Roosevelt "laid down a broad plan for this increased extensive aid to Britain before sailing on his Caribbean cruise."

U. S. to Sell 15 Vessels.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 [Special].—Fifteen additional vessels of the government's laid up fleet built during the world war will be offered for sale by the Maritime commission during the next few days, it was announced today. The ships probably will be purchased by Great Britain, bringing to 148 the number acquired by Britain since the outbreak of the war. Eighty-six of these have been deep water craft of more than 1,000 tons.

At present only 63 boats remain in the laidup fleet.

Reports from London that the United States was selling 150 merchant ships to the English were discounted here. The fact is that Britain, if it buys 15 vessels at the next sale, will have approached the 150 mark for acquiring new ships since the war began.

No New Ships for Sale.

Informed sources said that while the United States was glad to sell its laidup vessels to Britain, there was no intention at this time of selling new ship construction. The laid up fleet, owned by the Maritime commission, is made up principally of cargo carriers, a majority of them oil burners. Their average tonnage is 9,000 and the total tonnage of the fleet, as of Oct. 5, was 880,292. This tonnage is now at Baltimore, Norfolk, New Orleans, Galveston, and Bremerton, Wash.

British Seamen En Route to U. S.

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, Dec. 4 (AP).—British merchant seamen, several hundred strong, reached here today bound for United States ports to take over vessels obtained by Britain to bolster her submarine-depleted shipping.

Also arriving were royal navy men to man destroyers traded to Britain for United States defense bases in the Atlantic, some royal air force officers who will become flying instructors in Canada, a number of flying students, and civilian officials coming to North America on various governmental duties.

UNIVERSITY GANG SLAYS EX-POLICE OFFICIAL IN CUBA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 4.—University students' machine guns blazed again tonight, assassinating Julio Fernandez Trevejo, 42 years old, former police lieutenant. Trevejo was slain by fire from an automobile as he left his home to meet with the communist element of the student body of the National university. He had enrolled in the university and his slayers had accused him of being a spy.

Police arrested three youths who they said confessed the killing. Four others escaped. All are members of a university "Bunch" whose chief, Prof. Raul Fernandez Fiallo of the school of commercial science, was assassinated last Thursday by students of a "Bunch" formerly led by Prof. Ramiro Valdes Daussa of the school of engineering. Daussa was assassinated by the Fiallo gang on Aug. 15.

President Fulgencio Batista warned Rodolfo Mendez Penate, rector of the university, which enjoys autonomy, that the police and army will occupy the university if another slaying occurs.

JOHNSON WARNS UNITED STATES IS HEADED FOR WAR

Oakland, Cal., Dec. 4 (AP).—Asserting that the United States is headed toward war, Senator Hiram Johnson [R., Cal.], today said he will rest up for a fight he expects to wage in congress next year against any attempts to repeal the Johnson act. The act forbids loans to countries delinquent on previous obligations.

If the United States should lend more money to Great Britain, Johnson said in an interview, and the war should end in England's favor, the loans would be the cause of "constant bickering" between the countries.

Concerning the war outlook, Senator Johnson commented:

"Those in command of us are perfectly mad to get in the game. When things are propitious, from their standpoint, they will take the offense. We are edging nearer and nearer every day."

SWISS HEAR AXIS AND LAVAL WILL MAP PEACE PLAN

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 4 (AP).—A conference between foreign ministers of the Rome-Berlin axis and France to seek a "post-armistice but pre-peace" settlement was reported imminent by diplomatic quarters here tonight.

Pierre Laval, vice premier and foreign minister of France, was expected to meet both Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, the foreign ministers of Germany and Italy, respectively, this week or early next week, possibly in Munich.

Italian reverses in the war with Greece were reported a main reason for the conference at this time. Italian demands on the French empire have been a barrier to closer coöperation between the Vichy government and the axis, and German attempts to persuade Italy to lower her demands were unsuccessful until the Greek war began, editors in Berlin and Rome were informed.

BEDMAKERS HAVE NO TIME TO LIE IN BEDS THEY MAKE

Double trouble is in store this year for the bedding manufacturers. This was indicated yesterday at the opening of the 25th annual convention of the National Association of Bedding Manufacturers in the Stevens hotel where 1,000 delegates are in attendance. The convention will close tomorrow.

A big increase in the sale of twin beds, even in the south which has been faithful to the double bed for years, is presenting a definite problem. There are a lot of double beds, double mattresses and double springs still on the market. Shortages in ticking, goose feathers, and cotton linters, due to the war in Europe, create another trying situation.

All in all, it looks like a busy year for the delegates who were at the convention yesterday. They will still make their own beds but it doesn't look as if they will find time to lie in them.

TRACES WHITE'S PRO-ALLY AIMS TO 1917 JUNKET

Senator Holt Recalls Dip Into Society Abroad.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—A possible clew to the motives impelling William Allen White, as leader of the movement to enlist the United States as a British ally in the European war, was unearthed today by Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.].

White, editor of the Emporia, Kas., Gazette, is chairman of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, an exceedingly active interventionist group with headquarters in New York City.

Senator Holt drew attention to a book written by the Kansas editor in 1918. Entitled "The Martial Adventures of Henry and Me," the book told of the experiences, as observers for the Red Cross in Europe in 1917, of White and Henry J. Allen, another newspaper man who later became governor of Kansas.

Lavish Entertainment Described.

A good portion of the work was devoted to glowing descriptions of the entertainments lavished on the two Americans in London and Paris. White was enthusiastic about the luncheons, teas, and dinners to which he and Allen were invited and the shows they attended.

While American soldiers were fighting at the front, White and Allen, according to the book, were experiencing such horrors of war as the lack of hot water and soap in the Ritz hotel in Paris.

Senator Holt noted that a number of those most eager to thrust the United States into the war on the side of Great Britain seem susceptible to the blandishments of the British "social lobby." One paragraph in White's book, for example, read as follows:

"As we look back upon our London experience, it seemed to Henry and me that we were hurrying from luncheons to teas and teas to dinners and from dinners to the second act of good shows."

It's Revealing, Says Holt.

This and other paragraphs in the book are revealing, Senator Holt commented.

"In such organizations as the committee to aid Britain," the Senator remarked, "there are individuals who are called the 'upper crust' who think the American way is just a little under their social standard, who love to curtsy to a king, or who bask in the glory of the society of royalty.

"Mr. White's own confessions of rapture in his account of his social adventures in London during the world war raise the question whether he is not seeking a return to those delightful fields as the hero who helped shove the United States for a second time into war as Britain's ally. It is not inconceivable that he dreams thus of finishing out his career in a blaze of social glory."

Cites New York Activities.

At present, Senator Holt noted, White is being lionized by the social set in New York City.

"The Kansas editor is at his best in such surroundings," Holt commented. "He is 'just so homey,' as one society matron described him. He has that plain touch that the social set loves of men who are fronts for their causes."

White's book recounted that he and Allen, upon their arrival in Paris in 1917, went to the Ritz, "the grandee among Paris hotels."

In detail, White related how he and Allen ordered tailored Red Cross uniforms, patterned after those of American officers. The uniforms were $114 each, including $14 for Sam Browne belts, with an additional $10 for shoes.

JITTERY BOOKIES MAKE HAY WHILE THE SUN SHINES

Seek Legal Counsel on Fighting Writ.

Atty. Gen. Cassidy [top] and Judge M. V. Joyce.

Loop handbooks were in operation yesterday while their owners and operators sought legal advice on how to combat the injunction obtained against them Tuesday by Attorney General John E. Cassidy from Circuit Judge Maurice V. Joyce of St. Clair county.

Horse race betting parlors in the outskirts, too, were open as usual as the police department awaited official notification of the injunction. The operators, who call themselves gamblers, were said to feel less fearful of Judge Joyce's ire because of the distance between Chicago and East St. Louis [in St. Clair county].

Loss of Telephones Feared.

But the wise ones admitted trouble was in store for them. They expressed grave concern over the possibility they would lose their telephones as one of the first results of the Cassidy-Joyce ultimatum. And they were right, according to a statement issued by W. O. Kurtz, vice president of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, to the effect that the phone company would coöperate "as usual" with the authorities.

Cassidy, in Springfield and later at his home in Peoria, was engaged in getting due notice of the court action to the persons affected and to the state's attorneys and sheriffs of the 102 counties of Illinois. The injunction he obtained from Judge Joyce forbade about 2,000 persons, all of whom were named, from any further activity in connection with illegal betting on horse races.

Officials Get Copy of Order.

Cassidy's notices to the sheriffs and state's attorneys, with which were inclosed copies of the complaint and the court order, asked their full coöperation in sustaining the injunction and prosecuting violations. Cassidy added that he had had the federal department of justice's coöperation in preparing the proceedings and was assured of its continued aid in presentation of necessary evidence.

A similar letter was sent to all police officials. State's Attorney Courtney and Police Commissioner Allman said they would coöperate with the attorney general.

Mayor Kelly said the police department has been enforcing the laws against gambling and will continue to do so.

"Attorney General Cassidy's injunction is another way of enforcing the law and the injunction should be respected by everybody," the mayor said.

Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien said he had not yet received word of the antibookie injunction, but added that his staff "is willing to and does enforce all laws."

Move is Unprecedented.

As far as could be learned, the procedure adopted by Cassidy has no precedent in Illinois. He is said to have acted on the theory that it is an elementary fact that every court has sufficient inherent power to enforce its own orders. He believes, however, that prosecutions for contempt of court, if any arise from violations in Chicago, will have to be handled in St. Clair county, where Judge Joyce sits as a Circuit court judge.

Cassidy's program is said to have been modeled on a California system that has been considered successful.

Before Cassidy's action was taken Courtney had been in consultation with Bertram J. Cahn, president of the crime commission, and Henry Barrett Chamberlin, its operating director, on a plan of action against the gang headed by Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti and the handbooks operated by Danny Stanton, a public enemy ally of Nitti who runs a string of horse parlors. He said he believes Cassidy's program offers an opportunity of driving the gangsters from Chicago.

Police reports to the state's attorney were to the effect that the Nitti gang, an outgrowth of the old Capone syndicate which dealt in vice, gambling, bootlegging, and general crime, owns most of the lucrative handbooks in the city or has an interest in them.

And the personnel of the Nitti gang, according to veteran policemen, is made up largely of former agents of prostitutes. As Chicago's old red light district was gradually closed the male habitués became employés of Dennis Cooney's handbooks and eventually were absorbed into the Nitti army, police observers declared.

Therefore Cassidy's warfare on them is doubly welcomed by Chicago's police and legal officials who have encountered considerable difficulty in the past in getting the municipal courts to regard the keeping of a handbook as an offense more serious than spitting on the sidewalk, it was explained.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 10¢ and 25¢.

REVEALS STORY OF NITTI GANG'S GRIP ON UNIONS

Here's What McLane Once Said About Mob.

Q.—Who was present? A.—George Browne, international president of the stage hands' union; Willie Bioff, Nick Dean, Romano, Nitti, and myself.

Q.—Who is Nick Dean? A.—He is an assistant to Browne, a man appointed by Browne, and owns the Colony club on Rush street.

Q.—Is he commonly known as Nickleodeon or Nick Circella? A.—Yes.

Q.—He is now the head of the Chicago local moving picture operators' union, is he? A.—Yes. [Dean once served a term for robbery.]

Termed a Bioff Appointee.

Q.—Appointed by Bioff? A.—Yes.

Q.—Bioff is the western representative of Browne? A.—Yes. [Bioff recently served a belated sentence for pandering.]

Q.—What was said? A.—Bioff first talked and said, as far as the west coast was concerned, in Seattle he would contact various organizations, including the teamsters, and see that our people out there voted for me for general president.

Q.—Did you say anything about not being a candidate? A.—I tried to explain to them they were going against an organization 28 years old. Pretty near impossible to beat an organization of that standing. I said others would know I was being used strictly as a yes man, their front man, and I had no alternative in it. I would either wind up in the penitentiary or out in the alley and I did not favor to run.

Told He Had to Run.

"They explained to me," McLane's testimony went on, "that they had run other organizations and had taken over organizations thru the same channels and all they said they wanted was two years of it and they would see that I was elected. Then they would parcel out the different parts of the country. Browne was supposed to take care of the eastern part of it, around Boston and thru there. Dean was supposed to take care of some other place. I do not just recall where he was delegated, but I was given a definite understanding I had to run. I was delegated whether I wished it or not."

Q.—Did Nitti make any threats there at the time? A.—Nitti did the talking after he did the summing up, how they made Browne, how they made Mike Carrozzo [late czar of the Chicago Street Cleaners' union], and how they controled the treasury of the organizations and what position they were in to do it.

Q.—What did they say about making Browne? A.—He [Nitti] said he made Browne.

Made Carrozzo, Nitti Claimed.

Q.—What did he say about making Carrozzo? A.—He said they made Carrozzo. Carrozzo did not amount to anything until he affiliated with them. They were going to do the same with me.

Q.—Did Nitti say anything else at that meeting? A.—Other than giving me to understand I would run or I would be found in an alley.

McLane then stated, according to the transcript, that he secretly advised labor friends all over the country he didn't wish to be elected and he wasn't. He said Edward Flore of Buffalo, N. Y., was reëlected. His campaign was managed by the Nitti gang, with Romano present to report on what was taking place, McLane stated, and when he was defeated for the presidency Romano wanted him to seek the vice presidency, and against his will be did so and was defeated. He came back to Chicago to resume his duties as business agent of the Chicago local. Soon after his return, he said, he was called to the Congress hotel.

Q.—Whom did you meet there? A.—Nitti.

Q.—Who took you over there? A.—Romano.

Upbraided by Nitti for Drinking.

Q.—What was said? A. — Nitti raised hell about me drinking and raising hell about the outfit, saying unpleasant things about it, and he told me he wanted me to get on the wagon and quit drinking. There is an unwritten law in the outfit or anybody in contact with the outfit, they are not allowed to drink because they might shoot their mouth off, and if they shot their mouth off they would be found in an alley.

"He said they did not want to lose a man of my standing," the transcript continued, "because they wanted me to be their means of getting in and getting charge of the Chicago Federation of Labor, and they wanted me to do that. So I agreed to get on the water wagon."

McLane, according to the transcript, then told the grand jurors how Romano became president of the bartenders' local union by Nitti's orders and how soon afterward he [McLane] was told to get out of Chicago "for his health." He said he was gone for several months. The questioning was resumed:

Q.—At any time did you personally turn over any money to Nitti, Humphreys, Campagna, Riccio [Paul Ricca], or any of the members of the mob? A.—They had a setup whereby they would draw it out of the joint council. Romano took that money out to Cicero.

Explains Council Functions.

Q.—Explain to the grand jury what the join council is? A.—The council consists of all locals affiliated with the international union and is under the jurisdiction of our international. There are 15 locals. It is supposed to be a parent union to adjust wage agreements, jurisdictional fights, and anything that functions within these organizations that they cannot settle themselves. It is mandatory that the locals belong to it.

Q.—What other unions in Chicago belong to it—the waiters? A.—That is right.

Q.—Who was the head of that? A.—Guy Swinehart.

Q.—The Miscellaneous Hotel Employés? A.—That is headed by Jim Blakely and John Lardin.

Links Stanton to Unions.

Q.—Who heads the South Chicago bartenders' local? A.—A fellow named Frank Trengalli that they brought from the coast who was affiliated with Bioff in Los Angeles. He has charge of locals 376 and 394.

Q.—What about local 450 in Cicero? Who operates that? A.—Henry Mack, and that is controled by Johnny Moore and Patrick O'Brien.

Q.—Johnny Moore Maddox? A.—That is right.

Maddox an Old Capone Man.

Q.—What about the cooks' union? A.—Topenero is the outfit's man.

Q.—What about checkroom attendants? A.—Red Campbell is the head of that, and it belongs to the outfit.

McLane said, according to the transcript, that the Nitti gang made Romano the president of the joint council which, he said, has a membership of 30,000 men and women and that a per capita tax of 10 cents a month is paid by the unions for its upkeep. Regarding that subject part of the questioning was as follows:

Q.—What are the expenses of the joint council, if any? A.—None, with the exception of stamps, letterheads.

Q.—Do they hire any one? A.—No, only they pay the secretary $5 a meeting.

Q.—How long has this setup existed? A.—Two years, since Romano has been president.

Q.—Did Romano ever tell you who the money was paid out for? A.—Yes, he told me the outfit.

Q.—Did he ever tell you how much the amounts totaled? A.—No.

Q.—Did he ever tell you how much the joint council was giving to the outfit? A.—No, sir, he did not.

Q.—But the joint council had been collecting $36,000 a year dues, plus $25,000 a year from other sources, you say, and with no expenses about $120,000 was paid into the council? A.—There ought to have been in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Q.—Do you know how much of that they have got? A.—I do not think they have anything like that.

Q.—What is the last time you knew what they had in the treasury? A.—August of 1939. There was about 5 or 10 thousand dollars.

Yearbook Profits Told.

McLane then told how the joint council has made approximately $25,000 a year on a Christmas Year Book in which night clubs, taverns, liquor companies, and breweries are the principal advertisers. He said that went to Romano.

Judge Robert Jerome Dunne will hold another hearing this afternoon on McLane's original petition to the Circuit court seeking the rescue of local 278 from the mob's control. After McLane concluded what to him was a satisfactory deal with Nitti in the expectation he would be reëlected business agent of the union at the election on Jan. 6, he asked Judge Dunne to forget about his original request. He may get his answer today.

AUTO CRASH VICTIM'S WIDOW WINS $3,000 IN SUIT AGAINST TAVERN

Mrs. Lillian Dunn.

Damages of $3,000 under the dram shop act were awarded late yesterday by a jury before Judge Michael Feinberg to Mrs. Lillian Dunn, 6939 North Western avenue, for the death of her husband, Joseph, in an automobile accident allegedly involving a drunken driver.

The judgment was assessed against Mrs. Katherine Stauffer, former owner of the Ramble inn, a roadhouse at 3446 Church street, Skokie [formerly Niles Center]. Mrs. Dunn, 51 years old, and mother of two daughters and a son, asked for $60,000.

Dunn was fatally injured Aug. 15, 1937, in an auto collision at Dempster street and Fowler avenue, Evanston. Witnesses testified they had seen Andrew Anderson, 40 years old, of 1245 Leon terrace, Evanston, driver of the other car, in the inn shortly before the accident.

4 Killed, 4 Hurt in Crash of N. Y. Fair Structure

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—Four persons were killed and four injured today when the huge railroad exposition building at the New York World's Fair collapsed. The building was known as "Railroads on Parade." The roof, which was being demolished, suddenly gave way and trapped a number of workmen.

REVIVED BY FIREMEN.

William C. Roberts, 84 years old, 4911 Adams street, was revived by firemen of rescue squad No. 2 yesterday when he fainted in his home.

SENTENCE THREE UNIONISTS FOR ARSON ATTEMPT

New York, Dec. 4 [Special].—Prison sentences ranging up to more than four years were imposed in Queens county court on three union officials of local 239 of the C. I. O. Cleaners and Dyers' union, and four women associates. All were convicted on charges of plotting to set fire to nonunion cleaning and dyeing shops.

Alexander Hoffman, manager of the local, was given concurrent terms of from four to eight years and from three to six years in Sing Sing.

Some folks still can't believe their eyes

GOING over Buick dealers' reports on our 1941 models, we find an unusual thing happening.

Time and again cars come in for the usual inspections with an extra note of instructions — "Please check the gas gauge needle."

There's nothing wrong with those gas gauge needles—they work perfectly.

But even after hundreds of miles, people mistrust their eyes when they see the snail-like pace from the Full mark toward Empty—they don't see how it's possible for a car as big as Buick to go so far on so little.

But it does—and for good reasons.

The whole FIREBALL engine was designed and built to get the most good out of modern gasolines.

And the simple secret of Compound Carburetion is that it keeps your engine running on its most frugal diet for all normal driving—and provides full feed only when you need, want and call for the lift of extra wallop.

Meantime even the gears are helping save money — for the regular high gear in a Buick gives you the economy of the so-called "gas-saving" top speeds you hear boosted so enthusiastically.

The big thing is, of course, that this is no small car that's setting these economy figures. There are all the room, size, impressiveness, comfort and downright thrilling performance you expect from a Buick.

Maybe that's why people still hesitate to believe their own eyes.

We assure them, however—and you too—that it isn't because the needle's out of kilter that it goes down so slowly. It's because that needle's in a Buick — a thrifty and thrilling 1941 FIREBALL Buick.

STELLE SETS UP RESERVE MILITIA; CLINNIN AT HEAD

Governor Calls for 10,000 Volunteers.

Gen. John V. Clinnin.

Gov. John Stelle yesterday proclaimed a state emergency, set up the Illinois reserve militia, appointed officers for many of the units in the six infantry regiments that will be organized, and called for the enlistment of approximately 10,000 volunteers between 18 and 45 years old.

The governor acted under a 1917 law which gives authority for the formation of the force. The emergency, he said, arose from calling the Illinois National Guard into federal military service.

Clinnin Named Commander.

Gov. Stelle appointed Brig. Gen. John V. Clinnin, world war commander of the 130th infantry of southern Illinois, to command the militia, with the rank of major general. Gen. Clinnin lives at 259 Maple Hill, Glencoe. He and Brig. Gen. Leo M. Boyle, adjutant general of the state, have perfected plans for the reserve militia's formation.

The proclamation by the governor said:

"It is apparent that all of the federally recognized military and naval forces of the state will shortly be called into service of the United States for intensive field training and other military service, thus leaving the state without military force for the purpose of preserving that equilibrium of law and order so essential not only to the peace of the state, but to coöperate to the full measure with the federal government."

Some Officers Named.

The six regiments, each consisting of 1,500 men, will be allocated thruout the state. There will be two regiments in each of three brigades forming the state-wide division. Each regiment will consist of three battalions. Reserve militia were announced by Gen. Boyle after the governor issued his proclamation.

Enlistments, which are for two years, will not be started at once, but probably will be taken as soon as the complete officer list is made known, it was asserted.

Gen. Boyle asserted that under state law the state will pay for the organization and equipping of the militia, and will pay the militiamen for the one and one-half hours per week on which they drill, at the same rate that National Guardsmen are paid. Under the national defense act, the federal government will provide uniforms and arms if available.

MILITIA APPOINTEES

The personnel of the state reserve militia set up yesterday includes a state staff and a division staff. Following are the officers who have been appointed to the state staff [addresses are Chicago unless stated otherwise]:

ARMY WILL NEED 9,100 PHYSICIANS IN '41, SAYS MAGEE

The United States army, which will have a force of 1,400,000 men by next spring, will require 9,100 physicians, 5,300 of whom must be procured within the next few months. This is revealed by Maj. Gen. James C. Magee, surgeon general of the army, in an article in the American Medical Journal to be published Saturday.

"The initial requirement will be approximately 6.5 doctors for each thousand men in the military service," Maj. Gen. Magee stated. "Additional ones may also be required, but in the interest of economy, the initial procurement will be limited to the number stated.

"The 1,200 physicians in the regular army and the 1,100 in the National Guard, are included in the total, leaving approximately 6,800 physicians to be supplied by the reserve corps. There are now in active service, or under orders, approximately 1,500 reserve physicians, leaving 5,300 to be obtained within the next few months."

THE CALL POSTPONED.

The officers and men of the 33d division have been informed that they will be inducted into federal service probably on Jan. 27. If this schedule is followed the Illinois Guardsmen will start for their camp in Tennessee on Feb. 7. It had previously been announced that the division would be inducted on Jan. 3.

Last July Mr. Roosevelt asked congress for authority to summon the militia of all the states for a year's intensive training. There never was any doubt that the power would be granted. The bill was enacted about the middle of August, but ever since July the militiamen, their families, and their employers have known that the call would come. It was not until Sept. 20, however, that the men of the 33d division were informed that they would have to abandon their civilian pursuits on Jan. 3. And now even that assurance has been taken from them.

These men, it should be emphasized, are all volunteers and the great majority of them are regularly employed. Many of them hold important positions in the professions, in business, and in industry. They are eager to be of service to their country and to perfect themselves as soldiers.

They were justified in expecting that the commander in chief would have the training plans well formulated even before he forwarded his request to congress. Certainly they were warranted in thinking that by the time the bill was passed every one of the Guard units could have been informed of the approximate date on which it would be called. By that time the camp sites could have been selected, the plans for barracks drawn, and schedules of completion prepared.

That did not happen and no explanation or apologies have been offered for the failure. Eventually on Sept. 20 the men of the division were told informally they would shove off in the first days of 1941 and now they are told there will be a delay of another three weeks. Nobody in Washington seems to be greatly interested in the fact that the men concerned have personal and family responsibilities to discharge, leases to adjust, professional engagements to make or unmake, and a thousand other problems of the sort to solve.

Almost all the men of the Guard are going to lose money and opportunities to make money by going to camp. All of them will sacrifice freedom and comfort. This they are willing and even eager to do. The least that the government could do in return is to minimize the inevitable sacrifices by careful planning and this the administration has not done.

The symptom is an alarming one. It suggests that the commander in chief isn't alive to the importance of the morale of his army. Further than that, there is evidence here of tolerated incompetence in the handling of the relatively simple problem of preparing a schedule and living up to it. If that kind of thing is tolerated what will the same administrators do when faced with the far more difficult task of procuring weapons, and the still more difficult one of training a greatly enlarged army in new methods of fighting?

A TORY STORY OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION.

A current best seller is a historical novel, the principal character of which is a loyalist in the American revolution. The loyalists had a poor opinion of the revolutionists and the novel's hero expresses their sentiments. When the Daughters of that revolution have read the book and recovered speech they will probably contribute something to the general discussion which will not be unwelcome to the publisher, the author, and the literary agent, if any Patriots, who may be dismayed when informed that on July Fourth they celebrate the work of a scurvy lot of worthless subjects of a good little king, may take heart and be persuaded that the description is a trifle exaggerated. As the opinion of a propertied class which was content to be colonial, if prosperous, it was a natural view. The revolutionary agitators such as Sam Adams, in the days which led up to open conflict, did rouse what the solid men of Boston would call the rabble against the constituted authority and its military. That rabble included waterfront workers who were at least more orderly in their uprisings than were the mobs of London, whose greatest joy was to stone the carriages of the noble lords and their ladies when they tried to go to court or to Westminster.

In the army at Cambridge there were some communistically minded ne'er-do-wells who thought that the revolution ought to be good for a general division of property. But even they had their derivation in the Levellers and True Levellers of Cromwell's time. When Morgan's long riflemen came up from the Virginia mountains and valleys they were a bit too tough for the more sedate New Englanders in the trenches about Boston, and the army was relieved when they were sent off with Arnold to make the attack on Quebec.

It isn't necessary for American pride of origin to preserve the revolutionary tradition as one of white patriotism, untouched by the failings of human nature. Such quality is attainable by few men. They sustain and control the less disinterested, less determined, and less inspired followers. When revolutions are real they offer something to the people who are not blessed with privileges. The privileged class, for the most part, frowns upon the change proposed. The success of the American revolution depended upon men of character and intelligence, as well as position and property, who risked all they had in an unequal contest. As Americans look back at the war of independence they realize how precarious a thing it was and what high qualities were needed to carry it thru. The odds against success were tremendous and even the help obtained from abroad could not remove the disparity. Lesser men than were in the leadership of the American cause would have failed. They would have yielded to despair and infirmities before any aid could have reached them.

FAIR WORDS FROM MEXICO.

Henry A. Wallace, visiting Mexico as Vice President elect to represent Mr. Roosevelt at the inauguration of President Camacho, was cordially received and pleasantly entertained after the police had subdued a group of Gen. Almazan's supporters who wanted to express their disapproval by making noises at the door of the American embassy. Mr. Wallace as No. 2 New Dealer is a bit of an expropriator himself and would be regarded by his Mexican affiliates as simpatico. Mr. Wallace believes in taking it away from those who have it and giving it to those who want it, particularly when those who want it can help you and those who have it can't hurt you.

The new president of Mexico, in the ceremonies and festivities of his inauguration, was cordial in all his remarks and displayed himself as a man of good will, devoted to the best of relations with the United States. He spoke of the "unswerving friendship between our two peoples" and pledged himself to coöperation along all lines. These were fair words and even as words they are much better than unpleasant ones.

Mexico could do itself a great service if the new president's observations were reflected in his policies and acts. Mexico didn't take the road to prosperity and improved conditions for its people when it expropriated properties of foreign investors and established rules of conduct which would discourage any one from giving it what it needs.

Mexico needs the investment of money to develop its resources, expand its industries, create employment, and put its people on pay rolls. Its government has found that its unruly oil workers, for instance, didn't improve conditions by provoking the seizure of oil properties, and the government itself had to use some diciplinary measures to restore common sense. Possibly that experience has modified some of the official views.

Real friendship with the United States, genuinely felt and acted upon, would give this country an untroubled neighbor and would bring that neighbor many advantages. American tourists quickly learn to like the Mexican scene and great profit follows that travel. Mexico, when friendly, easily wins the affections of its tourists, and the traveling American is an economic asset, as many countries now closed have learned.

THE ILLINOIS JAIL DELIVERY.

Getting the boys out of the cells by Christmas is the policy of the reshuffled parole board at Springfield. At present the estimate is that about three hundred convicts whose sentences run from five years to life will be released and there may be many more. Democratic politicians have the keys to the prisons.

A politician does not seek the release of a convict because he wants to rehabilitate his client. He isn't a social worker with illusions or ideals. He tries to beat the law either because he has been paid to do so or because he is in political cahoots with the criminal element. Without that explanation the interest politicians take in the persons sentenced in the criminal courts would be inexplicable. No one otherwise could understand why there was so much effort to open so many cells.

As soon as the late Gov. Horner's illness forced him out of the activities of his office the Democratic administration of Illinois became scandalous. The hundred days during which the outs take the place of the ins are not purifying the record. This is pay off time for the underprivileged Democrats who were on the wrong side of the fence and have now broken thru. There is authority without responsibility. The fellows who are at the controls will be out on the street next month. Whatever they can pry loose they will take with them.

It used to be a political axiom that if you backed a wagon up to the back door of a public office you shouldn't put side boards on. That might attract too much attention.

Editorial of the Day

WILL HORATIUS STAND?

[Tulsa Tribune.]

Adolf Hitler has at last reached the bridge, and now he is trying to bluff or bribe Horatius into letting him across. Horatius, of course, is the government of Turkey, and the bridge is the long, mountain-studded peninsula of Asia Minor—a peninsula upon which invading armies have met disaster for more than 30 centuries. Beyond this bridge lies, not the golden towers of ancient Rome, but the blackened derricks of the Iraq and Iranian oil fields and the white sands of Suez.

In the past week Hungary and Rumania have joined the axis. They have "joined" the dictators much as kidnaped pioneer babies "joined" the Indians. And now Adolf the Awful is supreme from the North Cape to the Bulgarian border, including an area greater than the maximum empire of the first Napoleon.

But Hitler has not gained what he needs. He has merely gained a highway that leads in that direction. The middle eastern oil fields and the Suez canal are his real goals. If he can reach them the vitality of the German state will grow stronger and that of the British Empire weaker. If he cannot reach them he must face what he most fears, a lengthy war of blockade and exhaustion.

England's brightest hope today is not the small but spectacular success of the Greeks against the Italians, for Italy has the mass man power to crush Greece eventually if given time. England's brightest hope is the apparent determination of Turkey to honor its British pact, and to guard the bridge to the east in spite of the most violent Nazi pressure.

It is this determination, more than the Greek successes, which has kept wavering Bulgaria out of the axis orbit. For the first time since the war began Adolf Hitler finds himself unable to expand in any direction without taking the grave risk of a distant offensive war.

As long as the Turkish Horatius stands, as long as the British fleet remains supreme in the Mediterranean, and as long as the north African expedition, which Mussolini sent out four months ago to conquer Egypt, continues to flounder and flop about in the sea of sand the prospect of eventual British victory in this war will not be lost.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office.

TONIGHT IS SANTA KLAUS' EVE.

To start the season of Christmas folklore off in proper fashion, we will announce that tomorrow, Dec. 6, is the feast day of a fine old gentleman named Santa Klaus. His other and more formal name is St. Nicholas.

He started his career as a bishop in Asia Minor about 300 A. D. and since he was such an early Christian his biography is largely legendary. He appears to have been persecuted and tortured in the reign of the Roman emperor, Diocletian, and to have been released from a long imprisonment by Emperor Constantine. His cult received its first important recognition when the church of Saints Priscus and Nicholas was built in Constantinople in the 6th century.

He became popular in western Europe in the 11th century, when many churches were dedicated to him. Russia adopted him as patron saint; he was regarded as the protector of children, scholars, merchants, and sailors; and ever since the middle ages travelers have prayed to him for protection against robbers. There are more than 400 churches of St. Nicholas in England; and whenever the Linemaster looks out of his front window in Evanston he can see, about half a mile away, the spire of another.

One of the stories that are told to explain the origin of the pawnbrokers' sign—three gold balls—relates to St. Nicholas. It is said that he once gave three bags of gold to the daughters of a poor man to serve them as dowries and prevent them from leading lives of shame. He is commonly depicted with three small boys standing in a tub; and thereby hangs a tale of his having brought three boys to life after they had been cut up and pickled to serve as bacon!

The exchanging of gifts on his feast day, particularly in Holland, placed him in the general frame of the Christmas season. This custom, originating with the Dutch Santa Klaus [a contraction of his name] was transferred to the greater religious holiday.

He may live at the north pole now, but when he was a live bishop of a diocese about 200 miles southeast of the present Asiatic city of Smyrna, he probably suffered now and then from the heat.

MAY IT BE LIKE THIS.

Laid upon ours in the dark,
Or like white birches gleaming thru dark leaves;
Let it be like a child's smile
Lighting pale eyes once dulled by illness,
Or like the first flower of spring which Leaves us breathless with wonder.
Let it be like soft notes of music after blatant thunder,
Or a stone bridge over a restless stream.
Let it pierce thru the fog of doubt
Like the crystal peak of a mountain
To find us searching, searching
Till we see the Star!

Have You Seen the Daniel Boone Caps?

He was waiting on an Illinois Central platform, munching nickel candy, the observed of all observers. Commuters crowded around him and stared in admiration, for he wore a cap that was a cap—fur, with an animal's tail on it one foot long.

I asked him from what strange place he had come, and where he got that cap. He said "Here" to both questions. He added that he was swelling with pride because of the admiration he attracted.

Then I asked how much his cap had cost, and he tried to dodge the question. Finally he broke down and confessed:

Modern History on Ancient Sites.

True, Philippi and Pharsalus are not close to the present theater of war [Nov. 26], but Durazzo, the chief Albanian port, was Dyrrachium, Pompey's headquarters during his war with Cæsar. In fact the great dictator was unable to defeat his rival here and was compelled to withdraw. Pompey caught up with him at fateful Pharsalus.

As for Mussolini seeing Cæsar's ghost, he has had plenty of opportunity in Italy. A picture taken some years ago shows Musso making a speech from the very spot where Cæsar's body was burned and where a temple was afterward erected.

Classmate.

Apparently He Likes the Line Book.

There are some things before which the spirit of mortals is dumb; the Mona Lisa; the Taj Mahal, moondim in loveliness; and a child's eyes on Christmas morn; and to their number must be added the new Line Book. The only thing I can do is to take off my shoes and, bowing to the ground, exclaim, "Great is Mohammed and the beard of the prophet, but greater is the Line Book of 1940!" Quizzicuss.

THE DREAM OF EVERY WIFE.

Give me the man that is not passion's slave
(As Hamlet told Horatio)—one not sore
At being soft-requested to refrain
From muddy-rubbered traipse on kitchen floor;

One who can understand and, too, accept,
(How I should dote to meet with such a man—O,
Most rare of Adam's kin!)—that highball glasses
Are not to be set down on the piano.

Finalement, one who kills the old cliché,
At which I've always waxed full murdery-wroth;
And not smirk, as the ashes hit the rug . . .
Said ashes never slew a single moth!

John L'E. Reynolds.

Contributors who write imaginative accounts of their observations at the Brookfield zoo should be careful not to mention hyenas, for Robert Bean, the zooherd, says:

"There's nary a hyena at Brookfield, strand, striped, or spotted."

Such familiarity! Why, even Orson Welles calls him William. Uncle Louie.

I see why it's called the Line Book. I had to stand in line in the magazine store to get my copy.

COMFORT FOR THE EXPECTANT MOTHER.

WITH the onset of pregnancy every prospective mother has the right to look forward to her experience with confidence. She may be surrounded with so many safeguards that unforeseen accidents will be avoided. Nevertheless, there are a number of symptoms—generally minor in character—that may be encountered. Most of these can be allayed or relieved completely.

Nausea and vomiting are routine complaints in about half of our patients. Even if nothing is done these manifestations will vanish, as a rule, by the end of the first three months. Early morning seems to be the favorite period of the day; and some will feel squeamish without the necessity of rejecting the contents of the stomach. Naturally, if fear, worry, or loss of sleep is present, there is a greater tendency to the disorder. Sometimes suggestion plays a part.

By and large, however, the best management is dietary. Small feedings—from one to three hours apart—are recommended. Fluids are avoided at mealtimes altho they may be taken generously in between. A balanced régime is always desirable but the quantity of sugars and starches should be limited.

Heartburn may come on because of pressure, which prevents the gastric pouch from emptying normally. In consequence, too much acid may accumulate and here again tiny meals will be beneficial. A bicarbonate tablet will do no harm.

Bowel regularity is essential. Drinking two to three cups of weak tea or lightly salted hot water will initiate just enough reflex action to stimulate the colon. The amount of roughage can be increased by eating fruits and vegetables. If more bulk is required, seaweed [agar-agar] may be added to cooked breakfast foods. It is well to have compound licorice powder on hand as this operates smoothly without cramplike intestinal contractions.

The breasts will need particular care because sensations of fullness or "drawing" may appear. A snugly fitting brassiere is often helpful. While there is probably no ointment or other substance that will prevent the formation of slight linear scars on the abdominal wall, massage may be employed and—if practiced gently—may be of advantage. Cocoa butter is an excellent lubricant.

Frequent urination may be bothersome. This, of course, is occasioned by the growing uterus. If pain or burning appear, the physician should be consulted promptly as a slight inflammatory process—easily corrected—may be at fault. If there is a tendency to hemorrhoids [piles], they are usually exaggerated at such a time, particularly if constipation has been a problem. If improvement does not follow more normal bowel habits, a medicated suppository to reduce inflammation and pain may be prescribed.

There is so much information available about important signs that should be called to the doctor's attention that but brief reference need be made here to swelling of the feet or any area of the body, a rapid gain in weight, headache, disturbances of vision, etc. These are really alarms of fire and the physician must be told at once. While we must be on the alert for such symptoms, they occur in only a small percentage of cases.

The greatest comfort is offered by a well fitting girdle. This aids in maintaining the balance of the body on the hips. It should function not as a compression bandage but as a sling or a hammock for the abdominal wall.

TOO MUCH SNOOPING NOW.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—The Illinois State Bar association, thru its committee, appears to recommend a state investigating body patterned after the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This comes from lawyers who understand the danger of self-constituted investigating bodies and the result of continuously prowling into other people's affairs.

We now have so many "investigating bodies" that even neighbors are somewhat suspicious of one another already, assuming that everybody is now investigating everybody else, reporting to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, or the one sided national nuisance known as the Dies committee, and what not.

In olden days when there were no FBI and no investigations causing perpetual suspicions we seemed to have got along pretty well. Every one was at peace with his neighbor, neighborly gatherings were promoted, better understanding created, and good fellowship reigned. Now life has become almost a case of dodging this and dodging that, looking with suspicion on a stranger who comes along, and with no peace anywhere. If people are left alone and develop a love of humanity that is inherent in the souls of all human beings there would be no divisions in society, no upper crust which thinks it rules everybody else. So real democracy reigns!

We need less investigation and more spreading of good fellowship and the lawyers, of all persons, ought to know that better than any class. A. F. W. SIEBEL.

RADIO PRONUNCIATIONS.

Coldwater, Mich., Dec. 2.—If any one can furnish me with the name of a broadcast station that has an announcer able to pronounce "wh" I should be pleased to have it, in order that I may tune in without having my ears assailed with "Wite House," "Wite Sox," "wy" for why, "wot" for what, and so on. The whole nation listens to the radio and there would be no better way for our children to learn proper pronunciation than by this medium. But from Kaltenborn to Bob Elson that is the way "wh" is pronounced.

And, by the way, did you ever hear any announcer or commentator on any station pronounce aerial correctly? Neither did I. And how they do love to say perduction and perduce and mayzhures for measures. GEO. C. TURNER.

NOTE TO ALDERMEN.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—We as residents of Cook county would like to express our wishes to our aldermen concerning the situation of our alleys.

There are two main reasons why every one should be interested in clearing up our alleys. They are [1] sanitation for prevention of disease whereby death rates may be decreased; [2] beautifying our city by planting different kinds of plants that may act as a fence.

Now our first suggestion would be that all garbage can be emptied every week and restrictions be placed against papers that have been and are being thrown in our alleys. HELEN SMITH.

SOUTH STILL COLONIAL?

Houston, Tex., Dec. 1.—Kind of amusing for a Yankee, who has lived a third of a century in the south, to read your Arthur Sears Henning's articles telling why southern states stay politically "solid." Even more amusing to read E. O. L.'s letter in the Voice of the People a few days ago wondering why, southerners being the fine folks he has found them to be, they keep on voting the straight Democratic ticket, even when it means voting for a third term and for repudiation of our most cherished American traditions.

Truth is, the south has never accepted the results of the civil war—the war between the states—because the south has never accepted the results of the revolutionary war. The south, still 90 to 95 per cent Anglo-Saxon, is still British colonial. We can't hold even so small a community affair as a county fair without selecting a duke and duchess and a suitable number of ladies in waiting to attend them to lend proper color and dignity to the occasion.

This explains why volunteering, for the foreign war Mr. Roosevelt is taking us into next April, is so much more active in the southern states than in other states. Southerners are volunteering to fight for their real motherland, the British empire, not for the United States of America.

My private and personal laugh is over the fact that Mr. Roosevelt's administration is flooding the south with European aliens of the tribe least admired in the south. If anything can ever persuade the south to move into the United States and into the 20th century it may be this oriental invasion.

Also, Mr. Roosevelt's administration—or Mr. Wallace's—destroying the south's cotton industry, has driven a million and a half Negro farm families off the land onto relief in the cities and towns. This may help to break the spell.

FRANK PUTNAM.

SUPERPERFECTION.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—In our efforts to attain perfection—we are overstepping the mark—nothing looks like itself. The flowers, for instance—they are fast getting out of their class from overcultivation. Dahlias are beginning to look like sunflowers and mums grow more and more like a floor mop.

And take those animals in the stock show—those wonderful looking steers in this morning's paper—in that picture they look like hippopotamuses.

Those sheep, in their perfection, look like anything but sheep—they look more like a feather pillow and their eyes are so dreamy you can't tell whether they are eyes or not. And yet I know they will win a blue ribbon as sheep, and those steers will perhaps win first prize as the "perfect gentlemen cows."

ANNE JESTY ROGERS.

COLORED CHILDREN BARRED.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—I think the little girl was kind and the little Italian boy was fortunate to have been warned beforehand that he was not wanted at the party.

He was much more fortunate than the Negro boys and girls who buy new clothes, purchase tickets, and pay cab fare to attend a public school dance, then when they arrive at the dance are told that they may not enter.

MRS. C. R. LEWIS.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—It is deplorable to sit and watch the growth of prejudice and listen to people cry when some one let's them know they are not wanted because of their racial differences.

For over 300 years the world has been letting us know we are not wanted. Tell Miss Navagato not to feel so badly, because if the little girl had known my son he would not have been invited—my son is a Negro. LORIS MELIKOFF RAYNER.

WOULD NAME IT INGERSOLL.

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Why not name Camp Peay after Col. Robert Ingersoll—one of Illinois' grandest sons? He was captured by Gen. Forrest in Tennessee, and with his wonderful oratory soon started converting confederate soldiers to antislavery ideas—right there in Tennessee. And Gen. Forrest became so peeved he stopped it, personally. And altho he admired the wit and logic of Col. Ingersoll he realized that such a dangerous element in his camp was so hostile to the confederacy that he broadly stated—"Ingersoll, I'd gladly trade you back to the north for a government mule."

Besides being a Union officer, Ingersoll was from Peoria [where a life size monument is erected to him], and well might Illinois be proud of her Ingersoll.

CLEANERS SHARE IN GOOD FELLOW CAMPAIGN AGAIN

Give Check for Purchase of Yule Baskets.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

"Once a Good Fellow, Always a Good Fellow." That slogan could be taken to represent the attitude of the Cleaning and Dyeing Plant Owners' Association of Chicago, Inc., toward the Good Fellow drive to supply baskets of food, toys, and candy to unfortunate families on Christmas eve.

Yesterday three of the association's leaders again visited the Good Fellow bureau at 1 South Dearborn street and presented a check for $200. This money will be spent for Christmas baskets to be delivered by association members.

President Lauds Drive.

The leaders who visited the Good Fellow headquarters were Hymie Ditkowsky, president; William L. Skahen, treasurer, and Carl Stockholm, chairman of the association's Good Fellow activities. The check was received by Miss Dorothy Kartheiser of the bureau.

"Every business concern and association in Chicago should conduct a Christmas Good Fellow campaign," said Ditkowsky. "That is one sure way of getting a Christmas basket to a truly needy family. All our officers and employés who took the baskets last season reported that if they had not taken them many families would have gone without Christmas cheer."

Kiwanians Assist Work.

Gilbert Stembel, president of the Grand-Harlem Kiwanis club, has announced that members of his group will be Good Fellows to 10 families this Christmas. Clarence Biewald, 2609 North Neva avenue, has been appointed Good Fellow chairman for the club.

The South Shore Chamber of Commerce will hold an election party at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the Caravel club, 7515 Yates avenue. The proceeds will be used to purchase Good Fellow baskets. Edward S. Schlosberg is secretary and J. Leslie Rosenblum is president of the organization. An entertainment program, including a technicolor motion picture, will be presented at the party. Tickets are $1 each. The chamber headquarters is at 2412 East 75th street, and the telephone number is Saginaw 5600.

PRESIDENT SAILS ALONG COAST OF CUBA ON CRUISE

ABOARD U. S. S. MAYRANT AT SEA, Dec. 4 [(AP) by radio].—President Roosevelt cruised along the Cuban coast today on the first stage of a trip into the Caribbean sea, where he is expected to inspect some of the naval and air bases recently acquired by the United States from Great Britain.

The sea was smooth, the weather was sunny and the temperature was in the 80's. The only ships sighted were several American freighters, one Honduran, and one British.

Two United States neutrality patrol seaplanes from the Guantanamo naval base dipped over the cruiser Tuscaloosa—on which the President was enjoying the sunshine and salt air after a good sleep. The Tuscaloosa, escorted by the destroyers Mayrant and Trippe, averaged about 30 knots during the night.

The President's destination remained a secret. When he left Miami, Fla., yesterday, he announced he would sail into the Caribbean and that there would not be much fishing.

U. S. TO PAROLE BUCKNER, BOND CASE PRISONER

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 (AP).—William P. Buckner, 33, once familiar figure along New York's Broadway who was sentenced to two years for mail fraud in selling Philippine bonds, is scheduled to be paroled from the federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., Dec. 20.

This was reported authoritatively today, and at the same time it was disclosed that Felipe Buencamino, convicted with Buckner in a case involving manipulation of Philippine railway bonds, was released Nov. 17 so he might catch a boat that would get him home to the Philippines for Christmas.

Buckner's release, it was said, will be conditioned upon satisfaction of a $2,500 fine which had not been paid when he began serving his sentence. Buckner's return home will bring him his first glimpse of a 2 month old son. His wife is the former Adelaide Moffett, the society singer. The fact that they had been married was not disclosed until a few days after the playboy promoter went to prison.

SKIDMORE TRIAL AS TAX EVADER SET FOR FEB. 20

William R. Skidmore, reputed political fixer for the gambling syndicate, will go on trial Feb. 20 on charges of income tax evasion. This date was fixed yesterday by Judge Philip L. Sullivan in the federal District court.

In setting the date, Judge Sullivan consolidated two separate indictments charging Skidmore with total evasion of taxes of $500,000 from 1933 to 1938. Skidmore appeared in court with his attorney, W. W. Smith, and listened carefully as Smith argued with Earle Hurley, assistant United States attorney, over the trial date.

Skidmore, according to reports, had hoped to avoid criminal prosecution thru a civil settlement of his case in Washington. He was indicted with William R. Johnson, reputed gambling boss, but was granted a separate trial. Johnson and five henchmen were convicted of tax evasion, but are now out on bond pending an appeal.

PURSE SNATCHER GETS 30 DAYS.

Glenn Nickles, 19 years old, 2205 North 72d court, Elmwood Park, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Judge Joseph Drucker yesterday on a charge of attempting to snatch a purse. He faces another year in jail for violating probation granted him two months ago on an auto theft charge.

Research Finds Walnut in Use in 18th Century

Few of the many home makers of today who are rejoicing over the fact that at last they can find selections of smart, authentically styled 18th century furniture made of genuine American walnut in the better stores, realize that they owe modern research a vote of thanks for this welcome revival.

For years popular opinion, including that of manufacturers who should have known better, labored under the delusion that the 18th century was a one-wood period. As a result of this misconception, reproductions and adaptations of designs of that era were monotonously presented again and again even to the same old wood and finish, so became stereotyped and uninteresting.

Now, all this has been changed. Now that it has been substantiated beyond the shadow of doubt that many leading 18th century English designers and craftsmen in the period 1700 to 1760 used walnut for many of their choicest creations, as did craftsmen of other countries as well, contemporary manufacturers of fine quality furniture have been quick to follow suit.

Consequently, discriminating home makers today can gratify their preference for "the cabinetwood of the ages" from a wide selectivity of refreshing new versions of American, English, French, and other 18th century furniture styles, beautifully and authentically developed in walnut. Like the craftsmen of those earlier eras, today's cabinetmakers now rely on this popular wood for many of their finest and most decorative creations.

Warns Against Slanting Furniture Arrangement

A pleasing furniture arrangement results in a pleasing room. One rule that seldom should be broken concerns placing pieces slant-wise across corners. Never put a desk "catty-corner" in a room. Avoid slanting large pieces such as sofas, book-cases and reading tables across corners, for this destroys the lines of the room. Furniture should be placed parallel with the walls. This holds true also of rugs.

* On the House *

It won't be long before our fur pieces will be showing signs of dust, and in need of slight cleaning. Hot bran can be used. . . . Rub fur wall with bran which is hot—but not so hot it will scorch—and then after a few hours brush out bran, and your fur will come clean.

LOUISE BARGELT.

Texture Plays Role That's Important in Room's Decoration

Texture plays an important part in a room's decoration. By texture is meant the roughness or smoothness of any fabric or surface.

Often when there is a definite design in the wall paper or in the floor covering, and it is, therefore, unwise to have another bold design in the window draperies, one can still avoid monotony by choosing a material that is textured.

There are lovely, nubby wools and cottons in the stores. There are the interesting new mohairs, with diagonal or straight ribbing and with a chevron effect, and there are the handsome materials that imitate hand loomed fabrics. Any of these will give the texture that most decorative schemes require.

A Rug That's Always in Style—the Wilton

A rug that never goes out of style is the Wilton. It is made of worsted or woolen yarn, dyed in the skein. Worsted yarns differ from woolen yarns in that the long fibers of wool are used. A Wilton pile is straight, upstanding and springy. It is produced by looping the yarn over a series of long wires and fastening at each side with strands that are woven parallel to the wires. Each wire has a razor edged knife at its far end which cuts thru the top of the loops as the wire is withdrawn. This, of course, leaves the cut ends standing straight and they create the pile of the rug.

Type of Floor Lamp with Swinging Arm Is Most Practical

When you go shopping for that new floor lamp you'll find the models that swing are the most practical. Instead of a single straight standard or stem from base to lamp there is a hinged section, like an arm, which may be pulled out so that the light will shine over your book as you sit in your favorite chair or on the couch.

When you are playing cards you'll find this arrangement convenient, too, as you can swing the arm out close to the table. Lamps with this swinging arm have weighted bases so there's no need to worry about their falling over. And most of them have three way controled lighting.

Gay Wallpapers Are New Note in Bathrooms

Gay and youthful unitized washable wallpapers are replacing uninteresting plain colors in modern bathrooms. Lovely scenic papers, new streamlined stripes, shell clusters, and other marine motifs characterize the new bathroom papers now featured by dealers. Under the unitized wallpaper guarantee, papers marked washable may be cleaned time and again without fear of damage to their patterns and colors.

Good Moos
BY ELSIE, THE BORDEN COW
A column of helpful and healthful hints on the preparation and enjoyment of good food

Don't get me wrong, girls. I'm not wearing this brass earring just to make a hit with Elmer. Or any other bull-friend, either.

No indeed! Every cow that works for Borden-Wieland must wear one of these...these...ear license-plates. It shows that she's passed her physical exam 100%. Otherwise (heaven forbid!) Borden-Wieland wouldn't accept even my milk.

And that's just a sample of what we mean when we say Borden-Wieland's milk is "Quality Controlled . . . Always!"

The big news in milk today... is Homogenization. That long word stands for the great new process that gives my milk a wonderfully delicious and creamier flavor. And at the same time makes it easier to digest than ordinary milk, even. Imagine! Won't separate in cooking, either. Hail your Borden-Wieland milkman (or call BITtersweet 8600) and order BORDEN-WIELAND'S HOMOGENIZED VITAMIN D MILK... only 1¢ more than regular milk!

"SAVE 6 COUPONS – GET FREE QUART OF ICE CREAM"

Could you use a FREE QUART OF BORDEN'S ICE CREAM? It's waiting for you at all stores that serve my temptingly pure and wholesome brand! Here's what you do. Just save the coupon that's printed on the end of every quart package. When you've collected 6, turn them in to your Borden's Ice Cream dealer, and get a full quart free! That's all there is to it. (Except that you may have some trouble deciding which of the eight delicious flavors to pick.)

Recipe for a glorious Mocha Pecan Frosting. This "Magic" (it's so easy to make) Recipe calls for one large, or two of the new half-size, half-price cans of Borden's EAGLE BRAND Sweetened Condensed Milk. (Other "Magic Recipes" on the folder that comes with every can.)

MOCHA PECAN FROSTING

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1⅓ cups (15 oz. can) Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
1 tablespoon strong black coffee
Pecan nut meats

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk. Stir over rapidly boiling water 5 minutes or until mixture thickens. Add coffee. Cool. Spread on cold cake. Garnish top with halves of pecan nut meats. This frosting covers tops of 2 (9-inch) layers, or top and sides of loaf cake generously, or about 24 cup cakes.

CAKE COVER AND TRAY... FREE with 100 coupons from Borden's Evaporated Milk! That Mocha Pecan Cake will keep fresh longer in this handsome Cake Cover and Tray. Just save the coupons from the label on every can of Borden's Evaporated Milk (Silver Cow Brand) for your choice of over 1,000 free gifts like this. No other evaporated milk in Chicago offers you free premiums. And there's no finer milk the world over than Borden's. It contains extra Vitamin D, too, you know. Write The Borden Company, 315 N. Clark St., today for an illustrated premium catalog, free!

TODAY'S CHARM TIP
from Elsie, Your Hollywood Reporter

Are you a gracious hostess? When unexpected guests drop in, do you feel like saying, "Here's-your-hat-what's-your-hurry?" Because it takes so much time and trouble to whip them up a snack in the kitchen?

Just keep a jar each of Borden's Seven Cocktail Spreads handy on your pantry shelf, and be always prepared for such emergencies. There's Vera-Sharp... Pimento... Relish... Roquefort... Pineapple... Limburger... and Olive-Pimento. In a jiffy, you can serve seven delicious and different kinds of sandwiches or canapes. (Or healthful after-school snacks, too.) And when you're through, you have a valuable set of lovely, Swedish-styled glassware for your table. Can't beat that!

How to be beautiful, though happy. Having covered the subject of Charm (moo moo!), I shall now take up the business of Beauty. Nothing daunts me today. While I was in Hollywood, I noticed that the other movie stars (ahem!) kept their figures by eating the "Hollywood Lunch." That's a Borden's Malted Milk and a sandwich. Energizing and nutritious, you see, but not fattening.

You can have a Hollywood Lunch at any fountain that serves Borden's Malted Milk. Or at home. Because your grocer has BORDEN'S CHOCOLATE-FLAVORED MALTED MILK—the kind the Quints drink. Makes a wholesome and yummy beverage for youngsters, too.

NONE SUCH SECRET

But here's a secret I won't tell... the recipe for Borden's NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT. The Borden folks guard that 50-year-old recipe like jewels in a safe. I can tell you this much though: It consists of no less than 18 different ingredients, ingredients that come from all corners of the earth. To make the most famous, delicious Mince Meat known—Borden's None Such.

Because None Such makes spicier, juicier, fragrant-er Mince Pies, it costs a little bit more than other kinds. But you want the best for the Mince Pies you proudly bake—not just a so-so imitation. So get a package of None Such today.

Goodby now...

'Martha' to Be Sung in English Next Saturday

Next Saturday afternoon's performance of "Martha" at the Civic Opera house will add one more opera in English to the repertory of the Chicago Opera company. Encouraged by the public response to the English version of Verdi's "Falstaff" presented last night and earlier in the season, the management is confident that the new and intelligible "Martha" will meet with equal approval.

Helen Jepson, celebrated American prima donna, and Suzanne Sten, the opera company's new mezzo-soprano from Vienna, will sing the leading feminine rôles.

James Melton, American lyric tenor, Douglas Beattie, the young bass from California, and Lorenzo Alvary, recently arrived from central Europe, are the other chief members of the cast. Kurt Herbert Adler, who shares with Leo Kopp the honor of having trained the opera company's superb new chorus, will conduct the performance. William Wymetal is the stage director.

The new English "Martha" is more than a mere translation of the original libretto. It is called an "adaptation for the American stage." The authors are Vicki Baum, noted novelist, and Ann Ronell, lyric writer of "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf." The authors have sought to make the language easy and idiomatic at all times, and since "Martha" is a comedy, they have not disdained to make occasional use of slang and colloquial speech.

The Vicki Baum-Ann Ronell adaptation was first given in the Hollywood bowl in September, 1938, with Mr. Beattie in the cast. Following the precedent of this performance the settings o fthe first scene and of the second act have been changed from indoor to outdoor locales. The second act setting is especially interesting, for by a clever device of construction the interior of the first floor and the exterior of the second floor of the farmhouse are seen at the same time.

While this is not the first time "Martha" has been given in English in Chicago, it is the first use of a truly modern libretto, and it is the first occasion on which the spectacular scenic effects of the Civic Opera house have been available for an English performance of the opera. Wherefore members of the audience on Saturday afternoon will probably find themselves at the most completely enjoyable "Martha" performance they have ever seen.

The old familiar dresser sets appear in many new and smart versions this year. Mirrors, brushes and combs have been streamlined, some with wooden backs and handles, some with jewel toned enamels or such new materials as lucite or plasticite.

Brush and comb sets are tempting Christmas items and this year they're handsomer than ever. What's more, the good manufacturers—and in this case, as in most, the name of a good manufacturer is a safeguard—have paid as much attention to the quality of their brush bristles as they have to the beauty of the backs.

There are lots and lots of brushes with synthetic bristles this season, and these bristles are excellent hair polishers. Genuine bristles aren't scarce by any means; what you choose will depend on your preferences.

A good hair brush is a good gift idea for the young girl who needs so much to develop the old fashioned habit of giving her locks a hundred strokes a day. Some of the sets on the market, wooden backed but not the drab affairs of old, are especially designed for the young girl's tastes.

Then there are the lucite sets, or those made of a crystalite plastic. These latter look like jewel settings for such usually ordinary things as mirror, brush, and comb. The colors are ruby, sapphire, crystal, or emerald. The mirror is square shaped with beveled plate glass on both sides. The slim fluted back brush has synthetic bristles.

When we first heard of the hand painted porcelain backed dresser sets we were a little leary, but they're uniquely lovely. They'll be heirloom pieces, probably.

The cloisonne and jewel tone enamels seem lovelier this year than ever before. The designs are conventional or ultramodern, as you wish.

Business Men Pick Tuesday as Opera Night

The Chicago Association of Commerce announced to its 5,800 members last night that Tuesday would be their night at the opera. There will be a twin program: "Salome," Richard Strauss' short, sensational opera, with Marjorie Lawrence, Australian soprano, in the title rôle, and the ballet, "Les Sylphides," performed by the Ballet Theater, with Nina Stroganova, Karen Conrad and Demitri Romanoff as the featured dancers.

In Strauss' opera, Salome is the voluptuary of Oscar Wilde's concept—a fatal woman whose dancing drives men to madness. She is passionately attracted to the ascetic Iokonaan [John the Baptist], whose contempt, an affront to her vanity, inflames her to the fury of vengeance that leads to his beheading and finally to her own horrible death under the trampling feet of Herodian's soldiers.

Today's shockproof audiences still find tantalizing the sensuous quality of the "Salome" music, particularly the "Dance of the Seven Veils," which brought blushes to the cheeks of an earlier generation. Miss Lawrence is a dancer as well as a singer. Salome is her favorite rôle.

In contrast to "Salome," the dream-fragile "Les Sylphides" ballet is without a story. Airy figures in a moonlight glade, the dancers give evanescent pattern to the haunting mood of Chopin melodies. The ballet is revived here under the personal direction of Michel Fokine, who created it.

Concert Given as a Greeting to Paderewski

BY CECIL SMITH.

A "Paderewski welcome concert," in recognition of Ignace Jan Paderewski's arrival in this country to take up permanent residence, was presented in Orchestra hall last night. The proceeds went to the Paderewski fund for Polish relief. The concert was given by Maria Kurenko, soprano, with Serge Tarnowsky as accompanist; Rudolph Ganz, pianist, and the Philharmonic String quartet.

According to the original plan, the great Polish pianist and statesman was to have attended the concert. Illness, however, confined him to his home in New York, and his greeting was conveyed to the audience in a message read during the intermission by Dr. Karol Ripa, consul general of Poland.

The program was distinguished by the entire absence of Polish music, except for a song, two scheduled piano pieces, and a piano encore by Chopin. The Philharmonic String quartet played Mozart's B-flat quartet and, with the assistance of Dr. Ganz, the Franck quintet. Mme. Kurenko sang arias by Lotti and Massenet and songs by Ravel, Debussy, Chopin, Tschaikowsky, and Neviadomsky. In addition to a Chopin nocturne and a waltz Dr. Ganz played four Debussy preludes and wound up with Liszt's "Liebestraum" as a final encore.

In the nature of things such an accidental and curiously assorted potpourri of musical items hardly calls for considered comment. Mme. Kurenko sang, as always, with supreme distinction and profited from Mr. Tarnowsky's expert accompaniments. Dr. Ganz played with elegance and tonal charm. The members of the quartet played their Mozart methodically, like competent orchestra players faithfully fulfilling a routine assignment.

Chicago Junior League to Hear Talk on Ballet

BY JUDITH CASS.

MRS. CARLETON PALMER of New York, who came to Chicago when the Ballet theater did, is going to talk about the ballet to members of the Chicago Junior league and their guests tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in the Gold Coast room of the Drake. It was Mrs. Palmer who assembled the exhibition of ballet art that is on display in the foyer of the Civic Opera house. She is a former national president of the Associated Junior Leagues of America.

"Billy the Kid," which is to be given its Chicago première Sunday afternoon, is to be the especial ballet discussed by Mrs. Palmer. Mrs. Theron Chapman, chairman of the arts committee of the league, is being assisted in arrangements for the lecture by Mrs. John I. Shaw, Mrs. Amsden Gooch, Mrs. William D. Cox, Mrs. Daniel Leonard, Mrs. George M. Silverthorne Jr., and Mrs. George H. Willis.

Stars of Ballet to Be Guests at Lecture and Reception.

League members and guests will be admitted free to the lecture, after which Mrs. Chapman and her committee will entertain in the league's headquarters in the Drake for the speaker and her great friend, Mrs. John Lewis Cochran. All of the stars of the Ballet theater have been invited to the lecture and the reception that will follow. Among them are Nana Gollner, Karen Conrad, Lucia Chase, Antony Tudor, Leon Danielian, Eugene Loring, Katherine Sergova, Nina Stroganova, Edward Caton, Hugh Laing, Anton Dolin, Annabelle Lyon, and Dimitri Romanoff.

Mrs. John Davis Lodge [Francesca Braggiotti], who is spending this week in Chicago, has been invited to the lecture, also. Her husband has the leading masculine rôle in the new musical show, "Night of Love," which is at the Harris theater. The Lodges are staying at the Ambassador West.

At the same hour that Mrs. Palmer is talking about ballet, Giovanni Cardelli will be discussing "Opera—Yesterday and Today" at the Arts club as the last talk in the fall lecture series arranged by the Illinois Opera guild. Miss Helen Jepson and Virgilio Lazzari will be the guests of the guild at luncheon following Mr. Cardelli's lecture.

Antiquarians at Home at Art Institute Today.

The Art institute will be the scene of a delightful tea party today when the Antiquarians are at home in galleries A-7 and 9 to honor one of their number, Mrs. James Ward Thorne, and to open her new exhibition of American rooms in miniature. Mrs. Thorne and the president, Mrs. Phillip Miller, will receive, and pouring will be all the directors except Mrs. John C. Pitcher and Mrs. J. Ogden Armour. The latter is out of town and the former is in mourning.

Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer have planned the decorations of the tea table. Mrs. Arthur Meeker is lending some beautiful silver candlesticks and Mrs. Armour is giving the yellow roses that will be used as a centerpiece in one of the institute's old crystal bowls. Mrs. Miller is donating the music by members of the Little Symphony orchestra in memory of her mother, the late Mrs. Frank O. Lowden.

The 36 miniature rooms are on display in gallery A-12. They will be open to the public from tomorrow morning thru June 8.

Mrs. Walter Brewster Giving Two Lectures Next Week.

Two interesting events of next week at the Art institute will be lectures on "Hawaiian Flowers and Gardens" to be given by Mrs. Walter S. Brewster at 8 o'clock on Friday night, Dec. 13, and at 3:45 o'clock on Sunday, Dec. 15. The evening lecture is for members and the other one is open to the public with tickets at 25 cents. Mrs. Brewster is a noted authority on gardens and flower decorations. She visited Hawaii a year or two ago, so gained at first hand her knowl-

Mrs. Maurice T. Moore, who is a guest of the Chicago Y. W. C. A. this week and who, with Mme. David Van Buuren, vice president of the Belgian Y. W. C. A. and now a refugee, is speaking at Ida Noyes hall this afternoon, is young and attractive. A charming picture of Mrs. Moore, who is a sister of Henry Luce, recently was printed in a New York newspaper with a feature article about the World's Y. W. C. A. A few days after it appeared a national board member, going in for an appointment with her hairdresser, noticed a clipping of the story on the wall of the booth.

"O," she said, "so you're interested in the fine work of the Y. W. C. A.?"

"Well, not particularly," said the hairdresser. "One of our customers came in the other day with that clipping in her hand and asked me to do her hair exactly like that lady's. It's a very good style, so I just pasted the picture up there. I've done a lot of heads that way since."

A downtown department store was having a big pre-Christmas tie sale last week. Among those marked for final clearance at two for 55 cents was a group of ties adorned with the picture of Wendell Willkie. . . . Eight feminine cow attendants, in Chicago for the stock show, ate big dishes of ice cream at breakfast at 8:20 o'clock the other morning at the Y. M. C. A. hotel on South Wabash avenue. . . . Line from Night of Love at the Harris: "It's very gay in the dining room now, madame. There are three kings and an American strip tease artist there." . . . Four and one-half pounds of golden caviar, which is a freak variety and retails for $100 a pound, recently arrived at a New York importer's. A Texas oil man paid $200 for two pounds of it, and some of it was sent to Ernest Byfield in Chicago. Some of the partakers of it: Ruth Chatterton, Mabelle Webb, Opera Conductor Montemezzi. As announced in the new University of Chicago time schedules for the winter quarter, the course in economics 330, "Money," is taught by Dr. Mints.

Doubling in Romance.

The aim of this column is to be diverting, faintly informative and, in moments of rare luck, amusing. Readers sometimes have other ideas as to its use. Today, for instance, we meekly submit to the column's use as an instrument of romance by printing the following open letter, sent especially for the Miss Betty Lyon whose verse was printed in this space the other day:

Dear Cub: I saw your poem in the paper and it aroused memories that have lain quietly for many years in the cobwebs of a weary and sluggish mind. . . . Do you remember the nights that we tramped across snow laden fields in the light of the moon . . . long, earnest talks over coffee cups with saucers filled with cigaret stubs . . . how I encouraged your talent for poetry and you said to me, 'You CAN write' . . . strolling arm in arm under the stars and seeing the chapel spire limned dimly in the distance? . . . I remember, Cub. . . . How in hell can I forget? . . .

—Bob.

Infinite Riches.

She was turned out in her white gloved opera best, flowers on her shoulder, an ornament in her hair. At the end of the duet of parting in the second scene of the first act of Lucia she leaned over to whisper ecstatically to her companion:

"Lily Pons," then shutting her eyes in rapture, "and James Melton, too."

Thomas and Giannini Heard for Third Time in Verdi's 'Falstaff'

Before an informal, business men's night audience, the Chicago Opera company last evening presented Verdi's "Falstaff" in English at the Civic Opera house. This was the third and last performance for the season of one of 1940's outstanding successes. As before, John Charles Thomas had the title rôle and Dusolina Giannini the part of Mistress Ford. Others in the cast were Virginia Haskins, Lydia Summers, Sonia Sharnova, Jose Mojica, Robert Topping, Mack Harrell, Giuseppe Cavadore, and Douglas Beattie. The Ballet Theater assisted. Henry Weber conducted and William Wymetal was in charge of the staging.

History of the American Home Told in Miniature Interiors

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

There is nothing in the United States like the magnificent series of 36 all-American interiors in miniature which are being exhibited today for the first time at the Art institute. They are the newest in the collection of Mrs. James Ward Thorne and thru them she tells the story of American interior decoration and design from the 17th century to the present day.

The Antiquarian Society of the Art institute will open the exhibit at a reception this afternoon. Beginning tomorrow it will be open to the public.

Each room is a gem, perfect in spirit and execution, and the whole series is of especial significance at this time in our history when, more than ever, we value the beauty and integrity of the American scene. Our own drama of the rise of democracy was played against the background of homes such as these. There is the west parlor at Mount Vernon where the Washington family gathered; there is the drawing room in the historic Jeremiah Lee mansion in Marblehead, sea coast town of the late 1760s; there is the chaste, New England beauty of the entrance hall of the Pierce mansion of Portsmouth, N. H., built in 1799, and there is the dignified urban charm of the Harrison Gray Otis house, whose Boston drawing room is perfectly reproduced here.

Beginning the series with typical rooms in the North Atlantic region, from the simplest to the most elaborate, Mrs. Thorne goes on to the interiors in the country to the south. There is a dining room in historic Kenmore in Fredericksburg, Va., noted for its exquisite work in white plaster above the fireplace and for the beautiful fireplace itself. In Chinese Chippendale style, with walls hung in Chinese paper showing delicate flower and bird motif is the dining room at Gunston Hall, not far from Mount Vernon.

Moving farther south, the series includes a colorful entrance hall at the Hermitage, near Nashville, Tenn., once the home of President Andrew Jackson. There are two rooms from a typical plantation house of colonial days, Carter's Grove, near Williamsburg. We visited this handsome mansion some years ago and Mrs. Thorne's reproductions are completely in its spirit, marvelous in color and detail.

Moving on down the years of American design, there are the flamboyant Victorian room with its Belter furniture, characteristic of the period from 1850 to 1875; the delightful New Orleans sitting room with its glimpse of an adjoining bedroom; the very amusing "Middletown room," done in the so-called "General Grant period," with its stationary rocker, its pseudo-Gothic windows and thru them a glimpse of ginger-bread porch trellises, all popular in the 1890s, and finally, several rooms from houses of today.

A small dining room with a view of sun-baked landscape illustrates the décor of our southwest, being typical of New Mexico. A large interior from the George Washington Smith house at Santa Barbara reflects the California ability of making the outdoors seem to come inside, and finallly, an ultramodern penthouse drawing room in San Francisco opens on a terrace commanding a view of that fascinating city at night, a glimpse of the Bay bridge, like a gleaming necklace, in the dark distance.

These American miniatures are thrilling. Because of their perfect scaling they have all the dignity, beauty, and color of their originals.

The Odor of Violets

By Baynard Kendrick

[Copyright: 1940: By Baynard Kendrick.]

SYNOPSIS.

Leaving their house guest, Chell Scott, Norma Tredwill goes to the city to break up the romance between her philandering ex-husband, Paul Gerente, and her stepdaughter, Barbara. She sees Barbara leaving Paul's apartment—and discovers Paul murdered. Duncan Maclain, a blind detective, receives a visitor who claims to be Paul Gerente—with orders in code from the Naval Intelligence. They are instructions in case New York should be plunged into darkness by war, giving the five vital points where sabotage might occur. Maclain refused to divulge these locations to his visitor. Maclain finds Cameron, who lives below Paul Garente, with the dead man. Cameron glibly confesses the murder, saying a girl, Hilda Lestrade, witnessed it. But Maclain doubts his confession. Far off in California, a girl spy questions her escort about the nation's new bombing sights. Bunny Carter, president of the Aircraft works where Norma's stepson, Gilbert, is a designing engineer, gives the troubled Norma a lift home, but she dares not confide in him for fear of implicating Barbara in the murder. Stacy, Barbara's brother, telephones that Barbara is missing. In Gilbert's workroom Norma is knocked unconscious by a falling wardrobe. Col. Gray, head of New York's defense plans, asks Maclain and his partner Spud to investigate why Paul Gerente, one of his workers, was murdered. He says Gerente was getting information from—a woman—not Hilda Lestrade.

NOT ON THE CARDS.

"This Gerente seems to be have been quite versatile with the ladies," said Spud.

"A valuable trait in some phases of my unpleasant duties," said Col. Gray. "For the moment I want to concentrate on a young lady from Hartford, Connecticut. Her name is Barbara Tredwill." He paused and added, "Did you ever hear of her before?"

The captain thoughtfully shook his head.

"Was she the girl that a columnist hinted about in the paper yesterday?" asked Spud. "I noticed Gerente's name."

"That's the one. Her father's Thaddeus Tredwill, a prominent producer. Oddly enough, his present wife was married to Paul Gerente 10 years ago."

"But what——" The captain took up a flexible ivory paper cutter and began to bend it back and forth.

"Barbara Tredwill's brother, Gilbert, is a designing engineer with International Aircraft," Col. Gray supplied. "There have been leaks from that plant. Gilbert Tredwill invented the bombing sight used on our planes. He has an even better one almost perfected today. Young Tredwill has a workshop in The Crags, his father's home."

"He lives there?" asked Maclain.

"With his wife, Helena. She's naturalized French—maiden name of Helena Corte."

"You sound suspicious of her," said Spud bluntly.

"I'm suspicious of every one," said Col. Gray. "I'm even suspicious of Gilbert Tredwill himself. He might be inadvertently giving information away. That's why Paul Gerente made it his business to become acquainted with Gilbert's sister, Barbara. He's been trying to learn all he could about the Tredwill family from the girl."

Maclain laid the paper cutter down with a snap. "You mean he might have learned too much to stay alive?"

"You're quick to get an idea. Gerente had an appointment with the Tredwill girl for dinner last night—and later, he had an appointment with you."

"Then the girl was in New York?"

"And most of her family, too," said Col. Gray. "Her father was at the Waldorf-Astoria. Gilbert Tredwill and his wife stayed there, too. Barbara Tredwill and a younger brother, Stacy, were guests of Frederick Ritter, who has an apartment on Park avenue—but the Ritters are away. They turned over their apartment to the girl and her brother."

"I presume, since you have all this information," Maclain said slowly, "that you've questioned the girl?"

The colonel regarded a crease in his well tended trousers and sharpened it between finger and thumb. "I talked with Gilbert Tredwill on the telephone this morning before I came here to see you. There are strong reasons why I don't want any one in the Tredwill household to know why Paul Gerente scraped up a friendship with Gilbert's sister. I'm telling you this, Capt. Maclain, because I need your help right now."

"I've promised it," said Maclain.

"Watch your step, Dunc," Spud warned. "I'm afraid you're dealing with a very clever man."

"Me, Mr. Savage?" The colonel's friendly face grew even rounder than before. "My superiors have accused me of childish naiveté. I've——"

"Undoubtedly," Maclain broke in, "that's why they put you where you are. What were you about to say?"

"Paul Gerente's dead, but the country is very much alive. Some one must take up his work, Capt. Maclain. I want you to go to Hartford today—right now. I've made arrangements for you to stay at The Crags—the Tredwill home. People who don't know you are more apt to underrate you, if you don't mind my saying so. That's beyond price in what I want you to do."

"Yes," said Maclain.

"I want to find out who's getting information about the International Aircraft and Tredwill's plans—and how. That means painstakingly accumulating everything possible about the Tredwill family and every one in the vicinity. Mr. Carter, president of International, lives close by. He'll co-operate with you." The colonel was still long enough to put his pipe away. "I want to know if, before he was killed, Paul Gerente saw the Tredwill girl. I——"

"Just a minute," Col. Gray. Tell me this: What am I supposed to be doing in Thaddeus Tredwill's home?"

"You've been retained by Thaddeus Tredwill to solve the disappearance of his only daughter," the colonel stated briefly. "Barbara vanished from the Ritter's apartment last night and took all her clothes with her."

"I'll go," said Duncan Maclain, "but my dogs must go with me."

"Arrangements have been made for them, too." The colonel stood up. Spud helped the colonel into his overcoat and asked, "How much does Thaddeus Tredwill know?"

"He's expecting Capt. Maclain," said Col. Gray. "I talked to him this morning, as well as with his son. I wanted to question his daughter privately. He got in touch with his younger son, Stacy, and learned that Barbara was gone. He called me back. It was then I arranged for Capt. Maclain."

"You still haven't said what he knows about Gerente," the captain reminded him.

"Not much, I hope," said Col. Gray. "He knows that Gerente was friendly with Barbara—but he doesn't know the real reason why. He knows from his son that Barbara had a date last night with——"

"Yes," said Maclain, "that's quite a possibility. Other fathers have done it before."

"What's a possibility?" the colonel demanded a shade impatiently.

"What you were thinking," Maclain told him unruffled. "That Thaddeus Tredwill killed Gerente for fooling around with his daughter."

"Damn it, sir," said Col. Gray. "I'll thank you to quit reading my mind." He started toward the door and turned back to Maclain. "It's only fair to warn you, captain. I'll give you all the protection I can—but that may not be enough. The last war blinded you. The one going on now may end your career. The disappearance of that Tredwill girl wasn't on the cards at all!"

Inspector Larry Davis adjusted a window shade so that the slanting rays of the morning sun would keep out of his eyes. Under cover of the operation he winked at Sergt. Archer.

The sergeant received the wink impassively and began to drum his heavy fingers on the wooden arm of his chair.

For a time the inspector's office at police headquarters was silent.

Spud Savage broke the quiet with the scratch of a match. "They've now reached the stage of signaling each other with their eyelids, Dunc," he remarked to Capt. Maclain beside him.

Maclain's lips crinkled at the corners. "I heard it click. Davis always make a noise when he winks."

"It's an affliction," announced Davis. "A tic." He tried to look pleased with himself and succeeded in donning a Machiavellian expression. "It's brought on by worry at the thought of you going away."

"Not bad." The captain looked like a school teacher pleased with a boy. "Although the spelling is dissimilar—and the French pronunciation is tek. Usually——"

"Quit spoiling his fun, captain," Archer put in. "Who ever heard of an Irishman speaking French. We're all upset because you have to rush off today."

"I have plenty of time," said Maclain. "At least enough to wait until I can talk with the Lestrade girl."

"Okay," said Davis. "It can't do anything more than waste time—and you're worse than a cockle burr. She won't admit anything, but talk to her—talk to her all day. We have proof she was there."

"In Gerente's apartment?" asked Spud.

Davis nodded and said for the captain's benefit, "Certainly. Where else do you think she was?"

"That's your little police wagon," Spud declared innocently. "I wouldn't know."

Kidney-Bladder Sufferers Should Read This Letter

Her Back Felt Like Breaking—Found Relief

Gentlemen:

"During the last two years my back has been almost killing me—my doctor told me I had sluggish kidneys. At times after work I thought it would break. I spent almost $25.00 on medicines and liniments but nothing I tried seemed to help until a good friend of mine suggested your Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules.

"Now for the last two weeks I haven't had a pain and I want you to know how thankful I am that you're selling such a wonderful medicine. You can use my letter if you wish to let other sufferers know how good I think your Gold Medal is."

Signed "Mrs. C. Christiansen."

If you get up often at night—if passage is burning and scant—watch out—these may be nature's danger signs that your kidneys are not functioning as they should.

Flush out the excess poisons and acids with Dr. Boerhane's original formula—Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules—an efficient diuretic and stimulant. And best of all it starts to work immediately, there's no long waiting for results with Gold Medal—but be sure and get the genuine and original Gold Medal Haarlem Oil Capsules—only 35c at your druggist. Don't take a substitute—look for the gold medals of merit on the package.

"A DISPATCH FROM REUTERS."

Directed by William Dieterle.
Adapted from a story by Valentine Williams and Wolfgang Wilhelm.
Presented at the Apollo theater.

By May Tinée.

Good Morning!

This interesting and well acted movie details the life story of Julius Reuter, founder and originator of the first world-wide news gathering and disseminating system, and they couldn't have picked a better man to portray Reuter than Edward G. Robinson—who made screen history in "Dr. Ehrlich's Magic Bullet."

The picture starts back in Germany in the 19th century. Here you find the boy, Julius, working as messenger in a bank. He's a smart lad and seeing the inconvenience caused by slow delivery of mail and market reports, dreams of a day when something shall be done to expedite such matters.

The day dawns and he's the expediter. In the face of ridicule and disbelief he starts a carrier pigeon post for transporting messages between Aix-le-Chapelle and Verviers. . . . He meets and marries Ida Magnus, daughter of a prominent physician, and from then on is blessed with a perfect helpmeet. . . .

By now the telegraph is functioning efficiently—and he gets his idea for a news service. . . . How this is worked out thru the years in the face of opposition and competition is interestingly depicted.

This is a film strongly and sincerely wrought. Supporting Mr. Robinson is a cast of A1 players. Edna Best is splendid as Mrs. Reuter. Otto Kruger does a fine bit as Dr. Magnus. . . . Eddie Albert portrays Reuter's devoted, but lackadaisical aid keenly. Albert Basserman is just grand! O, they're good — the whole bunch of them.

Buying Little Woman's Gifts Is Made Easy

BY REA SEEGER.

Each holiday season a certain Chicago store officially opens two extremely important shops. One is the shop for men only, the other a shop filled with new gift selections for men and women. In the shop for men only [hidden away in the men's store so there is no need for embarrassment for a timid male shopper] is a supercollection of the frills, luxuries, and practical gift ideas especially dear to the susceptible heart of any woman, young and not so young.

One of the most complete showings of hostess gowns, house coats, negligees, and tea gowns is to be found here . . . in thin soft wool, in luxurious velvets, satins, and silks. All sorts of gay quilted and padded house coats are in this shop, as are complete selections of sweaters, cardigans, and slipovers. The troublesome boudoir slipper problem can be solved in a minute with all the various models, leather, wool, satin, glastique, wool, or fur and every bright color and pastel.

Lingerie of all kinds, lace trimmed, tailored or the simple handmade models, and obtainable in delicate pastels and white, together with some bright Christmas colors, a collection offering everything for the questing or troubled shopper.

Costume jewelry carefully picked by knowing women, bags of every description for daytime or evening wear; gloves for tweeds, for dress parade, or for sports; mittens, books, hosiery, socks, vanities, perfumes, lamps, and scarfs by the dozens are but a few of the bright ideas packed away in this shop.

In the other shop where the feminine shoppers are allowed you'll find all the many gift ideas for men approved and picked by men. This precludes any hazardous buying on the part of the dear ladies, besides providing a foolproof alibi in case the gentleman mutters rebelliously over a color or style.

65th Anniversary Being Celebrated by Central Church

Central church, Orchestra hall, will observe its 65th anniversary with special services next Sunday morning. In making the announcement, the Rev. Dr. Harold W. Ruopp, pastor, stated that Bernard E. Sunny, president of the church board of trustees, had obtained the names of all descendants of the 50 prominent men who founded the church as a pulpit for Dr. David Swing. These have been invited to attend the services. Mr. Sunny has been a member of the board of the church since 1902 and its president since 1918. Dr. Ruopp succeeded Dr. Frederick F. Shannon as pastor in 1939, as the fifth minister of the church. Others were Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus and Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis. Among names of the founders of Central church are Franklin MacVeagh, Joseph Medill, N. K. Fairbank, and Alfred Cowles.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 4.—Boris Karloff departs soon for New York, where he will appear for Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse, authors of "Life with Father," in a Joseph Kesselring comedy melodrama called "Arsenic and Old Lace." And Boris confesses he is scared! He was a legit actor for 18 years, but, he says, a provincial actor, and Broadway critics and audiences frighten him. Allyn Joslyn will also be in the play. . . . Ann Sheridan, still on the suspended list at Warners, has hired herself a press agent and is throwing a press cocktail party today. . . . One small clothes hamper could hold all of the wardrobe for "Tobacco Road." Marjorie Rambeau is the only player who rates a change of clothing. She gets two gingham dresses. . . . C. B. De Mille has abandoned an elaborate Christmas greeting plan. He wanted to have, in each of several big cities, a Christmas day telephone exchange. People could just dial "De Mille" on the phone and hear a recorded message from the master. The scheme finally was abandoned as too costly. . . . Brenda Marshall goes into the feminine lead of "Jinx Woman" at Warners. Plan was to start the picture on Friday the thirteenth with a suitable roundup of superstitious gags—but it's no go because the publicity star will be en route to New Mexico for the opening of "Santa Fe Trail."

Hollywood is full of cowboys—hundreds of 'em—who make their living in westerns. But there are only 25 full blooded Indians, and Kenneth Thomson of the Screen Actors' guild says that even these don't manage to earn a livelihood in spite of all the cowboy and Indian flickers. Reasons are: For local work white extras can easily be made to look like redskins, and for location work film companies move right onto reservations and use whole tribes. "The Outlaw" for example, is being filmed on a Navajo reservation in Arizona.

An interesting member of Hollywood's truly 100 per cent American group is Mrs. Rose Higgins, nee Rose Sun Leaf, who plays the Indian woman who tells the fortunes of Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland and Ronald Reagan in "Santa Fe Trail." Mrs. Higgins belongs to the Papago tribe.

The Papagos see two kinds of movies—the ones the government agent brings out, which tell them how to take care of their cattle, and the ones in which Rose Higgins appears. She writes to her cousin, one of the more affluent Papagos who has an electric refrigerator and a stove in his adobe house, and tells him the name of her current picture. When it comes to Tucson, which has the nearest movie house, the tribe, en masse, mount their horses and jump into their jallopies to make the 65 mile trip to the city.

edge of Hawaiian flowers and gardens.

The Leander McCormicks have as guests for a few days at the Ambassador East, Capt. and Mrs. Pelham Cochrane of England, who are on their way to Arizona for the winter. The Cochranes are not in the mood for much entertaining just now, so Mr. and Mrs. McCormick are giving only small, informal parties for the visitors. Mrs. McCormick is having a few friends in to meet Mrs. Cochrane at luncheon in the Pump room today. Tonight the McCormicks are giving a small dinner for their guests.

Two Debutantes Make Bow at Tea-Dance Dec. 24.

Cards are out for the debut tea-dance of Miss Marion Boyd and Miss Gertrude Hunter Scribner on Tuesday, Dec. 24, from 4 until 7 o'clock at the Indian Hill club. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kenneth Boyd and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hilton Scribner will receive with their daughters.

Another debutante who will make her bow to society during the Christmas holidays is Miss Angeline Lorene Johnson, daughter of the C. Wallace Johnsons of Schiller street. Miss Johnson will be presented at a tea to be given by her parents at the Woman's Athletic club on Dec. 23. She is a student at Pine Manor.

Universal day—Don't cut any corners trying to make speed today. Proceed at an orderly pace.

December—If you are just finishing a four year, this month may bring a climax to the work you have been doing. It would be a good time to retreat from activities and view your progress to date with an impersonal but analytical eye. You should have established some values this year, and now is the period in which to quietly check and double check on your own attitude. Keep clear minded and shut the world out while you rest.

Year ahead—If this is your birthday you ought to have felt already the hint of changes to come. Get ready to step lively.

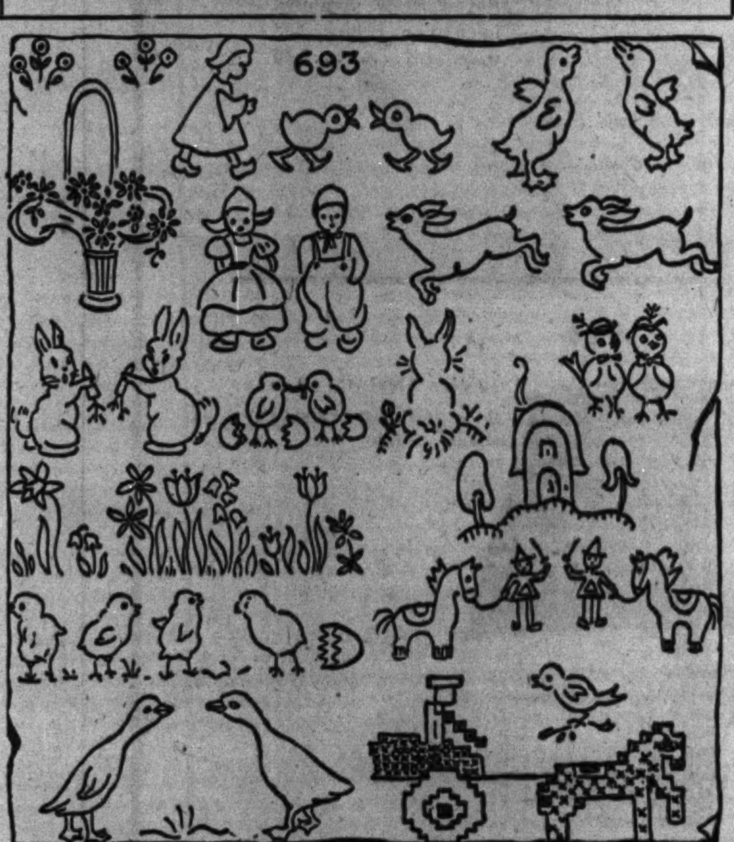
Two Dozen Useful Motifs



BY NANCY CABOT.

Here is a hot iron transfer group which contains two dozen motifs averaging three by four inches in size. These figures are ideal for towels, bibs for children, pockets, nursery items and any of two dozen more pieces to which embroidery may be applied. There is a detailed chart containing illustrations of stitches and complete instructions.

For the hot iron transfer pattern, No. 693, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

It goes against the grain of most players to pass with a good hand. They pay very little attention to the circumstances under which they hold these aces and kings. The salient point in their minds is that they do hold them, hence must bid them. This is a naive philosophy. The real objective at bridge is to get all the possible points from each hand, and if "sitting back and keeping mum" is the best method of doing this, then all other methods are per se wrong.

East	South	West	North
1 spade	?

You are South and hold:

♠K Q 9 7 ♥A J ♦K 4 3 ♣Q 10 8 3

What call do you make?

If ever there was an ideal hand, under ideal conditions, for trapping opponents, this is the hand! Everything is "made to order." First, the vulnerability conditions are right—that is, South can gain more from a mere two trick set of an opposing contract than he can from going game. Second, on the basis of South's cards, there is a substantially greater chance of setting the opponents than of going game. South will have to find only one high card in North's hand [perhaps even a queen] to insure the defeat of any contract the opponents are likely to reach, whereas to go game South would have to find considerable strength or a freak in the North hand.

The greatest danger to a trap pass on South's part is that West will fail to hold the one spade bid open. But, even in that case, North, if he has some strength, will reopen to protect South's possible trap. If North hasn't enough strength for that protection, it is just as well to let East play his one spade.

Today's Hand.

North, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	3 spades	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

South's four spade bid was a questionable decision. To be sure, he had an unbalanced hand pattern, but his singleton was in his partner's suit and it was by no means certain that the hand would produce 10 tricks more easily at spades than nine tricks at no trump.

West opened the ace of clubs and, on seeing East's encouraging ten, continued with the king. South made his first mistake when he ruffed instead of discarding a diamond loser. He made his second mistake by drawing trumps without considering the trouble he would have getting back to his own hand to make the long heart. He groaned at the tough luck of finding four trumps in one hand against him, and cashed his three hearts disconsolately. Since East had discarded properly, declarer had no play to make the 10th trick.

As has been mentioned, declarer would have had no trouble had he discarded a diamond on the king of clubs, since then he would have had a fifth trump with which to reënter his hand after drawing trumps and cashing the three top hearts.

But even after ruffing the second club, declarer could have cashed two high hearts and then drawn trumps. The third high heart could then be discarded on one of the extra trumps, and declarer still would be in his own hand to cash the jack and ten of hearts.

Tomorrow's Hand.

[Copyright: 1940: By The Chicago Tribune.]

An oyster is a delicate creature and despises nothing as much as brutal treatment on the part of a cook. He reacts to overcooking or too much heat by shriveling and toughening himself so that he doesn't make good eating.

Treat the oyster with respect and he'll make a delicious stew. The best way to make an oyster stew, in my opinion, is this: Drain the oysters from their liquor [but don't discard it] and look them over carefully to be sure there aren't bits of shell among them. Put them into a skillet in which you have melted butter enough to cover the bottom of the pan, and cook them gently for several minutes, just until their edges begin to curl. Now add them to the rich milk, which you have scalded in a double boiler and seasoned well with salt, pepper, and the strained oyster liquid. Serve the stew at once with plenty of oyster crackers.

A dash of Worcestershire sauce or a sprinkling of minced parsley doesn't come amiss in an oyster stew, but neither is a requirement.

Oysters prepared in any other way demand light-handed treatment, too. Scalloped oysters shouldn't be baked for too long a time. They're all right in a hot oven for 20 minutes, but not for much longer than that.

SCALLOPED OYSTERS.

Butter a shallow casserole well and cover the bottom with oysters which have been looked over for bits of shell. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and dot with bits of butter. Cover with a half inch layer of dry bread crumbs or cracker crumbs, add a second layer of oysters and seasonings, and top with a second layer of crumbs. Dot the top layer of crumbs with butter and pour a mixture of rich milk or cream and strained oyster liquor over the dish [a cupful of liquid is enough for a small to medium sized casserole]. Place in a 425 degree oven and bake until browned, about 20 minutes or slightly longer.

Small or medium sized oysters are good for stews and scallops, but we like large, fat ones for French frying.

FRENCH FRIED OYSTERS.

Pick over large oysters to remove bits of shell. Roll them in flour seasoned with salt and pepper, then dip into beaten egg diluted with a tablespoonful of water. Roll in fine, dry crumbs. Fry in deep fat heated to 370 degrees until golden brown. Drain on soft paper. Serve while hot with tartar sauce. If necessary, fried oysters may be kept hot for a few minutes in a moderate oven, but too long an exposure to heat has a tendency to toughen them.

The Housewife

It's going to be a wooden Christmas by the looks of it. The market is certainly overflowing with wooden wares of all sizes, shapes, and prices. There are wooden plates for the table, individual wooden salad bowls, large, leaf-shaped wooden trays and divided dishes for appetizers, nut and candy bowls, fruit and salad bowls, guest trays for buffet supper parties [one for each person], and last, but not least attractive, new little salt and pepper shakers in wood. These are shaped like fruits, like miniature jugs, and like old fashioned covered buckets.

WILSON'S Week-End SUGGESTIONS

BY George Rector
Food Consultant Wilson & Co.

Wise buying can make your meat money go further. Especially is this true of week-end shopping when your meat purchase must take care of a number of meals. So I give you a "meaty" suggestion on how to get 25% more servings from your ham.

WHY A 12 LB. TENDER MADE HAM EQUALS A 16 LB. ORDINARY HAM
Not made tender by the Wilson secret process

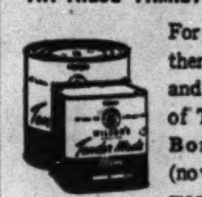
BEFORE COOKING, weight 16 lbs.
(ORDINARY HAM)
AFTER COOKING, weight about 12 lbs.

The longer meat stays in the oven, the more it shrinks. An ordinary 16 lb. ham, requiring up to 30 minutes per pound for cooking, often shrinks up to 25%. You pay for 16 lbs. You serve about 12 lbs.

BEFORE HEATING, weight 12 lbs.
Tender Made Ham
AFTER HEATING, weight practically 12 lbs.

Due to the Wilson Secret Process, Wilson's Tender Made Ham (the ham you cut with a fork) requires but 5 minutes heating per pound. Thus there is practically no wasteful oven shrinkage. You can, with a 12 lb. Tender Made Ham, serve practically as many people as with a 16 lb. ordinary ham. This is why Wilson's Tender Made Ham costs no more to serve than ordinary ham.

Small Family? Small Refrigerator?
TRY THESE "FAMILY-FITTED" HAMS



For smaller families there are the half and family size tins of Tender Made Boneless Ham (no waste). The same wonderful flavor and tenderness as regular Tender Made Ham. Use it the same way.

Entertain AT SUNDAY BREAKFAST
MENU
Halves of grapefruit flavored with sherry
Broiled slices of Wilson's Tender Made Ham
Waffles Buttered Pineapple Syrup
Coffee

BUTTERED PINEAPPLE SYRUP
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 cups pineapple juice
¼ lb. Clear Brook Butter

HAM LEFT-OVER HINTS!
Breakfast...
Wilson's Tender Made Ham omelette, or scrambled ham and eggs, or broiled ham.
Sandwiches...
Chopped Tender Made Ham with cheese, or with chopped olives, or with thin slices of raw apples. Make sandwiches, toast 'em and watch appetites pep up!
Lunch or Dinner
Tender Made Ham and Macaroni, or vegetable scallop of ham, peas and mushrooms, or Tender Made Ham croquettes. N.B. Deep-fat fry the croquettes in Bakerite, a grand new vegetable shortening.
Goodbye till next week.

SOUTHERN SKIES SHINE ON Shantung

This year shantung blazes forth to new fashion heights, glorified for Resort wear, predicted for summer, '41. Everything will be made of this light comfortable fabric, everything from bathing suits to evening dresses. Carson's has the classic Rajah pure dye shantung and new variations: a rayon jersey shantung with jersey's inimitable draping qualities. And rayon crepe shantung too! All in light pastel colors . . . in stripes and dots, and in screen prints of a subdued monotone type that appears to be hand-painted. It's the greatest fabric fashion story we've told. The most undoubtable prediction for success.

TWO RETAIN TITLES IN C. Y. O. BOXING MEET

David Brown Takes Heavy Crown.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Eight hard hitting and skilful amateur boxers marched on to Catholic Youth organization championships in the 10th annual C. Y. O. tournament in the Coliseum last night. At the end of three hours of fighting a crowd of 8,563 stood and cheered these 1940 champions:

Flyweight—Al Noto, St. Angela parish.
Bantamweight—Fred Dawson, Corpus Christi.
Featherweight—Tony Bausone, St. Mel.
Lightweight—Ed O'Connell, St. Nicholas of Tolentine.
Welterweight—Harry Sparrow, SS. Peter and Paul.
Middleweight—Isaiah Wells, Holy Family.
Light Heavyweight—Hiner Thomas, Corpus Christi.
Heavyweight—Dave Brown, Corpus Christi.

Eight champions also were crowned in the novice division.

Dispute Noto Victory.

Noto was awarded a disputed decision in three rounds over Harold Dade of Corpus Christi to retain his open flyweight title. Noto, who beat Harold for his championship last December, won approval of the officials by a no-count knockdown in the final round. However, Dade, who had beaten Al in a subsequent encounter for the Illinois Athletic club title in January, went down more from a push than a punch.

Dawson became the new bantamweight titleholder by registering an impressive three round victory over Henry Nichols of St. James, Arlington Heights. He took command at the start and held it to the end.

Bausone won the featherweight championship by defeating Eddie Miller of St. Anselm in three rounds. Tony started festivities with a rush and closed the same way. In the second round he handed his rangy opponent a two handed body beating.

In his conquest of O. D. Thomas of St. Joseph for the open leightweight championship, Ed O'Connell displayed all the skill and punching power that earned him glory in the city Golden Gloves tournament a few months ago. Eddie got the worst of a slugging mélée in the first round, but near the end of the session he caught his colored opponent with a series of rights to the chin which made him hang on. A right almost floored Thomas in the second round and in the last round O'Connell staggered Thomas with a right to the ear.

Sparrow's First Title.

Piling up an overwhelming margin on points, Sparrow came thru with his first C. Y. O. championship in a seven year campaign when he conquered Louis Bobeck of Sacred Heart parish for the welterweight belt. Sparrow, who now has won 213 matches in 244 encounters, landed a barrage of lefts to the face which slowed Bobeck down to a walk in the third. Inability to solve Harry's southpaw style was responsible for the hard hitting Bobeck's defeat.

Wells became the second successful defending title holder when he stopped Harry Stephens, strong St. Peter's fighter, for the middleweight crown. Dick Fitzpatrick, second for Stephens, refused to allow Stephens to come out for the third round because of a cut left eye.

Hiner Thomas, who won the C. Y. O. 160 pound championships in 1935 and 1938, earned a third title by vanquishing Joe O'Connell, St. Nicholas of Tolentine, in the light heavyweight final. Altho Joe scored repeatedly with rights to the heart, Hiner's superior mauling tactics won him the nod.

Brown's victory over James Stift of Our Lady, Help of Christians, for the heavyweight championship, was one of the closest on the card. Stift, whose pet blow was a right to the body, might have earned the award but for a no-count knockdown he suffered in the second round.

Open Class Results.

118 pounds—Fred Dawson, Corpus Christi, beat Henry Nichols, St. James, Arlington Heights [3].
126 pounds—Tony Bausone, St. Mel, beat Eddie Miller, St. Anselm [3].
160 pounds—Isaiah Wells, Holy Family, stopped Harry Stephens, St. Peter [3].
Heavyweight—Dave Brown, Corpus Christi, beat James Stift, Our Lady Help of Christians [3].

Novice Class Results.

118 POUNDS—Pat Ciangi, Our Lady of Pompeii, beat Mike Friar, St. Louis parish [3].
160 POUNDS—Jerry Cohen, Holy Name, beat James Patterson, St. Theodore [3].
175 POUNDS—George Henrich, St. Edward, stopped Carmen Caputo, St. Mary of Mount Carmel [2].

CUBS TRADE GLEESON AND MATTICK FOR MYERS OF REDS

WHITE SOX CALL OFF DEAL FOR ROGER CRAMER

Release Jack Hayes; Dodgers Get Owen.

Trade Winds

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 4.—Today's developments among the major league clubs at the minor league baseball convention follow:

Cubs traded Shortstop Bobby Mattick, Outfielder Jim Gleeson, and a player to be named later to the Reds for Shortstop Billy Myers.

Giants released Catcher Ray Hayworth and sold Third Baseman Glenn Stewart to Knoxville.

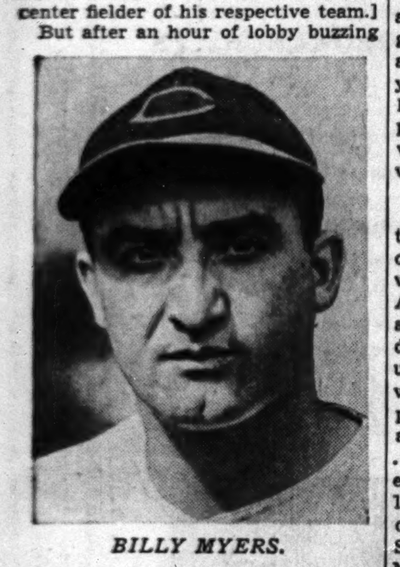
BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 4.—The Cubs made a major trade at the minor league convention today, and the White Sox almost made one tonight.

The boys in the lobbies still were discussing the deal whereby Jim Wilson, the new Cub manager, obtained Shortstop Billy Myers from the Reds for Outfielder Jim Gleeson, Shortstop Bobby Matttick, and a player to be named later when a flurry was caused by the report the Chicago Sox were all set to exchange Mike Kreevich for Roger Cramer of the Boston Sox.

It was indicated that only a few details had to be straightened out, involving Vice President Harry Grabiner's approval of Manager Jimmie Dykes' move. Grabiner earlier had praised Cramer and had spoken in detail of Kreevich's slim .267 battting average last season and the fact there is only four years difference in the ages of the players. [Cramer is 34, Kreevich is 30, and each is the center fielder of his respective team.]



BILLY MYERS.

But after an hour of lobby buzzing on the merits of the supposed deal, the whole thing was called off by Dykes and Grabiner.

Eddie Collins Is Overanxious.

Overeagerness of General Manager Eddie Collins of the Red Sox was said to have scared the Chicago Sox off the swap. Collins barged in with the suggestion that the deal immediately be announced officially and seemed in such a hurry about things that the Chicago men suspected Cramer had lost an arm in a hunting accident or such like and cancelled all conversations. They said the deal not only was in the ash heap here, but that the embers would not be blown to flame at the major league convention in Chicago next week.

The only thing the White Sox did get around to doing was presenting Jack Hayes, 34 year old second baseman, his outright release. This was done after he told Dykes physicians had given him no hope that he would regain sight of his right eye, affected by a cataract. Hayes hopes to enter radio as a baseball announcer. He came to the Sox in the winter of 1931.

Dodgers Get Mickey Owen.

The Cubs' trade was looked upon as an emergency move for 1941 rather than a step in the basic reorganization policy. Myers will be 31 years old ere next season is over. He has been with the Reds for six years, having gone to Cincinnati in 1935 from Columbus.

This was the second major transaction of the day. Earlier it was announced the long expected deal sending Catcher Mickey Owen from the Cardinals to the Dodgers had been completed. Cash, Catcher Gus Mancuso, and a right handed rookie

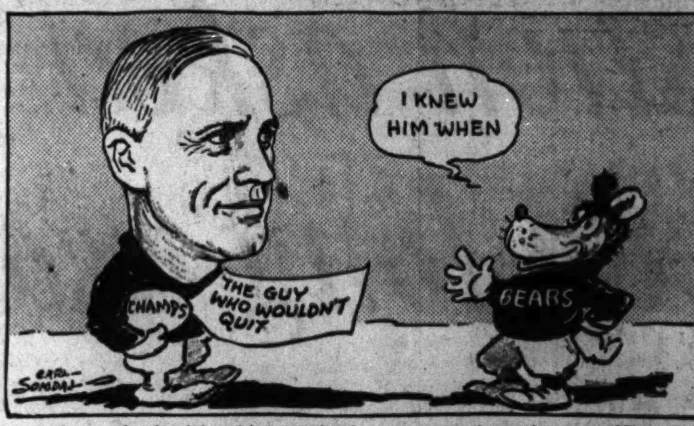
In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 4.—This is a piece about the most unassuming, the hardest working, and the most successful coach in 1940 football. . . . We refer, of course, to Clark Shaughnessy, whose Stanford team Saturday won the Pacific Coast conference championship with a record of nine straight victories, a year after Stanford, under another coach, had failed to win a conference game. . . . This is the first time since 1914 the Indians have had a perfect season. . . . Shaughnessy's flash to the heights is a fitting reward for a man who for several years tried in vain to recreate at the University of Chicago the spirit that once painted the skies with its name. . . . Every one knows now that a gridiron genius who combined the talents of Knute Rockne, Bob Zuppke, and Bernie Bierman, if such a person ever lived, would have fared no better in the current situation on the Midway than did the tall, lean, priestly looking Irishman who came west to prove his worth as a teacher and leader of men. . . .

Stanford has won its way to the Rose bowl and who do you suppose will receive the first invitation to sit on the Pacific Coast representative's bench? . . . George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears, whose team on Sunday will play the Washington Redskins for the championship of the National Football league. . . . "I couldn't have carried on as a football coach except for Halas," Shaughnessy explained the other day as we were driving over scenic Skyline drive to his home in Palo Alto. "When almost every one else was ridiculing my efforts at Chicago, Halas gave me a pat on the back, and believe me, I'll never forget it. My spirits never were so low as the time Halas began to confer with me about the offense [a T formation with a man in motion] with which we both were experimenting. . . . His interest gave me the confidence I needed to continue as a coach. . . . You know, after a fellow's team takes 80 to 0 and 60 to 0 lickings, like mine did at Chicago, you begin to doubt your own ability. . . . A coach never lacks friends when he turns out successful teams, but George Halas was my stanchest supporter when I was losing every game on the schedule. . . . That's why I want him by my side the day we play Nebraska in the Rose bowl, because without his helping hand I never would have gained that goal." . . .



Sunday was the first day Shaughnessy has taken off since he assumed the position as Stanford's head coach last March. . . . To give you some idea of the man's attention to duty we want to tell you that after his team whipped California in Berkeley, 13 to 7, Saturday, he went back to Palo Alto for a hurried dinner and then worked in his office at the university answering mail until midnight. . . . For 25 years he had toiled, hoped, and dreamed of the time when his football team would end its season with an undefeated, untied record. . . . When that day arrived, instead of celebrating with friends or his family, he went back to work. . . . He had only one complaint about Stanford's final game. . . . That was the failure of the camp attendant to awaken him at 6 a. m. on Saturday, as he had instructed. . . . It was 8 o'clock before Shaughnessy arose and that didn't give him enough time to work out the best possible combination of substitutes to relieve his weary regulars. . . . "I hadn't given enough attention to reserves, otherwise California would not have scored," he explained. . . . Shaughnessy usually puts in about 15 hours a day at his work. . . . On Monday and Tuesday mornings his assistants—Phil Bengston of Minnesota, Marchie Schwartz of Notre Dame, and Jim Lawson of Stanford—report at Clark's home, a mile from the campus, to set up various defenses for the following Saturday's opponent. . . . The duty of his lieutenants is to pick flaws in Shaughnessy's defensive formations. . . . The staff spends two mornings, from 6 a. m. until noon, on defense. . . . The rest of the week is devoted mainly to offense. . . . "The trouble with many coaches," Shaughnessy went on, "is that they try to get by with as little effort as possible. Whatever success we enjoyed this season was due to two reasons—good luck and hard work." . . .

The Stanford leader stresses the element of luck in answering inquiries about his team's amazing performance. . . . "We were fortunate that we lost few key men with injuries," he stated. "If Albert, our left handed passer and quarter back, and either Kmetovic or Gallarneau [who comes from Oak Park] had been out of the lineup simultaneously, we would have been in serious difficulties. Our regulars were a tired group last Saturday. I tried to rest them as much as I could thru the late stages of the season, but every time I sent in a reserve lineup we got in trouble immediately." . . . Luck, of course, helped Stanford achieve an undefeated season. . . . Every major eleven which survives present day schedules must have some breaks. . . . But luck doesn't explain the shifting of Gallarneau, who runs 100 yards in 10 seconds, from a blocking back to a ball carrier. . . . Gallarneau, who last year seldom or never freighted the leather, this fall was the leading ground gainer in the Pacific Coast conference. . . . Neither does luck explain the conversion of Charles Taylor, a high school quarter back, into the best sophomore guard this observer ever has seen. . . .

Stanford's success helps to answer in part, at least, the old question: Does the team make the coach or the coach make the team? . . . Shaughnessy took substantially the same group of young men who last year failed to win a conference game and led them to the top of the heap the following season. . . . Shaughnessy has done something more, however, than develop an undefeated football team at Stanford. . . . He has rekindled Stanford's flaming spirit, which was all but extinguished at the time of his arrival. . . . His appointment has four more years to run, but unless we miss our guess, he will spend the rest of his coaching days in Palo Alto. . . . There's no finer environment for a man who has consecrated his life to the direction of youth. . . . Stanford attracts a strong, virile type of student. . . . The climate lends itself to outdoor athletics. . . . The administration recognizes the value of an intercollegiate sports program. . . . Most important, Shaughnessy is the kind of man any university would welcome as its athletic leader.

Ten Years Ago Today—A crowd of 88,000 was expected to watch Notre Dame's unbeaten team battle Southern California.

GAMES TONIGHT.

Detroit at Chicago.
New York Rangers at Montreal.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

James Norris of our town tonight brings his Detroit Red Wings into the Chicago Stadium to meet the Chicago Blackhawks, who are operated by Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, Mr. Norris' neighbor, in their second duel of the current national Hockey league season. If the Wings seem to be smirking as they skate onto the Stadium ice, consider that last Friday, in Detroit, they smacked down the Hawks by a score of 3 to 1.

It so happens that it was the first time in nine consecutive games that the Wings had won from our lads. In last season's eight games, the Hawks took picks on the Wings six times, permitting them just two ties in the way of balm for the six lickings.

The Hawks are all primed to erase all smirks, if any, from the Wings' features, and for more reasons than one. Not only do they crave revenge for the embarrassment of last week, but there is also the business of tying the Wings for second place, a deed which could be accomplished by winning tonight's battle. The Hawks currently have 10 points, the last two having been gained thru Sunday's joyous victory over the haughty Rangers, but they're still two behind the Detroits and one back of the Boston Bruins.

Ebbie Will Lead Wings.

Leading the Wings as a player and coach will be Ebenezer Goodfellow. Ebbie's worth was publicly acknowledged at the end of last season, when he was awarded the Dr. David A. Hart trophy as the most valuable player in the league. His versatility can be proven in the fact that four years ago, he was transformed into a defense star after years of shining as a center. He has been with Detroit hockey under three team names since the 1929-'30 season—the Cougars, the Falcons, and the Red Wings.

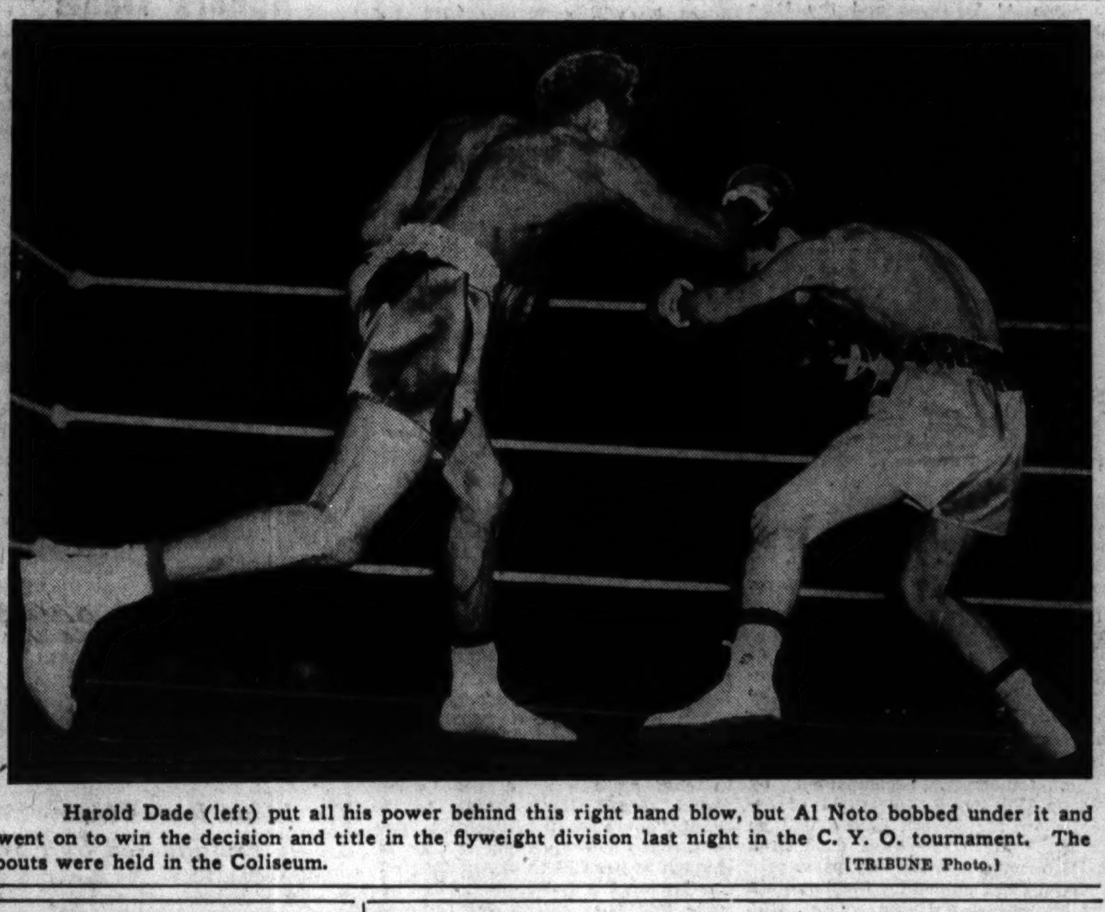
Like most other teams in the national league this season, Detroit also is playing the young blood theme for all it's worth. Its goalie is Rookie Johnny Mowers, who is doing a good job of replacing the great Tiny Thompson. Master Mowers, thanks to excellent defensive support by Goodfellow and three young defense men, has yielded 20 goals in 10 games.

The Hawks are Fit.

The defense threesome which works with Goodfellow includes Alex Motter, Jack Stewart, and Jimmy Orlando. Also, consider the new forward line of Center Les Douglas, Left Wing Archie Wilder, and Right Wing Joe Carveth, who came up intact from the Indianapolis Capitols.

Manager Paul Thompson and Coach Jimmy Gottselig reported that the Hawks are fit as fiddles with one exception. That would be Mush March, veteran right wing, who sustained a ligament injury in last Friday's game at Detroit. His place will be taken by Regis [Pep] Kelly.

This Right Meant Business—but Noto Dodged



Harold Dade (left) put all his power behind this right hand blow, but Al Noto bobbed under it and went on to win the decision and title in the flyweight division last night in the C. Y. O. tournament. The bouts were held in the Coliseum.

CHARITY CAUSE EASES A.A.U. RULE ON COAST GAME

Denver, Colo., Dec. 4 (AP).—Football stars who play with or against Tom Harmon in the East-West charity football game may jeopardize their standing for future competition in sports supervised by the Amateur Athletic union, Daniel J. Ferris, A. A. U. secretary, said today.

Ferris added, however, that any player's request for special permission to participate in the New Year's day game in San Francisco probably would be approved by the A. A. U. board of governors.

"It's a charity game and the A. A. U. policy is to allow competition against professionals in such cases," he explained.

Harmon Classed as Pro.

If the issue reached the A. A. U. board of governors, Ferris said Harmon, star Michigan back, almost certainly would be classed as a professional for accepting a fee for a radio appearance last week.

The A. A. U., however, has no jurisdiction over football, and the only issue growing out of his appearance in the East-West game would be the future eligibility of all other players on both East and West teams to compete in such A. A. U. sports as track, basketball, swimming, wrestling, and boxing, Ferris explained, adding:

"It would be a good idea for some players invited to compete in the East-West game to get their special permission requests before the board of governors during the A. A. U. convention here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Can Clear All Players.

"If one or two such requests were granted, that would establish a ruling case for this game to cover any future request for A. A. U. eligibility clearance by any man who took part in the game."

Redskins Brave Frosty Day to Drill for Bear Title Game

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—Out in Griffith stadium on a gridiron shorn of turf and solidly veneered by the season's heaviest frost, 33 Washington Redskins, eastern division winners, braved frost bite this morning to get in the day's quota of preparation for the National Football league's championship playoff game against the Chicago Bears, western division title holders, on Sunday.

Downtown a corps of clerks was busily engaged returning more than $100,000 in money orders and checks to disappointed ticket applicants. Scalpers lurked in hotel lobbies, and registers already bore the signatures of visiting newspaper men, coaches, and fans, the advance guard of a throng of 36,033 which will pay $102,000 to occupy every seat in the historic park.

The Game Has Grown.

It makes a strange sight for those oldsters who can remember back to the first playoff, in 1933, when the Bears defeated the Giants and Bronko Nagurski's share of the players' pool was less than his regular salary per game thruout the regular season. Winning players will get approximately $950 this year. This is not so unusual for Washington, for here, where the great men and minds of the nation make momentous decisions, professional football is the leading topic of discussion from September until Christmas.

The phenomenon of the Redskins' popularity long has been one of the wonders of the league. Local observers trace the team's popularity to numerous factors. George Marshall, owner and spokesman for the Redskins, sees no particular advantage for his club over other teams because Washington, a city of office workers and job holders recruited from all parts of the nation, does not have the entertainment or big college football available in its manufacturing center rivals.

How Marshall Does It.

Marshall concurs in the belief that showmanship and promotional methods are chiefly responsible for the sensational success of a venture in Washington which failed in Boston. The Redskins were organized and admitted to the league as the Boston team in 1932. The franchise was transferred to Washington in 1936. These promotional methods are best summed up in the words of a Washington attorney, who explained:

"The Redskins present professional football just like Northwestern or Notre Dame presents college football. The Bears, for instance, present it like the Cubs present baseball. Here we get all the trimmings of collegiate football. Every seat is reserved; season tickets are sold; and for your money you get the best in the sport, the best in music and some laughs."

With that he wrote a check and carried away 30 season tickets for 1941 to be disposed of as Christmas gifts. Sales such as these helped swell to 11,000 the number of tickets sold before last Aug. 1 for every game, including the playoff, in Washington this year.

Coach Has Other Duties.

Everybody in the Redskin organization is tremendously interested in matters of this nature; everybody, that is, except Ray Flaherty, the quiet redhead who coaches the Redskins. He hardly knows where the business office is located. While officers dwelt at length on the business of selling tickets and holding dress rehearsals for Sunday's between the halves show, Flaherty went studiously about framing some defense for the Bears' powerful attack.

BEARS VOTE 33 SHARES.

Thirty-three full shares of the championship playoff game's receipts were voted yesterday by the Chicago Bears, who also included the coaches, trainers, other club officials and 18 Wrigley field groundkeepers in their split of the money.

Owner-Coach George Halas and his assistants, Hunk Anderson and Carl Brumbaugh, were voted full shares, but Halas turned his money back into the pool. Trainer Homer Cole received a full share, and Trainer Andy Lotshaw, who joined the Bears after the baseball season ended, was voted a half share. Frank Halas, traveling secretary, and Rennie Wychowski, clubhouse boy, were given cash awards, as were the 18 groundkeepers.

Ray Bray, star guard, who has been out of action more than half the year with an injured knee, was voted a full share, while Phil Martinovich, who was recently brought up from the Newark Bears, was given an unannounced sum of cash.

The Bears will leave for Washington over the Pennsylvania tomorrow afternoon at 3:20 o'clock. The entire squad, including the injured Bray, will make the trip.

Hey, Skaters! Eight Parks Are All Ready for You

The Chicago Park district announced yesterday that ice skating facilities are available at Waveland avenue in Lincoln park, at the 51st street yacht basin in the south end of Burnham park, and the Holstein, Pulaski, Eckhart, Kosciuszko, Kelvyn, and Blackhawk parks.

TONY ZALE GETS BID OF $10,000 TO DEFEND TITLE

Seek to Arrange Match with Christoforidis.

Promoter Robert Brickman yesterday offered Tony Zale $10,000 to risk his middleweight championship against Anton Christoforidis, recent conqueror of Jimmy Bivins, in Cleveland in January or February. Sam Pian, one of Zale's managers, has indicated he will accept in view of the cancelation of proposed matches against Tony [Cianciola] Martin in Milwaukee Jan. 1 and against Steve Mamakos in Chicago Stadium Jan. 10.

Meanwhile, the champion has been forced to refuse a match with Eddie Pierce in Cleveland Dec. 17 because of a sore right hand. Zale will be released tomorrow from a west side hospital, where he has been receiving physiotherapy treatments for the injury, his physician, Dr. J. P. O'Connell, said last night.

The annual amateur boxing show sponsored by the Duncan Y. M. C. A. will be presented tonight in the Duncan gymnasium at 1515 Monroe street. Lou Angelucci, city Golden Gloves middleweight winner, is scheduled to appear in a feature match against an opponent to be chosen. Other contestants will include Stanley Stockins and Jimmy Baratta, lightweights; Arthur Ellis, featherweight, and Henry Leslie, city Golden Gloves heavyweight finalist. . . . A professional wrestling show also will be held this evening in Social center, 1651 West Belmont avenue.

When Al Williams and the Irish Angel fell from the ring last night in the Rainbo Fronton arena they were counted out by Referee Tony Hadjich. The pair failed to get back at the 20 count. The time was 23 minutes and 45 seconds. Dizzy Davis tossed Rudy Kay, Pete Baltran threw Rufus Jones, Dale Haddock won over Lefty Pacer, and Adolph Goebels and Bill Canny wrestled to a draw.

LANDIS WANTS A FARM; GEORGIANS TO GIVE HIM ONE

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 4 (AP).—Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, will get his wish tomorrow—a Georgia farm in sight of the mountain for which he was named.

Two years ago, when the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues met in New Orleans, Landis told President Trammell Scott of the Southern association: "Some day I would like to retire to a little farm where I can look out and see Kennesaw mountain."

Scott spoke to Mayor Blair of Marietta, Ga., not far from the mountain where fighting took place in the civil war. Blair, in turn, spoke to his city council, and the body arranged to present a tract to Landis.

So, tomorrow, accompanied by Mayor William B. Hartsfield of Atlanta and Maj. Scott, Landis will go to Marietta to receive a deed in a brief ceremony at the city park.

Landis was named for the mountain by his father, a Union soldier, who lost his leg in hostilities nearby.

ALL NATIONAL GOLF DATES ARE SET BY U. S. G. A.

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—The United States Golf association, in announcing today that its annual meeting will be held here Jan. 11, completed the calendar of its 1941 national tournaments. In the order in which these are to be played, they are:

Open tournament—June 5-7 at Colonial club, Fort Worth, Tex.; entries close May 13, sectional qualifying rounds May 26.

Women's tournament—Sept. 8-13, the Country club, Brookline, Mass.; entries close Aug. 18.

At the same time the U. S. G. A. announced the national collegiate golf committee had slated its meet for June 23-28 at Ohio State university.

pitcher named John Pintar were the Dodgers' payoff for Owen.

We talked about the Cubs' deal to two gents who think Myers will be a great help to the Cubs—Wilson, and Paul Derringer, who won two of the Reds' games, including the last one, in the 1940 world series.

He's Great, Says Wilson.

Said Wilson: "Myers is a seasoned player and a great shortstop. I don't even know what he batted last year. [Myers' average was .203]. I am confident he will coöperate with the Cubs and me personally. I am well satisfied with the trade or I wouldn't have made it."

Said Derringer: "Naturally, I am not second guessing Manager Bill McKechnie's judgment. He knows what he's doing at all times. I have no hesitancy, however, in saying that Bill is a great shortstop and a comfort to pitchers who frequently find themselves hooked up in close games. The Reds last season won 42 games by one run and no team could do that with a clown shortstop in there."

Gleeson, who enjoyed his best major league season in 1940, figures to play more or less regularly with the 1941 Reds. Gleeson, a switch batter, hit .308 last season. Mattick's fate is uncertain. It was said, however, that the Reds plan to install Eddie Joost as their regular shortstop.

Cubs Have Four Shortstops.

The Cubs have three other shortstops who may be summoned to vie with the veteran Myers for the Cub job, tho, they will be working under a handicap, considering the old teammate aspects of the Wilson-Myers setup. Still on the Cub lists are Leonard Merullo, Harvey Storey and Bob Sturgeon. One of these may be the fellow who is to be assigned to the Reds by May 1.

The Cubs and Giants were reported in conference over a deal which would return Hank Leiber to the Giants. There seemed little hope, however, that the swap would go thru, inasmuch as the Cubs were holding out for Catcher Harry Danning. The Cubs were told they might get Danning, but that the deed to Leiber alone would not swing the proposition.

DEFEND CLEAN RECORD.

The Edison Park football team, undefeated the last six years in the 41st ward's annual charity football game at Spencer field, will seek to extend that record against the Jefferson Park Bulldogs Sunday afternoon.

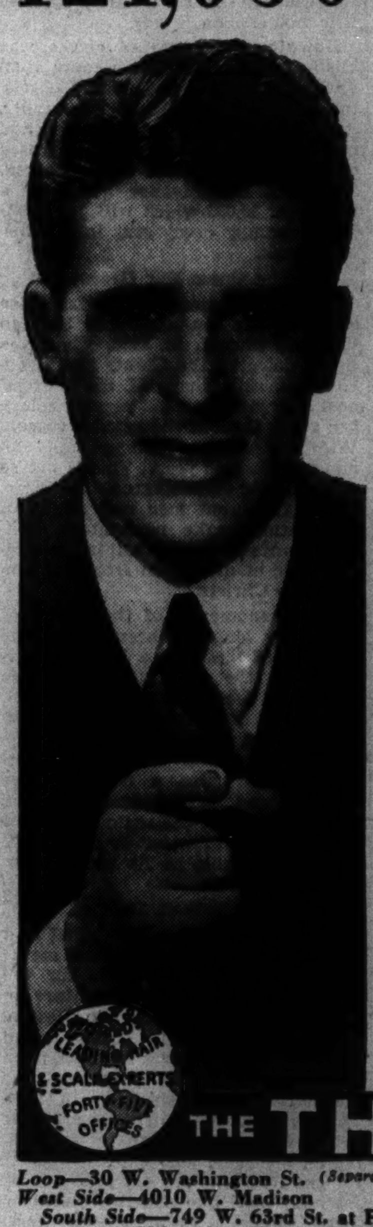
Does Your Scalp Have Its 121,630 HAIRS

Or are YOU Getting Bald?



BLONDES with healthy scalps have 140,000 hairs; red-heads only 90,000; brunettes 120,000—and the average healthy head has 121,630 hairs. Most scalps need help, though, in maintaining their hair quota, because dandruff, scalp itch, and other abnormal local conditions keep hair from growing naturally. Baldness comes when your scalp sheds more hair than it is able to re-grow.

Thomas can help you keep those 121,630 hairs by ridding your scalp of any of the 14 local conditions which cause 90% of all baldness. For 20 years Thomas treatment has been overcoming dandruff, stopping abnormal hair-fall, and promoting hair growth on thin and bald spots. This precise, reliable method can help you too, to retain or regain a good head of hair. Call today for free consultation and a free scalp examination.

Answer to a question asked for seven long years

FOR SEVEN YEARS, people who enjoyed Fleischmann's whiskies before Prohibition have asked why some of those famous old brands were not brought back after Repeal.

Others, who have enjoyed the quality of Fleischmann's Gins since Repeal have inquired why no American whiskey has been sponsored by the same company.

Until now, The Fleischmann Distilling Corporation has been waiting. . . waiting for an American post-Prohibition whiskey preference to manifest itself. That preference is now overwhelming! So Fleischmann meets it with a typical American whiskey . . . a blend . . . bearing a name famous long before Prohibition . . . CONGRESS HALL.

Like America itself, CONGRESS HALL is a blend . . . made by an American company for American drinks. Light in body, deep in aroma, distinguished for smoothness, CONGRESS HALL is the kind of whiskey preferred by 70% of those who enjoyed pre-Prohibition whiskies. Next time you sip—call for this really great blend—call for CONGRESS HALL!

CHICAGO QUINTET OPENS AGAINST GEORGIA TONIGHT

Maroons Ready to Try New Tactics.

The University of Chicago basketball team will open its season against Georgia tonight in the Midway fieldhouse. It will be the first meeting of quintets representing these institutions. This will be the opening engagement of the Georgia players' swing thru Western conference territory. They will encounter Illinois in Champaign tomorrow and Indiana in Bloomington on Saturday. Their coach is Elmer Lampe, former Maroon star.

The Maroons will have Joe Stampf, 6 foot 4 inch veteran of last year's squad, at center. Jack Fons, a minor letter man, and Fred Shaver, a sophomore, will be at the forward positions. Chuck Wagenberg, another experienced player, will share the guard responsibilities with George Krakowka, a sophomore.

The Bulldogs will be led by Capt. Dan Kirkland, center, whose height matches Stampf's. Also in their starting lineup will be Joe Killian, forward, who last year led the Southeastern conference in scoring. Both were stars on the 1939-'40 team which won 20 games and lost 5.

The game will be the first event under Chicago's new policy of admitting students, faculty, and employés free. Approximately 1,400 Maroon rooters have received passes on which the only charge is the federal admissions tax.

Diehl, Center, Elected 1941 Iowa Captain

Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 4 [Special].—Bill Diehl, 190-pound junior center from Cedar Rapids, Ia., tonight was named to succeed Mike Enich as captain of the Iowa football team at a banquet in honor of the 1940 squad.

Diehl is the third straight lineman to captain the Hawkeyes. Before Enich, regarded one of the greatest tackles in Iowa history, Erwin Prasse led the captain.

Diehl ranked high among the conference's centers both this year and last. He held the No. 1 spot on Coach Eddie Anderson's iron man team last year until he suffered a knee injury in the Wisconsin game which benched him for the remainder of the year.

Diehl took care of most of the duties again this fall but was laid up for a time with an elbow injury that seriously hurt his chances of gaining all-conference recognition. He won all-state honors at Roosevelt high school in Cedar Rapids. A junior in the college of liberal arts, Diehl is a member of Phi Kappa Psi, national social fraternity.

Major letters were granted to 26 players and six were given minor awards.

FESLER NAMED WESLEYAN HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

Middletown, Conn., Dec. 4 (AP).—Wesley E. Fesler, former Ohio State end, signed a contract tonight as head football coach at Wesleyan university. He will assume his new duties in March.

Fesler, who has had coaching experience at his alma mater where he was a football, basketball, and baseball star, and at Harvard since 1934 as assistant football and head basketball tutor, succeeds Jack L. Blott, former Michigan star, who resigned to take a position in private industry.

30 Years of Chicago Basketball

[This is the fourth of a series of articles on the highlights of Chicago basketball history thru the last 30 years. No effort has been made to include all of the great teams which have played the game in this city within that period, emphasis being placed on the more important teams and tournaments.]

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

There have been a number of outstanding professional teams in Chicago basketball. There was the old Chicago Big Five, outgrowth of the Illinois Athletic club title winning quintets of 1917 and 1918. There were such clubs as the Whiting Owls, the East Chicago team, the Harvard Marvels, the Chicago Boosters, and the north towns organization that included the Waukegan Elks, Grays Lake and North Chicago. But the first local pro five to achieve national prominence thru competition in an organized major league was the Chicago Bruin team, which grew out of the old 202d regiment troupe that had played in the Broadway armory for a number of years.

Mention of the Bruins naturally calls for a word about the man who has kept Chicago on top, not only in professional football with his Bears, but also in pro basketball—George Halas. It was Halas who organized the first Bruin team in the season of 1924-'25. This first squad included three former Illinois stars—Chuck Carney, hero of the first national interscholastic tournament and a conference record setter at Illinois; Laurie Walquist, and Halas himself; two ex-Badgers—Cop Taylor and Rollie Williams, and Duke Dunne of Michigan, now Judge Robert Jerome Dunne of the Circuit court.

Original Bruins Call It Quits After 1929-'30 Campaign.

In the season of 1925-'26, the team joined the then newly organized American Basketball league, of which the late Joe Carr was president. Other teams included the Boston Whirlwinds, Brooklyn Arcadias, Rochester Centrals, Washington Palaces, Buffalo Germans, Cleveland Rosenblums, Fort Wayne Knights of Columbus, and Detroit Schultes. Cleveland won the championship in a three game playoff with Brooklyn.

During this inaugural league season, the Bruins had acquired several new stars, including Jack Tierney, who led the team in scoring the first campaign; Mark Harper, Whitey Wickhorst, Frank Mahoney, Red Barak, and Barney Varnes. The 1927-'28 season saw the coming of Homer Stonebreaker, one of Hoosier basketball's best; Honey Russell, and Cookie Cunningham of Ohio State.

In 1929-'30, Halas rounded up what was undoubtedly the most expensive collection of professional talent ever seen in Chicago. In addition to Wickhorst and Russell, the Bruins came out with Nat Holman and Nat Hickey, stars of the famed Celtics of New York; Gil Ely of Cleveland; Tillie Voss and Ray Kennedy, who had starred for Manhattan college before joining the Washington Palace team. The depression was developing in earnest that semester, and while the team for all around ability was the best professional club ever to represent Chicago up to that point, it did not enjoy a financially successful season. The Bruins' home games were played in the Chicago Stadium.

The Modern Bruins Narrowly Miss Pro Championship.

The 1930-'31 campaign was the last appearance of the Bruins in these parts for a decade. Wickhorst, Hickey, Benny Borgeman, Lefty Kinzing, Kennedy, Red Skurnick, Barak, Art Bramhall, Ralph Miller, and Pat Herlihy made up the squad. Last season Halas rounded up a number of stars from Loyola university's great team of the preceding season, and former De Paul players. He entered them, again as the Bruins, in the National Basketball league.

For a first year squad they made a highly creditable showing, just missing a championship playoff berth. Several times they were in a contending position, but failure to click on free throws cost them a number of important games. After the regulation season was finished, the young Bruins showed what they had by going to the final of the world's professional tournament before losing a close battle to the Harlem Globe Trotters.

This year such Bruins as Mike Novak, Wibs Kautz, Willie Phillips, George Hogan, and Elmer Johnson will be reënforced by the addition of Stan Szukala, De Paul's star last year; Ray Adams, another ex-Blue Demon, and Bill Hapac, Western conference scoring leader for Illinois last season.

JEFFERSON COACHES FIVE.

Bernie Jefferson, former Northwestern star now a member of the Savoy Big Five pro basketball team, is coaching the Alpha Fraternity quintet which will meet the Harlem Globetrotters in Savoy Ballroom Monday night.

Big 10 Heads Arrive Today for Meetings

Representatives of the Western conference schools will begin arriving in Chicago tonight for the annual December meetings tomorrow, Saturday, and Sunday in the Sherman hotel.

Among the delegates will be the athletic directors, faculty representatives, coaches of every sport, and others affiliated with the conduct of athletics in the conference.

May Act on Coast Bid.

While the coaches of winter and spring sports are drawing up their schedules for next year, more important developments may result tomorrow night at the joint dinner of the faculty representatives and directors of athletics in the University club.

They are expected to make a decision on the Pacific coast's recent invitation, a bid to the champions of the Western conference to play the coast champion in the Rose Bowl day as an annual attraction. Unofficial soundings at each university have led to the belief the Big Ten will reject the proposal, even tho it has strong backing at some of the schools.

Dates to Be Assigned.

Dates will be assigned in track, tennis, golf, swimming, fencing, baseball, wrestling, and gymnastics. The 1941 football schedules, already drawn up, will be ratified.

Illini, Michigan Clubs Hold Banquets Tonight

The Illini club and the University of Michigan club of Chicago will hold their annual football banquets tonight, the Illini group in the Knickerbocker hotel and the Michigan club in the Palmer House. President Arthur C. Willard, Athletic Director Wendell S. Wilson, Coach Bob Zuppke, and Lou Boudreau, together with K. L. Wilson and Lyn Waldorf of Northwestern, will be speakers and Stewart Owen toastmaster at the Illinois event. Athletic Director Fielding H. Yost, Regent Harry Kipke, Chairman Ralph Aigler of the athletic board, and Coach Fritz Crisler will be speakers at the Michigan banquet. Maurice Dunne will be toastmaster.

TROJANS' DRILLS ARE SLOWED UP BY INFLUENZA

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 4 (AP).—The influenza scare subsided somewhat for the University of Southern California football squad today, but Coach Howard Jones still had a major problem to contend with in pointing the Trojans for the Notre Dame invasion Saturday.

Thirteen squad members, including three first string men, were hospitalized, but Dr. John Graham, assistant team physician, said that Half Back Jack Banta and two substitutes might be able to take light workouts.

The Trojan team, however, has not been able to drill on defense for the Irish attack, and that is Coach Jones' main worry. While most of the sick players are expected to be able to see action Saturday, they will be handicapped by lack of training.

Lake Forest Quintet Routs Alumni, 56 to 11

The Lake Forest college basketball team handed its alumni a 56 to 11 trouncing last night. George Harrison scored 15 points and Lyle Johnson made 14 for the varsity. Less Darr led the Alumni with 11.

EMPRESS DELAINE CAPTURES $500 STAKE FOR MARES

80 Year Old Drives to 3d in Roadster Event.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Empress Delaine joined the struggle for supremacy among the saddle horses by winning the $500 stake for five gaited mares last night in the International amphitheater. From this triumph she will go into the $2,500 championship event which climaxes competition among the saddle animals in the final program of the International horse show on Saturday night.

She will face strong rivalry from the Red Top farm's Hurricane, which won in the gelding division on Tuesday evening. Among the other contestants in the championship stake will be three mares which Empress Delaine outpointed last night. These include My Enchantress, owned by Miss Ruth Suekoff of Wilmette, which placed third behind the winner and Red Top farm's Emily Genius. The other two are Virginia Linn, which earned fifth prize, and Ellen K., which was unplaced.

Octogenarian Drives to 3d.

George Peak, one of the charter members of the horse show association, celebrated his 80th birthday by driving a trotter, Admiral Joe, to third place in a roadster event last night. Mr. Peak has been exhibiting in the show for 40 years and the fourth generation of his family is now taking an active part.

The jumpers will compete in their $1,000 championship stakes tonight. They tuned up for their big test with two events yesterday. In the afternoon W. J. Thurston's Laddie won a blue ribbon with an excellent series of leaps while Maurice Roberts' Over Again was taking second place and Ray Titus' Killarney T., third.

The hunters, which will battle it out for the title on Saturday, had three events yesterday. For the benefit of city folk who some times wonder just what is the difference between hunters and jumpers it might be stated that a jumper's only job is to jump and if he does that well, he may win a blue ribbon even if he is fit for nothing else but pulling a milk wagon on the side.

Hunter's Job More Difficult.

A hunter, on the other hand, is expected to be fitted for the hunting field, which means that he must not only be able to clear fences but also must be able to carry his rider comfortably thru a long day of cross country running. Therefore he is judged on a basis of conformation and way of going as well as on his jumping ability.

Stanley Luke's Ilderton, Mrs. G. P. Sherman's Cuchulain, and Mrs. A. C. Thompson's Master Johnnie were the winners of yesterday's afternoon and evening events for hunters. All are eligible for the $1,000 stake. Ilderton scored in the class for middle weights, Cuchulain among the heavy weights and Master Johnnie among the ladies' hunters. Results:

San Francisco Signs Tony Lazzeri as Player

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 4 (AP).—Tony Lazzeri, one of the stars of the New York Yankees when Babe Ruth was belting baseballs out of every field, was signed today to play second base for San Francisco of the Pacific Coast league. Lazzeri, 37 years old, last season managed Toronto of the International league.

BLATZ, AMBROSIA EACH WIN TWO IN CLASSIC LEAGUE

The Blatz Beers totaled 2,997 last night at the Pioneer Arcade and took two games from the Monarch Beers in the Wednesday division of the Classic Bowling league. The Ambrosia Beers took two games from the leading Pabst Blue Ribbons. In winning two games from the Michelobs, the Koenig Braus went into a tie with the Monarchs for second place. Schlitz took two from Ruppert's Knickerbocker. Axel Sandquist bowled 227, 211, and 245 for a 683 series, and Paul Krumske's 258 was high game.

W-G-N LISTENERS GET A TASTE OF OPERA IN ENGLISH

Jepson and Melton Star in Martha Excerpts.

W-G-N's "Pageant of Melody" broadcast last night provided a generous foretaste of Von Flotow's light hearted opera, "Martha," as it is to be sung at the Civic Opera house Saturday afternoon in the new English version by Vicki Baum and Ann Ronell.

The studio audience had the additional pleasure of seeing beauteous Helen Jepson as she sang "The Last Rose of Summer," and handsome James Melton, singing the romantic "Sweet as a Dream" [M'Appari] aria. Two other selections from the opera were sung, the Plunket-Nancy duet, by Melton and Elizabeth Brown, and the "Goodnight" quartet, by Miss Jepson, Miss Brown, Melton, and Earl Wilkie. Nathaniel Shildret conducted the W-G-N orchestra.

Miss Ronell who flew in from Hollywood to participate in the broadcast, was a convincing champion for the cause of opera sung in English, but "in the American manner." She said, "When Vicki Baum and I wrote our adaptation of 'Martha' we tried to make it a well-knit, gay and fast moving show, conserving the glorious music, but writing the libretto for you and me of today. We kept the spirit but not the letter of the law. In other words, we gave 'Martha' a shot in the arm."

Miss Jepson also spoke in favor of convincing English librettos for opera production in this country. The broadcast was presented under the direction of William A. Bacher.

RADIO IS TERMED POTENT FORCE IN PATRIOTIC WORK

Dr. James R. Angell, former president of Yale university, told 1,000 persons at the School Broadcast conference in the Stevens hotel yesterday that radio, while used by dictator states to plunge nations into war and suffering, is a potent force in developing patriotism in a democracy.

"No agency can move and control public opinion so quickly and widely as radio," said Dr. Angell, who is now educational counselor for the National Broadcasting company. "The success of the national defense drive will be increasingly beholden to radio."

Gladstone Murray, director of the Canadian Broadcasting company told the conference that Canadian, British, and United States broadcasting agencies are working in close cooperation. He said that pooling and exchange of artists and cultural resources "strengthen the free way of life both in war and in peace." The conference, sponsored by the radio council of the Chicago board of education, will continue thru tomorrow.

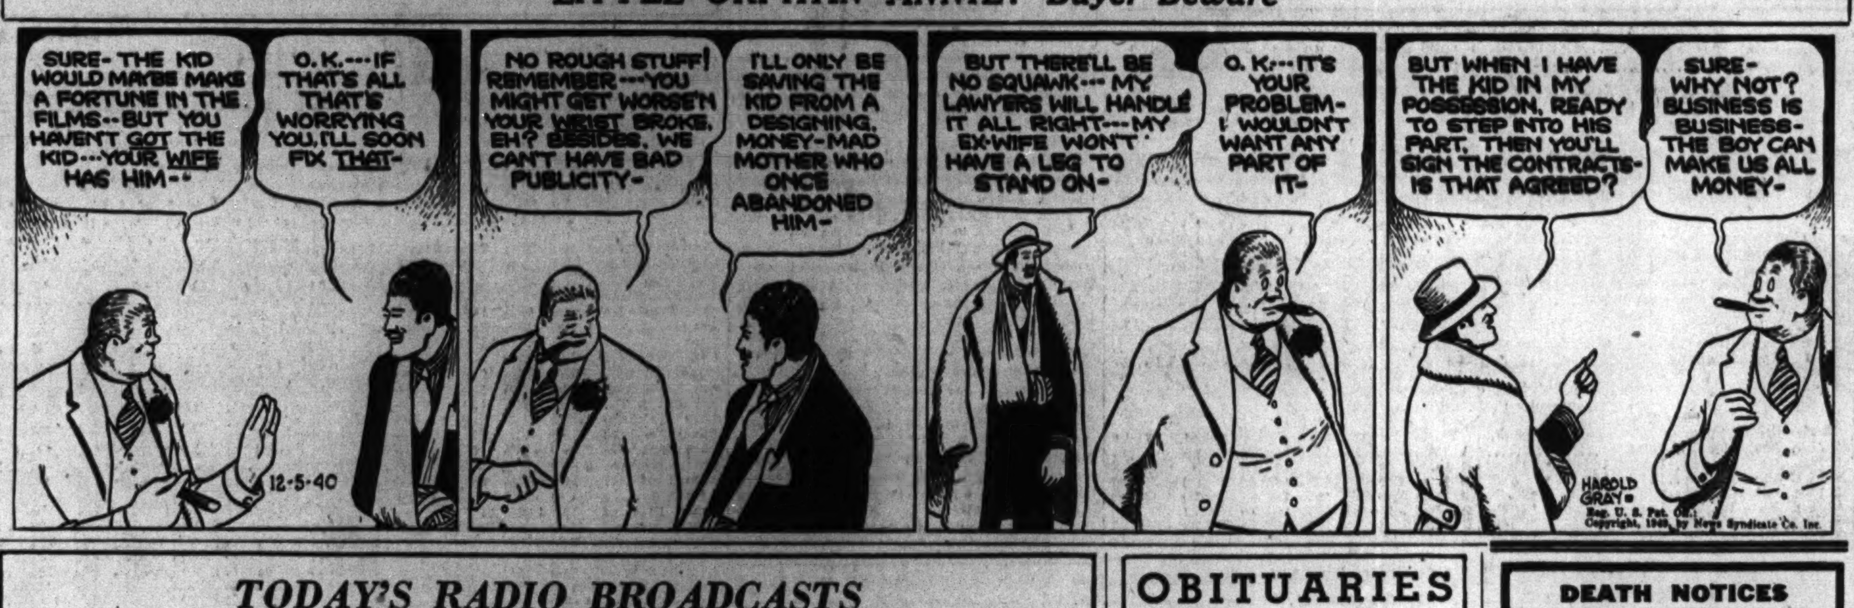
South Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 4 (AP).—Samuel W. McNabb, 71, federal referee in bankruptcy and onetime mayor of San Bernardino, Cal., died today.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Buyer Beware



SURE- THE KID WOULD MAYBE MAKE A FORTUNE IN THE FILMS--BUT YOU HAVEN'T GOT THE KID---YOUR WIFE HAS HIM-
O. K.---IF THAT'S ALL THAT'S WORRYING YOU, I'LL SOON FIX THAT-12-5-40
NO ROUGH STUFF! REMEMBER---YOU MIGHT GET WORSE'N YOUR WRIST BROKE, EH? BESIDES, WE CAN'T HAVE BAD PUBLICITY-
I'LL ONLY BE SAVING THE KID FROM A DESIGNING, MONEY-MAD MOTHER WHO ONCE ABANDONED HIM-
BUT THERE'LL BE NO SQUAWK--- MY LAWYERS WILL HANDLE IT ALL RIGHT---MY EX-WIFE WON'T HAVE A LEG TO STAND ON-
O. K.---IT'S YOUR PROBLEM- I WOULDN'T WANT ANY PART OF IT-
BUT WHEN I HAVE THE KID IN MY POSSESSION, READY TO STEP INTO HIS PART, THEN YOU'LL SIGN THE CONTRACTS- IS THAT AGREED?
SURE- WHY NOT? BUSINESS IS BUSINESS- THE BOY CAN MAKE US ALL MONEY-

W. W. DIXON, 63, DIES; TRANSFER COMPANY HEAD

William W. Dixon, president of the Arthur Dixon Transfer company, 1317 South State street, died yesterday in his home at 232 East Walton street. He was 63 years old, a son of Arthur Dixon, a pioneer Chicagoan.

Mr. Dixon was graduated from Harvard university in 1900 and was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1904. He was secretary and treasurer of the board of trustees of the First Methodist church, Clark and Washington streets; superintendent of the church's Sunday school, secretary-treasurer of the Chicago Methodist Church Aid society and president of the Chicago Home Missionary and Church Extension society.

He was also a trustee of Wesley Memorial hospital, Northwestern university and the Chicago Latin school, and a director of the Baltimore and Ohio Chicago Terminal railway. His widow, Ethel, and two sons, Bruce and Warren Dixon, survive. Services will be held in the First Methodist church at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

THOUSANDS JOIN RITES OF ELDER JAP STATESMAN

TOKIO, Dec. 5, Thursday (AP).—An elaborate state funeral, attended by thousands of mourners, was held today for Prince Kimmochi Saionji, last of Japan's elder statesmen, who died Nov. 24 at the age of 91.

The Shinto religious rites were observed in Hibya park opposite the imperial palace. The casket was bowered in branches of the sacred Sakai tree and surrounded by symbolic lanterns and other Shinto objects.

The emperor, empress, and dowager empress sent messengers who read imperial messages to the departed spirit of the man whose long life coincided with the period of Japan's emergence from medieval isolation to the position of a world power.

BOY, 9, DIES OF TETANUS.

East St. Louis, Ill., Dec. 4 [Special].—Clyde E. Davis, 9, of Belleville, died of tetanus in a hospital here last night, two weeks after a sliver of wood penetrated his hand while playing in a woods near his home.

[ADVERTISMENT]

DOCTORS WARN FOLKS WHO ARE CONSTIPATED—

IT IS SAID constipation causes many human discomforts—headaches, lack of energy and mental dullness being but a few. BUT DON'T WORRY—

For years a noted Ohio Doctor, Dr. F. M. Edwards, successfully treated scores of patients for constipation with his famous Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now sold by druggists everywhere.

Olive Tablets, being purely vegetable, are wonderful! They not only gently yet thoroughly cleanse the bowels but ALSO assist liver bile flow to help digest fatty foods. Test their goodness TONIGHT without fail! 15¢, 30¢, 60¢.

CONGRESS HOTEL TO BE SOLD SOON BY RFC, REPORT

J. J. Mack Expected to Buy Property Next Week.

BY AL CHASE.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation is expected to complete arrangements early next week for the sale of the Congress hotel, it was reported yesterday. The government agency, it was learned, is negotiating with John J. Mack, president of the Trionne Hotel company, for sale of the property. The Trionne firm operates the Chicagoan hotel at 63-69 West Madison street.

Representatives of the RFC in Chicago and officials of the hotel company said that negotiations have been under way for several weeks.

Details are Withheld.

They asserted that they were unable to give details of the proposed deal at this time. Craig O. Black, assistant manager of the RFC office here, indicated that the negotiations might be completed early next week.

The RFC acquired the property in September, 1939, after the hotel company defaulted on a $900,000 loan it had received from the government agency.

Abandon Office Plan.

The RFC announced plans last February for remodeling the hotel, which has 937 rooms, for use as an office building by the RFC and other government agencies. Later this plan was discarded and the RFC resumed negotiations for the lease or sale of the property.

Mack, who has been active in the hotel field for several years, opened the Chicagoan, containing 450 rooms, in June, 1937. The hotel occupies a 21 story slice of the Morrison hotel, originally planned for apartments.

REPORT MONROE, FRANKLIN CORNER SALE DUE TODAY

Contracts are to be signed today, it was reported yesterday, for the sale of the northeast corner of Franklin and Monroe streets by the Marshall Field estate to the N. Shure company for approximately $78,000. The property, fronting 189 feet on Franklin and 95 feet on Monroe street, is occupied by a six story building, which is entirely rented, according to Arthur Rubloff & Co., which represented the buyer.

The late Marshall Field bought the corner in 1882 for approximately $420,000. The assessed valuation of the land is $113,925 and of the building $23,716.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

A securities dealer has suggested that I sell some foreign bonds I hold and buy Illinois Central bonds, which he says are selling low. I would like a review of the railroad's position. —M. S.

Answer: Competition from the Mississippi waterway, highway trucks, buses and passenger cars, and loss of freight movement caused by a drop in grain and cotton exports have made the Illinois Central Railroad company sensitive to setbacks in general business. The road has not been able to regain more than one-sixth of its 1929 net income level.

This year its earnings have dropped considerably below those of 1939, indicating that the general industrial upturn has not benefited the system. For the first 10 months of 1940 the system reported a net loss of $885,822, compared with a net income of $1,006,066 in the corresponding period of 1939.

	Net income.	Earned per com. share.
1935	*$9,932,400	*$8.14
1936	764,743	*.26
1937	2,063,842	.70
1938	1,222,874	.08
1939	2,335,775	.90

*Net loss.

The system is burdened with a total funded debt of $355,464,675, which requires annual interest charges of approximately 15 million dollars. The railroad was able to earn only 98 per cent of its interest and other fixed charges in the last 10 years.

Besides funded debt, capitalization includes 186,457 shares of 6 per cent noncumulative preferred stock and 1,357,995 shares of common stock, both of $100 par value. No dividend has been paid on either stock since 1931.

The Illinois Central system, including the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroad, operates 6,556 miles of railroad. The main line runs from Chicago to New Orleans down the Mississippi valley and is the shortest route between the Great Lakes industrial region and the Gulf of Mexico.

The road also connects with Omaha and Sioux Falls. Another branch links the line with St. Louis, Indianapolis, and Shreveport. The outlet to the gulf ties the road with vessels plying coastal and Latin American trade routes. Important commodities carried on the system are coal, bananas, cotton, lumber, corn, and manufactured goods.

LUMBER & CHEMICAL.

Where is the office of the Newberry Lumber and Chemical company located? What does it make?—W. G.

Answer: The company has offices in Newberry, Mich., and in Chicago. It manufactures lumber products and wood chemicals.

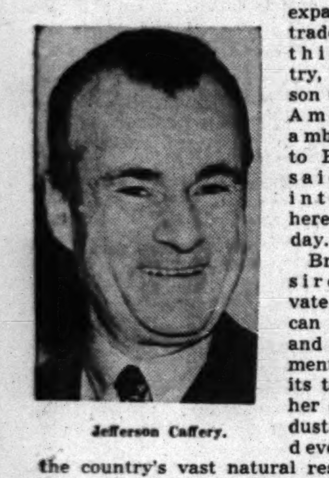
PRIVATE LOANS SOUGHT TO HELP BRAZIL'S TRADE

Aim Is Larger Share of U. S. Markct.

Brazil does not want loans from the United States unless these credits can expand its trade with this country, Jefferson Caffery, American ambassador to Brazil, said in an interview here yesterday.



Jefferson Caffery.

Brazil desires private American capital and government credits to assist her own industries in developing the country's vast natural resources, Caffery said. The fourth largest country in the world in area, larger even than the United States, Brazil has immense mineral wealth, unexploited land, and many rivers.

"American investments will be welcomed and respected in Brazil," he said. Already there are several hundred million American dollars invested in the country by private corporations and others, he said. The debt to American investors of the central government and the states and municipalities amounts to about 400 million dollars.

Resumes Debt Payments.

Brazil has learned from experience, Caffery said, that foreign loans do not necessarily bring sound business. For several years that country had defaulted on payments on its foreign debts but last year was able to resume debt service on a reduced scale in line with its capacity to pay, he added.

Caffery characterized as a "sound business proposition" the granting by the Export-Import bank in Washington of a $20,000,000 credit toward the construction of a steel plant in Brazil. The equipment for the plant will be purchased in the United States against the credit advanced by the bank.

"From the American viewpoint any such project which will raise the standard of living in Brazil is all to the good," he said, "because the Brazilians thereby will be able to make larger purchases in the United States."

Prefer U. S. Manufactures.

"Brazilians definitely prefer American goods," he said, "because American made manufactures are more durable and of better quality. Brazilians buy American typewriters, radios, automobiles, business machines, sewing machines, refrigerators, and other machinery."

Severed by the war from many of her former supply sources and markets in Europe, Brazil has increased her trade with the United States, Caffery indicated. For the first time in history, American exports to Brazil exceed imports from that country.

The United States sold Brazil $82,565,000 of goods in the first nine months this year, compared with $50,741,000 in the same period last year. United States purchases from Brazil during the period amounted to $73,079,666, against $73,243,769. The slight drop in dollar value of imports was caused mainly by lower coffee prices, Caffery explained.

"American business men must be more intelligently wide awake and their representatives must know Brazil and know its language [Portugese] if they hope to continue to widen their markets there," the ambassador asserted.

Cites Trade Possibilities.

Caffery said potential trade expansion between the two countries may arise from the sale by Brazil of raw materials, such as manganese, rubber, tung oil, castor beans, vegetable oils, and other goods which American industry needs.

He stressed the importance of such a metal as manganese, vital in hardening steel. Brazil has large deposits of manganese. Development of rubber and tung tree plantations is also being pushed, but progress has been slow.

Coffee, however, remains Brazil's leading export to the United States, Caffery said. This country is the largest consumer of Brazilian coffee and also uses large quantities of its cocoa. The recent Pan-American coffee agreement setting quotas for coffee exports by South American producers is a proper step to solving the problem of coffee surpluses which has plagued the market in recent years, he asserted.

Du Pont Makes Cyanide, Used in Steel Mills

Development of a process for domestic production of an essential tool steel hardening chemical to replace a foreign product no longer available was announced yesterday by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. at Wilmington, Del.

Among other developments in industry was announcement that a large manufacturer of wrought iron has decided to enter the alloy steel production field and will enlarge its plant.

The steel hardening chemical which du Pont has developed is potassium cyanide, importation of which has ceased, according to company officials. Production of the domestic product has been started.

Uses American Materials.

"The development was prompted by current United States needs and the urgency of national self-sufficiency," a company official declared. "American raw materials are being used exclusively."

A. M. Byers company, which has been making wrought iron for 76 years, will begin production of stainless and other alloy steel within four or six months, L. F. Rains, president, said after a directors' meeting at which the plan was approved.

Will Make Alloy Billets.

"An addition will be built to the company's Ambridge, Pa., plant, and will be used as a melt shop for new electric furnace equipment that is to be installed," Rains said. "Other basic production equipment for heating and rolling alloys will be available at the plant. Initial products will be billets and bars for alloy steel fabricators."

Headquarters of Byers, nation's largest producer of wrought iron, is at Pittsburgh, Pa. The company has a branch office in Chicago.

BRITISH PREVENT BIG INCREASE IN INSURANCE RATES

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—Marine underwriters disclosed today the British government had prevented a sharp increase in commercial war risk insurance rates despite current heavy English shipping losses.

The British war risk office insures all cargoes between United States Atlantic coast ports and the west coast of the United Kingdom for a flat 2½ per cent. Commercial interests in the United States and England charge 10 per cent, which has been in effect for months.

A few exporters and importers pay the higher rate, insurance men said, because they fear delay in payment of British policies because of government technicalities and prefer dealing with United States firms with which they are familiar.

Domestic underwriters said they were doing only a little business on Europe bound cargoes, because of the British rate. Most of their business now comes from far eastern and South American shipping.

Westinghouse Electric's Orders Break All Records

A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, yesterday said that the company has $180,000,000 of unfilled orders, the largest ever piled up on its books. Shipments are currently at the rate of $21,000,000 to $23,000,000 a month, he said. National defense contracts largely for generators and turbine drivers for naval vessels, account for $125,000,000 of the backlog, he said. Westinghouse has 55,000 employés, compared with 49,000 at the beginning of 1940, Robertson said.

Foreign Exchange Rules Are Tightened by Canada

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 4 (AP).—The foreign exchange control board today published an order prohibiting the used of foreign currency except sterling or the local currency in payment of goods imported from the sterling area. The order also restricts transfers of foreign exchange between residents of Canada.

November Car Sales Set New County Record

Sales of new automobiles in Cook county totaled 10,021 last month, increasing almost 50 per cent over the previous November peak of 6,800 last year, the Bureau of Motor Advice reported yesterday. The bureau bases its figures on new car registrations in Springfield.

For the first eleven months of 1940 sales reached 115,249, topping the 87,673 for the same period of 1939 and ranking second to the high of 119,602 recorded in 1937.

Chevrolet led the field last month with sales of 1,926, holding the same spot it did a year ago and in October, 1940.

Plymouth Holds Second Place.

Plymouth continued in second place with sales of 1,207. It held the same ranking in October, 1940, but was in seventh position in November, 1939.

Buick and Pontiac ranked third and fourth in November with sales of 1,127 and 924, respectively, retaining their positions of October, 1940. Last year in November Buick held second and Pontiac fourth.

Ford, Oldsmobile, and Dodge were fifth, sixth, and seventh last month, with 912, 674, and 618, respectively, places unchanged from a month previous. In November, 1939, Ford was third, Oldsmobile was fifth, and Dodge was twelfth.

N. Y. Securities Firm May Absorb Chicago Dealer

The possible absorption of Stein, Brennan & Co., Chicago securities firm, by Bear, Stearns & Co., member of the New York Stock exchange, is being considered, Sam B. Ullman and Milton W. Stein, partners of Stein, Brennan, said last night. The two firms act as correspondents for each other. The personnel of the Chicago firm will remain the same, in the event that the consolidation is effected, Ullman said.

Set Final Meeting of Insull Investments Creditors

The final meeting of creditors of the bankrupt Insult Utility Investments, Inc., yesterday was set for Jan. 7 by Garfield Charles, referee in bankruptcy. Terminating eight years of litigation, the meeting will consider the question of final payments on claims which have been allowed. The petition of attorneys for payment of legal fees also will be heard.

ENTER 8½ MILLION BID ON EXCAVATIONS FOR PANAMA CANAL LOCKS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 (AP).—The Panama canal office today received a low bid of $8,517,100 for dry land excavations to install a third set of locks on the Atlantic end of the Panama canal. The bid was submittted jointly by the Martin Wunderlich company, Jefferson City, Mo., and the Okes Construction company, St. Paul, Minn.

Four other companies bid on this part of the $277,000,000 national defense project of installing a third set of locks in the waterway. The bids were opened by Lieut. Col. Thomas B. Larkin, supervising engineer of special construction.

Bernard F. Burdick, chief of office of the Panama canal here, said "we want to get construction underway down there this dry season, which begins in January."

Intensive work on the new bombproof pass for warships is to start in a few weks, officials said. Preliminary surveys already have been made.

CALUMET FIRM IS GIVEN CRANE BARGE CONTRACT

The Calumet Shipyard and Dry Dock company, 9367 South Harbor avenue, has obtained a contract for construction of a $70,000 crane barge for the army engineers to be used in maintenance of the upper Mississippi river, J. F. Rogan, purchasing agent, said yesterday.

The vessel, to be completed by June 1, will be 66 feet long, 45 feet wide, and seven feet deep. It will operate from St. Paul, Minn.

The company has submitted bids for the construction of navy ships, including mine sweepers and torpedo boats, but no contracts have yet been received. Orders for commercial vessels on hand, however, will assure full operations until spring, Rogan said.

SEC to Resume Hearings on Transamerica Dec. 9

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 (AP).—The Securities and Exchange commission announced today that public hearings in the proceeding against Transamerica corporation would be resumed Dec. 9 in San Francisco. The proceeding is to determine whether the capital stock should be suspended or withdrawn because of alleged failure to disclose certain material facts in registering with the SEC.

CHICAGO FIRMS GET HUGE ARMY MEAT ORDERS

Packers Face Busy Winter Period.

Chicago meat producers face the problem between now and Feb. 1 of filling what is said to be the largest order for canned meat placed by the army since the world war. With the slaughtering of hogs running at an alltime record rate, some of the larger plants are working in two shifts, seven days a week.

Officials of the packing companies said yesterday that the army order had not created any need for additional employés as yet. However, because of the more than seasonal gain in cattle and hog receipts, one of the larger companies has hired between 500 and 600 men.

Order 9 Million Pounds.

Captain L. O. Whitaker of the United States army quartermaster corps reserve disclosed yesterday that the army had let contracts Friday to Chicago packers for more than 9 million pounds of canned meat. Packers already were working on an army order for nearly 300,000 pounds placed Nov. 13.

The navy opened bids Tuesday in Washington for 2½ million pounds of corned beef. No announcement has been received in Chicago of the contracts awarded but the packing houses expect to get the bulk of these contracts, an official of one company said.

Armour Gets Big Order.

Wilson & Co., corned beef, $116,495.

Republic Food Products company, dried beef, $903.

In addition, Libby is working on an order totaling $35,997 placed Nov. 13, United an order of $10,518; Hygrade, $10,435; Cudahy, $9,882, and Republic, $4,458.

Low Grade Cattle Scarce.

Observers in the stockyards said the packers were temporarily not in a position to fill the army orders. Poorer grades of cattle are used for canning purposes. Buyers for the packing houses have been scrambling to buy this type of cattle and a shortage has been apparent.

One authority said yesterday the packers were having some difficulty in filling the army order because of wage and hour law limitations. The 40 hour work week has held up slaughtering considerably.

At least two companies are known to be working on two 8 hour shifts. They are paying their employés double for working on Sunday.

U. S. Rule Over Machine Tool Exports to Be Extended Dec. 10

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4 (AP).—The government today attacked the problem of getting enough machine tools for defense industries on two fronts. It announced that its control over machine tool exports would be expanded shortly and appealed for a "pooling" of existing manufacturing facilities in countless communities.

Col. Russell L. Maxwell.

Col. Russell L. Maxwell, administrator of export control, announced that the export licensing system would be extended after Dec. 10 to a long list of machine tools "hitherto exempted in our desire to minimize restrictions on normal export business."

Embargoes Made Possible.

Placing an article under the export licensing system makes it necessary to obtain a government license in order to ship the article abroad. The license may be refused, and the shipment thus embargoed, if officials decide that the national defense requires it.

The United Kingdom is now the principal importer of United States machine tools, having taken $19,903,000 worth for armament production and other purposes in October this year. Such exports to all countries in October totaled $25,607,000.

The appeal for the assistance of community organizations in arranging to "pool" idle manufacturing facilities was made by Morris L. Cooke, a consultant to Sidney Hillman, labor member of the national defense commission.

Urges "Farming" of Orders.

Cooke, former administrator of rural electrification, urged that idle facilities in "ghost towns," and "ghost areas" of other communities be used to permit further "farming out" of defense manufacturing orders.

He proposed adoption of a method of subcontracting in which small plants might fabricate complete parts or perform only one or two operations in the fabrication. The method has been highly developed in England.

This method would make planning more difficult and increase costs, Cooke said, but "nationally, it's the only way to speed up production."

In some communities, he said, a number of plants had idle facilities which individually were not sufficient to handle any part of defense production. But, if these facilities were combined, he added, they could take over a share of the armament building burden in many instances.

WHOLESALE AREA HAS NOVEMBER TRADE INCREASE

November business in the Chicago wholesale district showed a gain over last year, altho the increase fell short of what many manufacturers and wholesalers had expected, Irving Parsons, managing director of the Chicago Wholesale Market council, reported yesterday. His report was based on the council's monthly business survey.

General merchandise firms were 3 to 5 per cent ahead in business volume; lingerie, 10 to 15 per cent; hosiery, 12 to 15 per cent, and women's dresses, 7 to 10 per cent, Parsons said. Many firms showed wide differences in statements, with one shoe company reporting an 87 per cent increase in business thus far this year, altho its November business declined 5 per cent.

Parsons said that the general trend gave indications of a good spring business.

6 INDICTMENTS CHARGE WORLD NITRATES TRUST

11 Corporations, 32 Officials Accused.

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—An international chain of conspiracies to control and monopolize the price and production of nitrates, which are essential in the manufacture of munitions and other defense industries, was charged today against 11 corporations and 32 individuals.

The allegations were set forth in a series of six federal grand jury indictments, based on antitrust laws, which were returned Sept. 1, 1939, and then sealed. The alleged conspiracies date to 1920.

Widely Used in Industry.

The nitrates which the defendants allegedly conspired to control are used as fertilizers in agriculture, in steel mill operations, gas plants, water works, and other industries.

The indictments charged that the alleged conspiracies existed thru restrictive and secret contracts with producers and marketers of various nitrates thruout the world, including Canada, England, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, Germany, Poland, Belgium, Japan, and Chile.

In Washington, justice department officials in explaining the 15 month delay in opening the indictments said that the original intention was to make public at one time all of the results of an investigation of the fertilizer industry which began in 1938. Plans were changed, however, after a settlement was reached several weeks ago which resulted in dismissing charges involving the potash industry.

Expect Further Indictments.

Additional indictments are expected in the fertilizer industry, an official said, but it was decided not to wait until they were ready before opening the charges brought in the nitrogen phase.

Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general, asserted the department's investigation did not "involve those activities of the defendants that are directly related to national defense." He said the inquiry had extended

The Greatest Retail Market in the World

IN the half dozen blocks from Randolph to Van Buren on State Street more retail clothing, dry goods and department store business is transacted than in any similar area in the world. State Street merchants estimate that over $200,000,000 worth of goods are sold over their counters each year.

This includes the paper of pins, the ten-cent bar of soap, as well as the $5000 fur coat. An average of a quarter of a million individual sales are made within these few blocks each day.

The huge business institutions on State Street are the marvel of every visitor to Chicago, although we who live here scarcely give them a thought. There is nothing like it in the world. Every Chicagoan has reason to be proud of this achievement.

Chicago, the Wonder City—The commercial progress of Chicago is one of the marvels of the century. In common with other financial institutions, the growth of the Harris Trust and Savings Bank is largely dependent on the growth of Chicago. And the growth of Chicago rests on the faith and vision of its citizens. In a series of advertisements, of which this is the Third, we are trying to set forth a few of the achievements of this great city. Chicago will continue to contribute to the benefit of its citizens in proportion to their faith in its future.

ENGLAND'S SHIP DEMANDS LIFT FIRMS' SHARES

Other Stocks Remain in Narrow Price Range.

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—British demand for American built ships gave a boost to shipbuilding and shipping shares today and provided a bright spot of action in an otherwise irresolute stock market.

Recurring fractional declines in the majority of issues—most of which were balanced by rising moves prior to the close—were attributed in the main to individual liquidations of holdings for the purpose of year-end tax accounting.

One-Sixth Is in C. & S.

About one-sixth of the volume represented large scale transfers of Commonwealth and Southern which closed with its price unchanged altho it was 1-16 point off most of the day.

The final bell found the steel group ahead by virtually the same fractions with which the session started, ending a series of fluctuations which carried the issues repeatedly above and below Tuesday's final levels.

Steel shareholders were interested in a report by the magazine Iron Age that the steel industry and its customers were experiencing no "steel shortage" and that it could produce 80,000,000 tons of ingots in 1941 with present facilities.

Chicago Stocks.

Losses predominated for the second consecutive day in irregular trading on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Of the 101 active issues, 45 declined, 26 advanced, and 30 were unchanged. Turnover totaled 24,000 shares. Independent Pneumatic Tool set at 1940 high at 28¼, up ¼.

New York Bonds.

New York, Dec. 4 (AP).—The bond market tugged both ways today and ended with price changes uneven. Selective buying in second grade rails and miscellaneous corporates served to keep the Associated Press averages firm. Rails and industrials were unchanged and utilities showed a minor gain.

Low yield liens and United States governments seemed to be favorably regarded in view of reports from underwriting quarters of a good disposal of the several large new corporate issues placed on the market the last few days.

The United States government list extended its recent slow rise, several treasuries adding from 2/32ds to 7/32ds of a point.

Chilean dollar bonds were depressed by reports from Santiago that amortization provisions on the foreign debt would be temporarily suspended. Gains were recorded by Japanese, Australian, and Scandinavian groups.

Bank Stocks.

First National shares advanced 2 points and Chicago Title a point yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Continental Illinois was half a point higher and Industrial National 2 points lower.

GRAIN HANDLERS SWITCH HEDGES TO MAY FUTURE

Buying of December wheat against sales of the deferred deliveries comprised a large part of yesterday's trading on the Chicago Board of Trade. Cash grain handlers who had hedged their holdings of wheat in the December future have been changing into the May and July deliveries for several days.

The December delivery went to 3 cents above the May price, largest premium this season. Closing trades were unchanged to ½ cent higher.

Corn futures weakened early on reports indicating that farmers were more disposed to sell grain, but short covering late in the session caused a quick rally and the finish was ⅛ to ¼ cent higher. Oats finished ¼ to ½ cent higher. Soy beans were unchanged to ⅝ cent lower.

There have been no tenders of cash wheat, corn, or oats on December contracts on the Board of Trade so far this month owing, it is said, to small supplies.

C. & E. I. Ry. Nearing End of Its Court Receivership

Attorneys of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railway Monday will make the last major legal move for removing the road from receivership when they will ask Federal Judge John P. Barnes for authorization to transfer the road's properties to the new corporation. They also will seek approval of various mortgages and new securities to be issued, as well as the road's financing arrangement with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

WOOL TOPS SET NEW PEAK THIRD SUCCESSIVE DAY

Hides, Copper, and Rubber Futures Advance.

December wool tops advanced for the third successive day to a new 1940 high yesterday as other commodity futures moved forward on a broad scale. Hides, which have been mixing wide gains and losses, copper, and rubber were among those ahead. Only world sugar, silk, and certain wool tops contracts went against the trend.

Wool tops for delivery this month rose 0.7 a pound to $1.19 1-10 bid. Late liquidation of some contracts left the closing price range 0.7 cent higher to 0.8 cent lower. In the cash market, the bid was $1.19½ a pound, up ½ cent over Tuesday's bid.

No Sales in Tin, Lead, Zinc.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

A new three year peak for regular market cattle was established yesterday when prime 1,420 pound steers sold at $15.35 a hundred weight, 10 cents above the previous high mark.

Competition converged in the longfed steers and yearlings. Others were bought at barely steady prices. Cows, canners and cutters declined 15 to 25 cents.

The hog market weakened as farmers increased shipments of spring pigs. Reductions of 5 to 10 cents were general with final sales lowest of the day.

Hog receipts, 10,000; shipments, 3,000.
Cattle receipts, 10,000; shipments, 3,000.
Sheep receipts, 9,000; shipments, 1,000.

Receipts include 100 cattle, 15,000 hogs, and 2,000 sheep direct to packers.

SIX INDICTMENTS CHARGE WORLD NITRATES TRUST

11 Corporations and 32 Officials Accused.

only to the "manufacture, importation and distribution of commercial fertilizer and fertilizer materials."

Defendants Are Listed.

Named in the indictments were Allied Chemical and Dye company, E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., Barrett company, Semet-Solvay company, Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd.; Anglo-Chilean Nitrate corporation, Lautaro Nitrate Company, Ltd.; Chilean Nitrate Sales corporation, Synthetic Nitrogen Products corporation, Chilean Nitrate and Iodine Sales corporation, all with headquarters in New York, and the Solvay Process company, Syracuse, N. Y.

Most of the individuals named are officers of these corporations.

Allied Chemical and Dye company issued a statement denying the charges. The statement said that when the organization started large scale domestic production in 1928, the price of nitrate of soda was $50 a ton, that it was $27 a ton at the time of the outbreak of the war, and that there has been no increase since. Prior to 1928, the statement added the United States was entirely dependent upon Chile for natural nitrates, both as a fertilizer and as a source of nitrogen for the manufacture of explosives.

Agreement Excludes U. S.

Medley G. B. Whelpley, president of the Anglo-Chilean Nitrate and the Lautaro Nitrate companies, said that arrangements made several years ago, under auspices of the Chilean government, between Chilean companies and various European governments and producers, "expressly exclude from their terms and penalties all markets within the United States and its possessions. I can not believe it is the intention of these indictments to attempt to give extraterritorial effect to United States antitrust laws."

START $1,020,000 FOOTE BROTHERS PLANT EXPANSION

Will Produce Gears for Warplane Engines.

Foote Brothers Gear and Machine corporation, Chicago, will expand its plant at a cost of $1,020,000 for production of gears to be supplied other companies making aircraft engines for the navy.

Details of the expansion program were disclosed by company officials yesterday after the navy department in Washington, D. C., had announced completion of the negotiations. The company, it was learned, has arranged a bank loan to finance the project, which will be completed within a few months.

Officials said the company has purchased a building at 4545 South Western avenue from Central Steel and Wire company.

Machinery Already Shipped.

They said machinery for production of the gears was ordered when negotiations with the navy began and that some of it had already arrived.

The equipment accounts for most of the cost of the expansion, the officials indicated. After the project is completed, the government will begin paying back the $1,020,000 at the rate of 1-60th of the cost each month for five years, according to provisions of the contract, which covered the building and land as well as the machinery.

The purchased building will add 125,000 square feet of space to Foote Brothers facilities. The company has received gear orders in the form of subcontracts let by engine makers which have naval contracts, but officials declined to state the size of the orders.

Working Force to Expand.

They said the expansion will make necessary an increase of several hundred in the company's working force. Foote Brothers present plant is at 5301 South Western avenue.

It was understood that Central Steel and Wire will construct a new office building and warehouse. Central Steel officials would not divulge the location of the new buildings, but in 1936 the company bought 15 acres on the north side of 51st street between Francisco avenue and Whipple street for future expansion.

The war department announced award of various kinds of contracts totaling $14,265,876. An Aurora, Ill., firm, Durabilt Steel Locker company, received an order for $340,800 of metal trunks.

Mo.-Kas. Pipe Line Proxy Count Lasts All Night

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 4 (AP).—Six directors of the Missouri-Kansas Pipeline company were reëlected today, and Robert Burnett, St. Louis attorney, said his group of stockholders' votes had been cast under protest after an all-night count of proxies. His group supported Gordon Scherck, St. Louis, who was not elected. The proxy count lasted until 4:45 a. m. Balloting was started at 5:20 a. m., and completed about two hours later.

ELECTRIC POWER OUTPUT CLIMBS TO NEW RECORD

Electric power output reached a new all time record for a seven day period in the week ended Nov. 30 after a letdown in the preceding week, the Edison Electric institute reported yesterday. Production aggregated 2,795,634,000 kilowatt hours to top the preceding week's output of 2,695,431,000 kilowatt hours by 3.7 per cent and the corresponding 1939 week's production of 2,538,777,000 by 10.1 per cent.

Commonwealth Edison company production of electricity in the Chicago area was near record levels, totaling 152,012,000 kilowatt hours compared with 138,017,000 a week earlier and 139,165,000 in the corresponding week last year. Output increased 9.2 per cent over a year ago.

MONEY, GOLD AND SILVER

The Canadian dollar yesterday rose 1/16 of a cent to 86 13/16 United States cents in New York foreign exchange dealings. The Argentine free peso declined slightly, while most other major foreign currencies remained unchanged.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP).—Bar silver, 34¾c, unchanged.

A GREAT NEW ELECTRICAL INVENTION. Medical science has conclusively proven the highly beneficial effect of ultraviolet rays on the human system. To generate ultraviolet rays in the proper wave length transparent fused quartz is the only substance known that will do the job real well. The high cost of producing transparent quartz, however, has placed such lamps out of the reach of all except hospitals, physicians, and the wealthy.

A local manufacturer is now introducing a brand new type of pure quartz ultraviolet sun lamp, portable, made expressly for home use, radically different in design and basic principle, protected by patents and patents pending. This sensational new invention, radiating 95% ultraviolet thru its everlasting "burn-out-proof" quartz tube was tested and approved by leading hospitals, physicians, and private users. It sells at a popular price enabling every home to own one and enjoy the benefits of true ultraviolet rays.

An organization of representatives is now in process of formation. No technical or sales experience is necessary. We will train you.

An opening is offered to high grade men not only to avail themselves of an immediate source of money making opportunity, but also a permanent connection with a chance for rapid advancement to district managerships. Generous commissions to start with.

Apply by letter. State age, nationality, education, experience, references. ADDRESS L T 372, TRIBUNE.

HOW TO BORROW
$25 to $250 or more
On Your Own Signature

Getting a loan at "Personal" is as simple as A-B-C. Just do this:—
A—Come in or phone. Say, "I want to get a loan."
B—Sign and get the cash.
C—Repay to suit your convenience—[you set both the date and amount of your monthly payments].

FIRST CHOICE
COAST-TO-COAST
During the past year, over one million people were served by the 400 affiliated "Personal" offices from coast to coast—more than were served by any other loan company.

If YOU need $25 to $250 or more and can repay small monthly instalments, you should not hesitate to see us at once for a loan.

We keep the entire transaction between us. Your employer, friends, or relatives are not notified.

GO TO COMMONWEALTH

SAVE TIME: With Commonwealth's ONE STOP service. Phone your request in advance and the loan will be ready when you call at the office for the cash. Loans usually completed in 24 hours—perhaps while you wait [special emergency service].

SAVE STEPS: With 9 offices in Chicago strategically located you can save steps by choosing the COMMONWEALTH office in the shopping district you frequent most.

SAVE WORRY: No need to worry about a lot of scattered bills. Pay them off and get cash from us besides. Cut your payments ½ to ¼.

No need to worry about embarrassment either. At COMMONWEALTH all dealings are handled in a private consultation room. Friends or relatives are never consulted.
